WAR SUPPLIES AND STRATEGY, PARLEY TOPICS

Allied Nations Told of Progress.

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill made a stirring speech before congress yesterday in which he predicted that the tide of victory will turn in 1943. Story and text of speech are on page 7.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—Arms production and war strategy were the concern today of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, as evidenced by those summoned to conference.

Starting at 3:30 p. m. Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill met production advisers and an hour later they met with British and American military leaders. A third important conference of the day was the regular cabinet meeting, which also was reported to be concerned chiefly with the two vital war problems.

As planning conferences were intensified, the President moved to inform other allies and sister republics of the western hemisphere of their course.

Allied Envoys Informed.

Earlier in the day Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Maxim Litvinov, ambassador of soviet Russia, and with Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada in the evening. The chief executive gave the envoys a résumé of the conferences held to date. At the same time he made plans to see representatives of all the Pan-American republics and Pacific allies—China, Dutch East Indies, Australia, and New Zealand—tomorrow.

Summoned to the afternoon conference were the following production advisers: Vice President Henry A. Wallace; Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply; Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones; William Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management; Donald Nelson, director of the Supply Priorities and Allocations board; William L. Batt, director of the OPM production division; Undersecretary of War Robert A. Lovett; Undersecretary of the navy James V. Forrestall; Leon Henderson, price administrator, and Harry Hopkins, director of all phases of the lend-lease program.

May Change Production Setup.

Altho no statement was issued following this conference, it was reported that the President is considering a revamping of the entire production setup in order to centralize control for purposes of efficiency. The present organization of several independent and semi-independent units is meeting with mounting complaints now the country is at war.

Official circles are buzzing with reports that the President is about to correct this situation and call upon one man to organize the nation's production efforts. It is variously reported that the job will go to Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President in 1940; Barnard Baruch, who headed the war industries board in the World war, and James A. Farley, former postmaster general.

Sources close to the White House, however, do not believe the impending executive order will go so far, because if such a man is named he will be the most important man in the country, possibly surpassing the President in importance.

At Strategy Conference.

At the war strategy conference were Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, army air chief; Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations; Adm. Ernest J. King, newly appointed commander in chief of the United States fleet; Adm. Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord of Britain; Gen. Sir John Dill, retiring chief of staff of the British army, and Air Marshal Sir Charles Portal. Lord Beaverbrook and Hopkins remained over for this conference.

The present conferences, which were planned as an introduction to an allied strategy conference, have taken on such momentum that they are now regarded as the most important discussions of the war. It is understood that the White House is regretful that representatives of Russia, China and other allies were not summoned for the gathering. However, it is considered too late for such assembly now.

U. S. Also Bars New Rubber for Taxicabs

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—All the nation's average motorists—including even traveling salesmen, taxi drivers, and residents of isolated rural areas lacking other transportation—will be prohibited from buying new automobile tires, under eligibility requirements established today for the government's new tire rationing program.

The regulations, issued by Price Administrator Leon Henderson for the guidance of local tire rationing boards which begin operating Jan. 5, bar issuance of tire purchase certificates except to owners of motor vehicles which fall within seven classifications, covering essential services for health, safety, and industrial and commercial operations.

"Doubling Up" Urged.

Simultaneously, Henderson urged the millions of motorists who will be unable to buy new tires to stop unnecessary driving immediately and "double up" in driving to work. Only retreaded, recapped, or other used tires on which no rationing limits have yet been set, will be available.

The regulations provide that purchase certificates for new tires may not be issued unless an applicant certifies that the tires or tubes sought will be mounted on:

1. Vehicles used by physicians, surgeons, nurses, or veterinarians, principally for professional services.

2. Ambulances.

3. Vehicles used exclusively for fire fighting services, necessary public police services, enforcement of specific laws affecting public health and safety, garbage removal or other sanitation services, or mail delivery.

Exempt Public Buses.

4. Vehicles with a capacity of 10 or more passengers operated exclusively to carry passengers as part of services rendered to the public by a regular transportation system, as school buses, or to carry employés to and from any industrial or mining establishment or construction project except when public transportation facilities are readily available.

5. Trucks used exclusively for ice and fuel delivery, transportation of materials for construction and maintenance of public roads, public utilities or production facilities, defense housing, and military establishments; trucks used by essential roofing, plumbing, heating, and electrical repair services, or waste and scrap dealers; by any common carriers; and for transporting raw materials, semi-manufactured goods and finished products—except that no certificates may be issued to transport such raw materials, semi-manufactured or finished goods to the ultimate consumer for personal, family or household use.

6. Farm tractors or other farm implements—except automobiles or trucks—for which tires are essential to operation.

7. Industrial, mining, and construction equipment—except automobiles and trucks—for which tires are essential to operation.

Deliveries Curbed.

The prohibition against new tires for vehicles used to transport commodities direct to consumers was interpreted here as affecting such services as delivery of newspapers by automobile to suburban and rural subscribers—altho newspaper delivery trucks within a city would not be involved since they carry a finished product to a dealer or distributor.

In connection with the ban against sale of tires for vehicles delivering to consumers, it was said that while such vehicles as milk, bakery and department store trucks were involved there were factors that could help relieve this situation.

Officials suggested a pooling of retail delivery facilities. For example, they said, as many as four or five trucks are now delivering milk along one street and it would be possible for the four or five companies to agree on one truck for the one route, since some of the larger truck fleets had stocks of tires on hand which would carry them for some time.

No exemptions other than those specified in the seven classifications are provided for persons who use their automobiles in their business.

Motorists and truck owners on the eligible list who seek new tires must fill out application forms. These forms then must be taken to an inspector, who must report on the condition of the applicant's tires. If the tire or tires are unsafe and cannot be repaired, reconditioned, or retreaded he will certify the need for a new tire to the local board. The board must then take final action.

The Office of Price Administration will establish six quotas on the number of tires which may be sold within a state or county.

PLANS FOR THAWING OUT

Bandit Shot as 2,000 in Dance Hall Look On

While a crowd of some 2,000 elderly persons looked on, a policeman off duty last night stopped a holdup in the Merry Gardens ballroom at Belmont and Sheffield avenues and shot the thief. The policeman is Steve Lenguadoro of the Des Plaines street station.

Alton Pettay, 933 Belmont avenue, a floorman at the ballroom, had taken a box containing some $300 collected at the box office on "Middle Aged night" to the office on the north side of the ballroom just off the ball floor proper. As he neared the office door a man walked up.

Threatens to Kill Floorman.

"Give me the box!" he demanded.

Pettay at first thought the man was joking and started to push him aside, when the bandit raised a gun and snapped, "One move and I'll blow your head off."

Pettay handed over the box and the man ran down the foyer alongside the ball floor toward the front door.

Leaves Partner and Pursues.

Lenguadoro had been dancing near the edge of the floor and saw the holdup. Leaving his partner, he started to run after the bandit, pulling his own weapon and shouting at the man to stop. When the bandit had reached the door and was part way thru Lenguardo began firing.

The bandit ran on into the street and had reached the middle of Sheffield avenue when he dropped, his gun flying one way and the box of money the other. He had been shot twice.

Sheffield avenue police rushed him to Bridewell hospital, where it was said his condition was critical.

British Curb on Rubber Hits Golf Balls, Corsets

LONDON, Dec. 27 [Saturday] (AP).—Confronted with loss of Malayan rubber supplies as a result of Japanese invasion, the ministry of supply today prohibited further manufacture from rubber of a large number of articles ranging from corsets to golf balls and garden hose. The manufacture of many other rubber articles was made subject to licensing.

BRITISH REMOVE COMMANDER OF FAR EAST FRONT

Pick Younger Chief for Job in Malaya.

LONDON, Dec. 27 [Saturday] (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Pownall has assumed command of the British forces in the far east, succeeding Air Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Pownall.

The war office announcement said Pownall had arrived at Singapore to assume the duties to which he was appointed in November. A war office announcement on Nov. 19 said only that he had been "selected for special appointment." Prior to that he was vice chief of the imperial general staff.

First Task: Stem Invasion!

The new commander's chief immediate tasks will be to stem the Japanese invasion of Malaya and coordinate British far eastern military activity with that of her allies.

Pownall is 53 years old, one of Britain's youngest generals. He was director of military operations and intelligence at the war office from 1938 to 1940 and became chief of the general staff of the British expeditionary force in 1940. Brooke-Popham is 63.

Subsequently, as inspector general of the home guard, he had a big rôle in the swift reorganization and arming of the British to meet the German invasion threat after Dunkirk.

Afterward he commanded British troops in northern Ireland, then was appointed vice chief of the general staff in May, 1941.

Decorated in World War.

Pownall won the distinguished service order and the military cross in France and Belgium in 1914-'18 as an artillery officer. He participated in operations on the northwest frontier of India in 1930-'31 and later commanded the artillery school in England.

A change in the far eastern command has been generally expected in Britain since the Japanese launched their Malaya attack.

The air ministry refused to say whether Brooke-Popham would remain in the far east in connection with air operations against the Japanese or would return to England.

Japs 175 Miles from Singapore.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 26 (AP).—British headquarters announced tonight without explanation that there was Japanese patrol activity north of Kenaman, which is on the east coast of Malaya only 175 miles north of Singapore.

Observers expressed belief the patrols were units which the Japanese landed at Kuantan, 35 miles farther south, on Dec. 12 and concerning which nothing has since been heard.

The communique also reported patrol activity along the Sungei river in central Perak state, which forms a line the British have held several days about 300 miles north of Singapore.

[A British radio report said the Japanese were developing a push down the center of the peninsula along a rail line toward Kuala Lipis, 280 miles north of Singapore, but gave no details. It added that British casualties had been lighter than expected and that the Japanese were lightly equipped and armed only with submachine guns.]

Most of the women and children have been removed from Ipoh, next major town threatened by the Japanese drive in that inland area.

AUSTRALIA ASKS VOICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Strong pressure is being exerted here by Australia to change its whole relationship with Britain, as far as official departments are concerned.

RUSSIANS CRACK NEW HITLER LINE; OTHER WAR NEWS

Red armies have smashed new German defense lines in Russia which Adolf Hitler had exhorted his troops to hold at all costs, it was announced in Moscow early today.

Claiming that soviet troops continued to surge westward from Leningrad in the north to the Crimea in the south, the Russians said the new German line had been broken on the Oka river south of Moscow.

German forces were declared routed 80 miles southeast of Leningrad on the Leningrad-Moscow railroad. More than 6,000 Germans were slain there, bringing to 36,200 the number of Nazis reported killed within a week by the advancing Russians.

Expect Nazi Drive on Africa.

Hitler, according to reports originating in Turkey, is expected to start a massive offensive against Africa and the near east before the first of March. Huge concentrations of transports, warships, planes, and troops were reported in Greek, Italian, and Sicilian ports and in southern Rumania.

The British reported from Cairo that the last organized axis units of the Libyan desert army were attempting to make a stand south of Bengazi, which is in British hands. German and Italian troops were fighting to escape destruction and complete their flight westward.

Japs in Gilbert Islands.

In London the British disclosed Japanese military activity in the northern Gilbert islands, which are midway between Hawaii and Australia. London did not say whether the islands had been seized.

From the Netherlands East Indies came word that Dutch airmen sank another destroyer or a transport off the coast of Borneo, where the Japanese have gained a foothold in Sarawak, a British protectorate. Dutch planes and warships have set up a daily average of one Japanese ship sunk or seriously damaged.

Form Military Council.

The formation of a military council by the United States, Britain, and China was announced at Chungking, capital of China. The purpose of this council is to establish a common prosecution of the war against the Japanese.

ITALIAN FASCIST PARTY AID AND MINISTER QUIT

ROME, Dec. 26 [ANDI Agency to AP].—Premier Benito Mussolini accepted the resignations of Fascist Party Secretary Adelchi Serena and Agriculture Minister Giuseppe Tassinari today in another "changing of the guard" which found younger men taking over executive posts. Serena was declared to have quit because of a wish to "participate in the war as a volunteer" and Tassinari "for reasons of health."

Aldo Bidussoni, only 26 years old, who served with Italian troops in the Spanish civil war, replaced the 46 year old Serena, whose photographs recently were banned from display in party or public buildings. Carlo Pareschi, president of the Fascist federation of agriculturists, succeeded Tassinari.

RAID ON CAPITAL LASTS 2½ HOURS; FIRES STARTED

U. S. Troops Retire 20 Miles.

BULLETIN.

MANILA, Dec. 27 (Saturday) (AP).—Disregarding the declaration that Manila was an open city, the Japanese air force killed many persons and started fires in the city this afternoon in a raid in which bombs were rained upon the defenseless city. The planes visited terror upon the city for two and one half hours. The sky raiders met no opposition as they poured explosives on the metropolis.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26. (AP)—American-Philippine forces have fallen back 20 miles or more from the Lingayen gulf coast north of Manila, the war department indicated tonight in announcing a new defense position along the Agno river.

On this fighting front, 120 air miles north of the Philippine capital, action dwindled to heavy artillery dueling, a communique said.

Meanwhile enemy pressure was reported to be increasing 55 to 75 miles southeast of Manila [in the Atimonan area] where the Japanese effected a second landing from the sea.

The communique, outlining developments in the fight for the Philippines up to 4 p. m. Chicago time [6 a. m. Saturday, Manila time], added that hostile aircraft were particularly active during the preceding 24 hours.

Hint Major Battle Shapes Up.

Two successive communiques suggested that a major battle was shaping up north of Manila. An earlier report said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had advised that he had reorganized and strengthened the position held by his troops in the vicinity of Lingayen gulf—presumably the new Agno river line.

The Agno, a slow-moving stream draining the upper end of the great central valley extending north of the capital, wanders in a general southwestward direction across Pangasinan province before turning northward to empty into Lingayen gulf.

River Forms Barrier.

Its course across the Manila North railway and the highways that parallel the railroad line makes the river a natural barrier to further advances southward.

[The Italian news agency Stefani reported from Tokio that the Japanese had announced occupation of Baguio in northern Luzon, the summer capital of the Philippines.]

Earlier in the day the navy confirmed the sinking of two Japanese warships in the far east and the probable sinking of two others.

The navy said that Adm. Thomas C. Hart, commander of the Asiatic fleet, listed one enemy transport and one mine sweeper sunk, with the probable sinking also of another transport and a seaplane tender.

TANK BATTLE RAGES

MANILA, Dec. 26 (AP).—The Japanese struck today with heavy force on the main southern Luzon front, where a major tank battle raged inconclusively with heavy losses to both sides in the Lamon bay region. In the more vital northern Lingayen sector the invaders limited their offensive action to strong and concentrated artillery fire. Lamon bay is 55 miles southeast of Manila and Lingayen gulf is 120 miles north of the capital.

The late afternoon communique from headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur made no mention of fresh Japanese landings or of any fresh advance. An American spokesman summed up that fighting was "going well" for the American-Philippine forces in all sectors.

To Carry on Elsewhere.

From Manila itself, now declared an open city by Gen. MacArthur, Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner, and President Manuel Quezon prepared to remove their offices and carry on elsewhere. However, in seven words Sayre made the pledge and challenge that typified the determination of the defenders.

"We will fight to the last man."

The decision to remove the civilian administration and all combatant military installations from Manila, to spare the city itself from any possible legitimate attack, was accompanied by assurances from a United States army spokesman that this would not in any way lessen the power of the counterblows falling upon the Japanese.

On the contrary, he said, fighting "will continue as vigorously or more vigorously than at present."

Manila's anti-aircraft batteries were dismounted; military stores that could not be removed were destroyed; the last soldier and sailor left the city.

Japanese warplanes were busy over the Manila area all during the day, apparently striking at military bases near the city, but the people glanced only casually at them.

During the fifth alarm of the day, beginning at 5:20 p. m., 17 Japanese planes in two waves flew low over the city after dropping bombs northwest of Manila and in the bay area. Apparently they were endeavoring to test Gen. MacArthur's declaration that Manila is not now defended. No bombs were dropped in the city itself.

[The Japanese controled radio at Saigon said in a broadcast that Japanese military leaders have recognized Manila as an open city since Thurs-

Drop Guns, Filipinos Urged.

However, Manilans by 6:30 p. m. had spent five out of the last eight hours under air raid alert and had picked up numerous leaflets dropped by the planes, addressed to Philippine soldiers. The leaflets said: "Dear friends: Our aim is to destroy American force. We have no quarrel with you. Are we not all of the far east? Drop your guns, return home to your loved ones."

One group of Filipinos on a downtown corner read the leaflets derisively and gave a grunt of disgust.

The Manila press estimated that more than 100 persons had been killed in Japanese air raids on provincial towns, the heaviest casualties having been caused at San Pablo, Laguna province.

In the south of Luzon, meantime, mining companies had exploded all magazines and burned many fuel stores and bus lines had decommissioned their vehicles in order to delay the Japanese advance from Legaspi, which is 200 miles southeast of Manila.

Cheering word came during the day from a Washington, D. C., announcement that reports that Japanese troops had landed near Nasugbu, on southwestern Luzon at a point only 15 miles south of the entrance to Manila bay, had proved incorrect.

An army spokesman stated that a special patrol had investigated the situation and had sighted no enemy troops.

Claim U. S. Navy Units Sunk.

LONDON, Dec. 26 (AP).—The German radio broadcast today an assertion attributed to Japanese imperial headquarters that all American naval units in Philippine waters had been destroyed.

The statement said that Japanese naval and air forces had wiped out all vessels sent to the Philippines from the United States as well as those stationed in the islands originally.

There was no information available to support such Japanese claims and the Berlin rendition of Tokio's statement offered no immediate details. This is a familiar axis propaganda technique.

READ NEWSPAPER, BEWARE RUMORS, GENERAL ADVISES

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP).—Maj. Gen. O. W. Griswold, commander of the 4th army corps in the southeastern states, today asked the public "to read your newspapers for official reports of what is happening on war fronts and beware of rumors."

He said "newspapers are performing a most patriotic duty in the war effort. They are submitting to a voluntary censorship that bans rumors and withholds information that might be useful to the enemy.

"Official army and navy reports of what is happening to our armed forces on all war fronts will be given to the press by the proper army and navy officials. Rumors, loose talk, and unconfirmed reports are dangerous."

Hitler Spends Christmas with Troops in Russia

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF MacARTHUR ON PHILIPPINE FRONT

Friends Call General Reckless.

BY VICENTE A. PACIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 26.—The fact that Gen. Douglas MacArthur, American commander in chief of the far east forces, has gone to the front to command his troops is heartening, but his friends fear for his safety.

Aside from the fact that the Japanese consider him a capital prize, he is regarded reckless in exposing himself to danger.

A high ranking officer who served with him in the World war when MacArthur was a brigade commander of the Rainbow division relates that during the St. Mihiel drive MacArthur, after taking the farthest of the day's objectives, walked far ahead of the brigade to see if the way was clear for the men and then sent this message to the late Gen. Hunter Liggett:

"Let me go ahead and I will be in Metz and you will be a field marshal."

"No," was Liggett's reply.

MacArthur's headquarters staff in Manila went to an air raid shelter each time Japanese planes approached, but the general remained in his office, smoking and studying wall maps.

Now the USAFFE [United States armed forces of the far east] commander in chief has no Liggett to restrain him. His friends fear that he now may show the same World war streak of being oblivious of his own safety.

Goat and Wagon Tops List of 'Gifts for Hero's Son

Madison, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP).—"Corky" Kelly, 18 months old son of the late Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., American war hero, received scores of Christmas gifts, but a goat and wagon particularly caught his eye. It was presented by Corky's grandfather, Colin P. Kelly Sr. The child's father received the nation's acclaim for his bravery in sending the Japanese battleship Haruna to the ocean's bottom with air bombs. He lost his life in the crash of his plane while returning to base.

Latin Workers' President Refused Guatemala Visa

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Dec. 26.—Vincente Lombardo Toledano, president of the Latin American Workers' federation, will have to change his route if he intends to make a South American tour, which he has planned. The Guatemala consulate today refused Toledano a visa to pass thru Guatemala by air, he being persona non grata there because of his communistic activities.

Jap Bomb Kills Commander of U. S. Geodetic Survey

MARINES STILL HOLD OUT ON MIDWAY ISLE, U. S. NAVY REVEALS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26—(AP)—The navy said today its force of marines on Midway Island was still holding out.

The Midway garrison was in communication with headquarters here yesterday, but the navy would not discuss the messages nor how the marines were faring on the mid-Pacific isle.

The Japanese had claimed Midway along with Wake Island and Guam. The navy said Dec. 13 that Guam "probably" had been taken and the Japanese landed on Wake Dec. 23, but only after great losses. Midway is about 1,200 miles east of Wake.

The navy said Japanese reports that 3,000 naval and marine personnel were engaged in the defense of Wake Island "are incorrect."

"The total strength of the garrison was less than 400 officers and men," a communique said. "There were approximately 1,000 civilians engaged in construction work on the island which may account for the enemy statement that 1,400 prisoners were captured."

JAPS CLAIM AIR AND SEA CONTROL OVER '4 OCEANS'

TOKIO, Dec. 27 [Saturday] [Official broadcast recorded by Associated Press].—Navy Minister Shigetaro Shimada told the Japanese diet [parliament] today that the Japanese navy had sunk nine British destroyers and damaged four in the Hangkong area and asserted the navy now had air and sea control over "four oceans."

He asserted British and American naval losses included seven battleships sunk, three heavily damaged and one less seriously damaged; two cruisers sunk and six damaged; a destroyer sunk and four damaged; nine submarines, nine gunboats, seven torpedo boats, and 16 merchantmen sunk, and 50 captured.

He said Japanese naval aircraft in the Philippines had destroyed 338 American planes and that total British and American plane losses in the air were 803.

Japanese losses he listed as three destroyers and a minesweeper sunk, five "special" submarines missing, a cruiser and a minesweeper damaged, and 52 planes destroyed. He claimed that aviation and military facilities at Johnston, Palmyra, Wake, and Baker Islands had been almost destroyed by the Japanese navy.

U. S. TELLS JAPAN IT WILL OBEY WAR PRISONER RULES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 [Special].—The United States has notified Japan thru the Swiss government that it will adhere to the Geneva convention of 1929 providing for the humane treatment of prisoners of war, and has expressed the hope that Japan will also abide by its terms.

The convention was signed by the United States, Japan, and 50 other nations. It was ratified by this country, but Japan never completed ratification, so legally is not bound by it.

A BEARDED WAR SCRIBE GETS LOTS OF CLOSE SHAVES

It Takes Guts to Cover the War in Philippines.

[Clark Lee, bearded and muddy, walked into the Associated Press office in Manila on Christmas night, grabbed a typewriter, and wrote a story. Lee, a native of Oakland, Cal., a newspaper man since his college days, an Associated Press reporter since 1929, wrote the first detailed, eyewitness account of the Japanese invasion along Lingayen gulf, a significant report on the condition, equipment, and temper of the invaders. But back of this report is another story—Lee's personal experiences at and near the front in gathering the story of military operations. These experiences were related to a co-worker, Russell Brines.]

BY RUSSELL BRINES.

MANILA, Dec. 26 (AP).—Big, genial Clark Lee was a mass of mud. Even his four day growth of beard was matted.

Four days earlier, when he departed for the Lingayen battlefront, he was dressed in immaculate whites. Now he wore a borrowed khaki shirt and denim trousers. He had no socks. Ditches had served him as air raid shelters after repeated Japanese air attacks on his car.

He looked every inch a dramatic story, and he had one—a yarn of personal experiences to top that of any newspaper man in the Philippines in this war.

Japanese bombs were a constant overtone in his recital. Dozens of times Lee and two friends had to abandon their car in the middle of the road near the battlefront and dive for cover on the way out.

Flee Right Into a Fight.

On their way back to Manila the party reached the mountains just as a Japanese column began marching up the back mountain roads. Thru the darkness Lee and his companions followed a winding road leading down the other side of the mountain to the Manila highway.

They almost had reached the bottom, in a narrow canyon, when suddenly they found themselves in the midst of a skirmish between several truckloads of Filipino soldiers and a squad of assailants hidden in the darkness across the canyon.

Bullets splattered overhead as Lee's car tried to get thru behind the trucks. The fighting went on for a long time before Lee quit his vantage point and decided to try to reach Baguio. But both roads leading there were blocked.

Set Fire to Own Auto.

The next morning Lee and his friends followed a long caravan of Americans and Filipinos heading into the rugged mountains. At the end of a dirt road they set fire to their car in order to keep it out of the hands of the Japanese, and then struck off on a series of narrow trails into wild, "indescribably beautiful" country.

But Japanese bombers gave them a sendoff.

"I jumped behind a rock, seeking shelter from the shrapnel, and found myself suspended over the edge of a 200 foot precipice," said Lee. "It was all right, because I had a good hold on the rock. But it was a funny feeling to be hanging there."

Using Igorot native boys as guides, they followed the mountain trails that whole day, and toward dusk reached a small village. The village headman took one look at the strange visitors, disappeared, then returned in what he apparently considered was the proper dress—three silk shirts and a coat, despite the heat, but below the waist only a native loin cloth.

Lee and his friends spent that night in the headman's house, a thatched, two story structure set up on stilts. The windows in their room were closed tightly, and there was no light, for the headman explained that even in this remote region blackouts were enforced.

Later Lee, who had gone downstairs for a breath of air, met a Belgian priest who had spent many years alone among the tribesmen.

"Be careful," he warned. "These people suspect you; they think you're spies sent here to bring them an air raid. Don't show any light — and you'd better hide if any planes should come over."

Ford River 16 Times.

The headman supplied a guide next day. He took the party on a trail that led first along the brink of a mountain, where the agility of a mountain goat came in handy, then dropped down to a swiftly flowing river. For "miles and miles" they followed this canyon, fording the river at least 16 times—taking their shoes and socks off the first few times, but finally just sloshing thru.

At dusk the party reached a small lowland town where, after showing their credentials to the suspicious police, they were allowed to catch a ride on a slow moving, horse drawn cart that formed part of a column.

Suddenly there was a shattering explosion. The car just ahead of Lee's was blown up by a land mine.

Bombers Halt Train Six Times.

By now Lee and his mates were sure they had exhausted their allotment of close shaves. More at ease, they hopped an army truck which took them to a main railway center, and there they boarded a train for Manila the next morning.

Finally safe in Manila, Lee learned that 15 minutes after he had boarded the train for the capital the station from which it departed was smashed by the Japanese, with 21 dead and scores wounded.

Jap Bullet

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Small bullet fired by Japanese aerial machine gunner during attack on Honolulu on Dec. 7. Japanese invaders of the Philippines are reported using .25 caliber bullets.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—The Japanese invading troops were pictured today in military advices from the Philippines as being especially equipped with light weapons and emergency rations of rice and concentrated meat to fight for days without support from their supply ships.

The invaders are armed with .25 caliber rifles and machine guns as standard equipment. These are considerably lighter than the harder hitting weapons of the American-Filipino defenders. The weapons are credited with accuracy up to 1,000 yards.

The Japanese trooper is able to carry upwards of 400 rounds of ammunition, possibly twice the burden of .30 caliber bullets the individual American or Philippine soldier can lug in cartridge belts, even tho the enemy on the average is smaller in stature than an American.

U. S. AND BRITAIN JOIN CHINESE IN MILITARY COUNCIL

Brett and Wavell Forge Link with Chiang.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 26 (AP).—An ABC [America, Britain, China] military council has been created here by America's Maj. Gen. George A. Brett, Britain's Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, and China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, it was disclosed officially today.

Wavell and Brett were in Chungking for three days, reviewing with Chiang and his Chinese commanders every aspect of the Pacific war, and creating the military council for common prosecution of hostilities on Dec. 23.

They were in complete harmony, a British embassy communique said. [In Canberra, Australia, Prime Minister John Curtin of the commonwealth broadcast Friday that Britain, the United States, and Australia already have begun an effort to reverse Japan's present offensive advantage].

Wavell, Brett Back in Burma.

Gen. Wavell, who is general officer commanding Britain's Indian command and Gen. Brett, chief of the United States army air corps, came to Chungking Monday from Rangoon and returned together to that Burmese capital en route to their respective headquarters.

China's armies meanwhile were engaged in large scale fighting both above fallen Hongkong and in the north Hunan front.

Chinese units cut the Japanese main line of land communications with Hongkong in a battle of considerable intensity along the Canton-Kowloon railway, a communique said. The Japanese were reported using 5,000 men now in this sector.

Twenty thousand Japanese were thrown into operations in North Hunan which may become another battle for the provincial capital, Changsha.

A Chinese military spokesman said 1,000 Japanese had forced the Sinsiang river, where there was heavy fighting in September. The thrust appeared to be designed to prevent the Chinese from sending reënforcements to the Kwangtung front above Hongkong.

Drive from Four Other Bases.

Still other enemy forces were driving from four bases in the mountainous border region of Kiangsu, Anhwei, and Chekiang provinces but this was regarded as either a smoke-screen to cover troop withdrawals or a grandstand play for the Japanese at home.

Later the Chinese acknowledged the Japanese drive in Hunan was making substantial headway, with one column already advancing 25 miles toward Chinese-held Changsha. Fighting was reported to have progressed within 60 miles of the city.

There are about 20 American missionaries in Changsha who have remained at their posts during two previous Japanese drives but they are expected to leave if the present threat becomes more pronounced.

JAPS IN GILBERT ISLANDS; FEAR FOR EUROPEANS

Prowl Midway Between Hawaii and Australia.

LONDON, Dec. 27 [Saturday]—(AP).—The British colonial office announced today that Japanese forces "recently have been operating in the northern Gilbert islands," roughly midway between Australia and Hawaii. The colonial office did not specify whether the Japanese actually had seized the islands.

The announcement expressed fears that some European residents of the little chain of 16 coral atoll islands might have been taken prisoners.

The population of the islands, just south of the Japanese mandated Marshall group, was 26,528 in 1931. It was not known how many were Europeans. Some Europeans were said to have left there recently.

Dutch Sink Another Ship.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Dec. 26 (AP).—Dutch airmen who have been steadily biting chunks out of the Japanese fleet today reported the sinking of another destroyer or a transport off the Borneo coast where Japanese troops secured a foothold at Kuching, capital of Sarawak.

A Dutch submarine crew only yesterday reported the destruction of a 2,100 ton Japanese destroyer of the Amagiri class in the grim fight to keep the invaders out of the East Indies.

Shoot Down Jap Bomber.

One Japanese bomber was shot down by anti-aircraft guns in a Japanese attack on a Dutch airdrome, and the loss of an air line passenger plane was admitted by the Dutch.

The 11 passengers of the plane were uninjured, but 3 wireless operators were killed. The operators were serving as air raid wardens, which suggested the plane was destroyed on the ground.

Another Dutch plane sighted a Japanese seaplane circling around a wrecked ship, apparently "a 6,000 ton freighter of foreign nationality," and engaged in a brief inconclusive fight, a communique said.

U. S. Flyers Win in Burma.

KUNMING, China, Dec. 24 [Delayed] (AP).—Pilots of the American volunteer group are credited with getting 9 of 13 Japanese planes shot down during Tuesday night's mass raid on Rangoon. The Americans lost three planes but only one pilot was killed.

[Dispatches from Chungking yesterday said American and British flyers had shot down 17 Japanese planes in a raid Dec. 25. No division of honors was given.]

"Aussies" Bomb Greenwich.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 26 (AP).—The royal Australian air force announced tonight that it had bombed enemy stores and installations on Greenwich Island [Japanese mandated]. All planes returned safely.

CHICAGO REALTY MEN IN CAPITAL FOR OFFICE SHIFT

Sen. M'Carran Leads Move to Balk Transfers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—Two Chicago real estate men arrived here today to assist in the work of the new decentralization office set up to supervise the transfer of more than 10,000 federal workers in 12 federal agencies to other cities to make room for expanding defense agencies.

Herbert U. Nelson.

They are Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and Samuel Witting, vice president of the Real Estate Research corporation, an attorney who formerly was an officer of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

Both will assist Fred E. Taylor of Portland, Ore., in the decentralization office.

Removal Is Opposed.

Meanwhile, a group of office holders, led by Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], continued a drive in an effort to induce President Roosevelt to annul his order transferring the workers. McCarran said he was going to the White House to ask Mr. Roosevelt to reconsider the order pending a study of office requirements in the capital and measures for conserving office space.

McCarran said many a government employé occupied an office in which two or three other employés might be given desk space.

"In addition, there are 5,000 acres of land in the District of Columbia where temporary housing can be erected," McCarran said.

Five of the 12 government agencies are to be shifted to Chicago under the order. Approximately 3,000 employés will move from Washington to Chicago if the program is carried out.

OFFERS AID TO FIND HOMES.

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday offered the services of that body in helping employés of the five federal bureaus which are moving from Washington to Chicago to secure suitable living quarters here. Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer, wrote Washington officials, notifying them of the offer.

TIE THAT BINDS U. S. TO BRITAIN IS CONGRESSMAN'S!

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—The British house of commons and the American house of representatives were bound today by a new tie—Rep. Gordon Canfield's.

The New Jersey Republican gallantly removed the cravat from his neck and presented it to the Hon. Beatrice Claugh Rathbone, woman member of parliament, after she admired it while dining in the house restaurant. Mrs. Rathbone was intrigued by the "V for Victory" design in the tie and the fact that it was all wool, something hard to get in England these days.

$750 IN DEFENSE BONDS SOLD AT TRIBUNE OFFICES

Post-Christmas investors in defense bonds and stamps purchased $750 in bonds and $65 in stamps yesterday at the Tribune public service offices in the lobby of Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street.

Two Tribune employés—Robert Baird of the engraving department and Marcel S. Duckstein of display advertising—tied for first place in the day's purchases, each buying three $75 bonds. Another $75 bond was purchased by Mrs. Violet L. MacMillan of 1750 Granville avenue.

Bond sales at the Dearborn street office totaled $468.75, where $30 in defense stamps also were purchased.

At the Federal Reserve bank, where 2,600 bond selling agencies in five states report their totals periodically, it was announced that the sales since May 1 in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Iowa, had reached $138,524,000. Of this total, $3,836,000 was received Wednesday, the day before Christmas.

Assistant Postmaster Ray Mitchell said that defense stamp sales here since May 1 had reached $2,884,381. Bond sales in postoffices, are reported to Washington.

HULL ACTS TO GET FREE FRENCH OFF SEIZED ISLANDS

Four Nations Join in Move to Restore Neutrality.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today initiated joint action by the United States, Great Britain, Canada, and the Vichy government to bring about withdrawal of the Free French forces from St. Pierre and Miquelon, French islands off the coast of Newfoundland.

The disclosure of the seizure of the islands Dec. 24 left the American government figuratively walking on eggs. The departure of the Free French would return the tiny islands to their previous status as potential U-boat bases for assaults against the Atlantic coast. On the other hand, ostensible American support of the Free French action might drive Vichy into angry collaboration with the axis, which could use the French fleet and French north and west Africa.

Charge Aid to Germans.

According to London dispatches, the radio at St. Pierre, when it was under Vichy domination, was broadcasting weather information useful to German undersea raiders and surface craft.

It is the hope of the state department to make some arrangements which would leave the islands without the sphere of Vichy control and yet not give the Nazi controled Vichy government an excuse for joining actively on the axis side.

French Ambassador Gaston Henry-Haye conferred with Secretary Hull today and told reporters that further conferences bringing in all the parties concerned would be held later. One proposal to be considered is that observers be sent to St. Pierre to make certain that nothing helpful to axis raiders in the Atlantic be sent from the radio station there.

Vichy Praises U. S. Stand.

The state department received with mixed emotions a report from Vichy that the government there had expressed satisfaction at the American "public condemnation" of the seizure of the islands. A Vichy communique said the Free French action was in conflict with American assurances for the maintenance of the status quo of French possessions in the western hemisphere.

Canadian Prime Minister MacKenzie King arrived in Washington this evening for a general discussion with President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill of the Anglo-American alliance. He declared the St. Pierre-Miquelon coup was mainly a matter between the French and the Free French.

Canada Is Perturbed.

The Canadian government's reaction to the Free French action was authoritatively stated to be one of complete surprise and considerable perturbation. Apart from any considerations of United States policy toward the French government that may be involved, Canada has sought ever since the fall of France to avoid breaking its slender tie with Vichy. This tie is the sole remaining diplomatic contact between any British government and the Petain régime.

It was learned that Vice Admiral Emile Muselier, commander of the occupying Free French naval forces, had visited Canada recently and asked permission to occupy the islands. Canada conferred with the United States and both governments rejected the suggestion, it was reported, and they thought the question was settled.

If the islands declared themselves in a plebiscite in favor of the Free French and opposed to Vichy, as was reported yesterday, the United States, it was noted, could hardly be expected to interfere with a plebiscite action.

ACTION CONFUSES FRENCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The "Free French" headquarters in London were in confusion tonight after the announcement that American Secretary of State Cordell Hull had initiated joint action by America, Britain, Canada, and Vichy to compel the "Free French" forces to withdraw from St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands.

The embarrassment was increased by the fact that earlier in the evening the "Free French" national committee had issued a statement announcing that the seizure of the islands was carried out by Adm. Emile Musilier on the committee's own orders.

A "Free French" spokesman said: "It is an affair between Frenchmen. The people of the two islands asked us to go in." It was claimed that there was no obligation to notify Washington, D. C., regarding "purely French matters."

According to the Inside Information column of the Daily Sketch, the "Free French" leaders in London "are to be called to an urgent conference to explain the reasons for taking over the islands against the wishes and without the knowledge of the British government."

Report De Gaulle Will Confer.

ST. PIERRE, St. Pierre-et-Miquelon, Dec. 26 (AP).—The Free French news agency said tonight that Gen. Charles De Gaulle would confer with the interested allied governments on the diplomatic question involved in the occupation of these islands off the Newfoundland coast.

ADMITS PLOTTING HOLDUP OF TRUCK OF HIS EMPLOYER

Last Tuesday Isadore Minsky, 5248 Irving Park road, a driver for a wholesale grocery firm at 1200 Randolph street, was held up as he made his last stop of the day at 3751 North Kedzie avenue and robbed of $528 and $232 in checks. The bandit was a Negro.

Minsky's Negro helper, Paul Baisden, 26, of 1135 South Hermitage avenue, had left him at the stop before. A few weeks ago another driver for the company had been held up by a Negro in the same fashion.

Detectives Edward Schumacher and John Carlson of Albany Park thought there might be some connection. They questioned Baisden. And last night Baisden admitted that he had told Edward Haynes, 21, 1135 South Hermitage avenue, where the last stop would be and that Haynes had held up Minsky. Haynes was arrested and confessed. The two implicated three other Negroes, all of whom are employed by the grocery company, but who denied any knowledge of the thefts and were being held for further investigation.

Aids New Campaign

A sponsors committee was appointyesterday for Chicago's Red Cross War Relief organization, which is pledged to raise $3,750,000 of the national $50,000,000 quota. Joseph M. Cudahy is chairman of the committee of 67 business and industrial leaders who will be a "working executive" group in obtaining larger contributions from corporations and wealthy individuals.

Among such contributions already received was a gift of $100,000 by the International Harvester company, $50,000 toward the Chicago quota and $50,000 to be distributed toward the quotas of other cities in which the company has plants.

Chairmen in the industrial division headed by Martin H. Kennelly will solicit gifts by corporations and their employés. Solicitation committees are expected to start work immediately in plants and business houses thruout the area covered by the local Red Cross chapter, which includes all of Cook and Du Page counties and part of Lake county. It is hoped that many contributions will come in before Jan. 1.

Miss Harriet McLaughlin heads the third campaign organization, the women's division, which will solicit gifts from individuals and groups. This work is already under way, Miss McLaughlin reported.

TAVERN OWNER HELD IN SLAYING OF YOUNG PATRON

Anna, Ill., Dec. 26 (AP).—On the recommendation of a coroner's jury, Van Parmly, 49 year old operator of a tavern north of Cobden, was held today in connection with the Christmas eve slaying of Russell Baltzell, 22, of Alto Pass.

Claude Rushing, a soldier on leave, and John Trexler, companions of Baltzell, testified at the inquest that they had left the tavern when Parmly shouted to them and then fired a shot from a .32 caliber pistol, killing the youth.

State's Attorney John Paul Davis said Parmly, in a statement, claimed that Baltzell had told him they were "looking for trouble" and he had ordered them to leave. The tavern owner said he followed them out and fired when Baltzell turned with a motion as if to draw a gun.

TOTALS HIS LIFE INSURANCE AS JAP BOMBERS STRIKE

American Finds Shelter in Wake Island Ditch.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26 [Special].—"There wasn't time to be frightened. I lay in a shallow ditch by the roadside while Japanese bombers roared over dropping their deadly loads, and figured up the total amount of my life insurance."

That is what occupied the thoughts of at least one man in a ditch during the Japanese air raid on Wake Island which followed the attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7.

He is John Cooke, 31 year old former manager of the Pan American Airways airport on Wake Island. The Wake Island attack came just at noon, Dec. 8, he said, but due to the change occasioned by the international date line and time zones, it was at 2:30 p. m. Dec. 7 by Honolulu time.

Knew of Attack.

"We already had heard of the Pearl Harbor attack," said Cooke on a visit to his mother, Mrs. A. M. Cooke, in San Pedro.

"I was riding in an automobile with Capt. J. H. Hamilton, skipper of the Philippine Clipper, which was in the harbor at the time. Our chauffeur was a Chinese.

"We were not far from the Pan American base when we heard the first bomb explosions. We thought it was merely blasting by construction forces.

"Then our chauffeur heard the roar of airplane motors.

Leap Into Ditch.

"We all dived into a ditch and the Japs came over in two squadrons. They seemed to drop their bombs in rows, and every one on the island must have been between the rows, because there were no casualties. That's when I was thinking about the life insurance.

"Finally, after some buildings caught fire, a fire wagon came along and I jumped on. I returned to the building in which I was living and found that it had been destroyed by a direct bomb hit. I couldn't even find my wallet or glasses."

Thought Bombing a Game.

Cooke's wife, Mrs. Isyl Cooke, and their two sons, had been evacuated three weeks earlier to Honolulu. They thought the explosions of bombs in the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor were merely practice firing by the navy forces, he said.

Pan American's Philippine Clipper was undamaged in the attack on Wake Island and took off at 1:30 p. m., Wake Island time, for Midway Island and Honolulu, Cooke said.

He and 39 other Pan American employés were aboard. The trip to Honolulu took 25 hours, indicating the Clipper took a roundabout route to reach its destination.

REPORT HARMON TO HEAD U. S. AIR COMBAT FORCES

General Is 53; Decorated as World War Pilot.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, veteran flyer, was reported today to have been chosen to head the army air force combat command, and thus to be general field director of army air fighting operations.

Maj. Gen. Harmon.

Gen. Harmon, recently commander of the 2d air force, with headquarters at Fort George Wright, Wash., succeeds Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, who has been put in charge of Hawaii's defenses.

An air force officer since he flew into Mexico with the 1916 punitive expedition, Gen. Harmon is 53 and a graduate of the military academy.

Pilot in Somme Drive.

Gen. Harmon won the French croix de guerre in the World war as a fighter pilot attached to a French combat group in the Somme offensive.

Slight, wiry and vigorous, he is a native of San Francisco. He was given command of the 2d air force in July after brief service as commander of the interceptor command of the 4th air force at Riverside, Cal.

Whether he is to head the combat command permanently or only during the absence of Gen. Emmons was left unanswered at the war department.

Major Air Component.

The combat command is one of the two major components of the army air forces, which are headed by Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, deputy chief of the war department general staff. The other is the army air corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, reported today to be in Chungking, China.

The combat command controls all aerial operations except for units specifically attached to task forces, overseas garrisons or other commands.

The air corps has the task of supplying and maintaining the air forces, and training pilots and mechanics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 26.—It was established today that the proceeds from the sales in this country of foodstuffs and other materials obtained from the United States under the lend-lease act are credited to the government departments concerned.

The food ministry is credited with funds obtained from the sale of foodstuffs, while the supply ministry benefits from the sale of materials, such as steel or machine tools, which means an equivalent reduction in the net expenditures of these ministries which normally would be charged to their budgets.

Altho admitting there is "no available data on which to estimate the effect of lend-lease on the British budget in the present financial year," Oscar Hobson, News Chronicle financial editor, suggests that the total amounts to "a few hundred million pounds," which is too small to give any hope of reduced taxation to the British taxpayers in the present circumstances, when the national expenditure is approximately $47,000,000 daily.

PARTY LEADER CALLS ON INDIANS TO HELP BRITISH

MADRAS, India, Dec. 26 (AP).—Sir Bijoy Prasad Singh Roy, in a presidential address to the 23d Indian National Liberal federation, today said that Indians should join all branches of the fighting forces, despite grievances against British rule. He said:

"As realists we cannot be indifferent to the need for coöperation in the war effort. War already has reached our frontiers and to stand by and watch the vandalism of infamous aggressors is to invite disaster.

"Our grievances against British rule are great and grave, but we have a duty to our own country. We cannot calmly see our country overrun by plunderous hordes. This is no time to bargain on a doctrinal plane, altho we should not stop impressing on the British government that for the fuller utilization of India's willing coöperation settling of political accounts is urgent."

2 JAP AIRFIELDS FOUND IN CUBA; 7 HELD AS SPIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 26.—Discovery of two Japanese airfields in the mountains near Cienfuegos and Trinidad, cities in Santa Clara province, was announced tonight by agents of the army intelligence service. Seven Japanese arrested on the fields were taken to Santa Clara city for trial on espionage charges.

According to the investigators, the group came from Japan via the Panama canal eight months ago. They landed clandestinely on the Isle of Pines and later bought several fast, armored motorboats. When they were seized, surveying instruments, electric wires, and two dozen large searchlights were confiscated.

The airfields were described as natural open spaces of smooth, rolling land, exceptionally conditioned by nature for the landing and taking off of a large number of planes.

STABBED BY TWO ROBBERS.

John Lukas, 25 years old, 822 Oakwood boulevard, a laborer, was stabbed five times early yesterday when he tried to fight two Negro robbers who stole $3 from him at Cottage Grove avenue and 39th street.

British Bare Hongkong's Battle Diary; Japs Tell of Surrender

Rioting Disclosed

LONDON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Rioting among the native population preceded the invasion of Hongkong Island, the British war office disclosed tonight in a day to day story of the last days of the crown colony.

The recapitulation covered three weeks of fighting and it was a graphic, if matter of fact, record of a brave but hopeless defense by British, Canadian, and Indian troops. It follows in part:

"DECEMBER 8: During the morning Japanese forces estimated at one division, with a second divison in immediate reserve, crossed the frontier of leased territories on the mainland. All our demolitions were successful and our troops withdrew according to plan. There was patrol activity by both sides and a Bren carrier patrol ambushed and annihilated a Japanese platoon on Castle Peak road.

"DECEMBER 9: During daylight the enemy made no attempt to press forward. At about 11 p. m. Sing Mun redoubt, which was held by a platoon of Royal Scots, was captured by the enemy by surprise, establishing a pocket south of Jubilee reservoir.

"DECEMBER 10: Attempts of the enemy to break thru towards Taipo road from the pocket failed. . . . Hongkong's only airdrome was evacuated after demolition of the plant and obstruction of the ground.

Withdraw to Island.

"DECEMBER 11: In the morning strong enemy pressure developed on our left flank, held by the Royal Scots. Two left companies were driven in by heavy and accurate mortar fire, but the situation was stabilized by use of all available reserves, including a company of Winnipeg Grenadiers. The Royal Scots, nevertheless, suffered severe casualties. By midday it was decided the time had come for the mainland, except for Devil's peak position, to be evacuated under cover of darkness. Withdrawal to the island was successfully carried out despite some rioting in the streets of Kowloon and despite constant pressure by superior numbers of the enemy, who were quick to turn the flanks of our small units. Stonecutters' island was heavily bombarded all day, but our casualties were slight. The island was evacuated during the night.

"DECEMBER 12: During the night two companies of the Punjabi battalion had lost contact, but they concentrated successfully on Devil's peak peninsula.

"DECEMBER 13: This was a difficult day. Shelling increased in intensity and accuracy and various guns and searchlights were put out of action. The enemy appeared to be collecting launches and junks in Kowloon [on the mainland] and some activity was observed on Lamma Island. The difficulty with the civilian population is reported grave, tho under control. . . .

Systematic Shelling Effective.

"DECEMBER 14: "There was systematic shelling by the enemy and this was extremely accurate when directed against the old well known batteries. . . . Bomb damage was negligible. The morale of the civilian population still is shaky owing to difficulties over distribution of rice. But otherwise control has improved.

"DECEMBER 16: Aerial bombing and artillery shelling on an increased scale with a high standard of accuracy on military objectives."

By Dec. 19, when the invasion of the island was well started, the civilian population was reported surprisingly calm. But the day's entry added: "The troops are growing very tired and problems of supply and communication are difficult."

"DECEMBER 22: The enemy landed further troops on the northeast and attacked continuously. A counterattack on December 21 toward Ty Tam Tak had failed, altho a certain number of the enemy was killed at the cost of about 100 Canadian casualties. A counterattack by a company of Winnipeg Grenadiers to retake Wong Nei Chang gap also failed in the face of concentrated mortar and light machinegun fire which inflicted heavy casualties. . . .

Keep Up Incessant Attacks.

"DECEMBER 23: For 24 hours ending at 5 p. m. the enemy had kept up incessant attacks accompanied by intensive bombarding from the air and by mortars and artillery. . . .

"It was impossible to conceal the fact that the situation had become exceedingly grave. The troops, who have been fighting continuously for many days, were tired out, but their spirits remained high, for they realized that with every day of their resistance, so much was gained for the allied cause. But the food and water supply was desperate, for the reservoirs and depots were in enemy hands.

"DECEMBER 25: The military and naval commanders informed the governor that no further resistance could be made."

6,000 Stack Arms

TOKIO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—[Official broadcast recorded by Associated Press]. The Japanese completed the occupation of the fallen British fortress of Hongkong at 11 a. m. today, the official news agency Domei announced, and the surviving British garrison—estimated here to number 6,000 men—was ordered to stack arms.

Japanese demands accepted by the defenders provided that "a certain number" of Japanese troops would be stationed in Hongkong for what was decribed as maintaining order; that the British must be fully responsible for the prevention of "untoward incidents."

Surrender "Unconditionally."

Domei said it was an unconditional surrender, and told this story of Hongkong's last hours under the British flag:

At 4:30 p. m. Christmas day the Japanese attacking one hill found that the British had ceased firing, and at 5 o'clock four British officers were seen on top of the hill with a white flag. These men were led to headquarters where they said they represented the governor.

But since they had no authority to negotiate, the Japanese requested that the governor, Sir Mark Young, and the British commander, Maj. Gen. C. M. Maltby, appear before the Japanese lines at 5:30 p. m.

A short time later the governor, commander, and four staff officers presented themselves, and were taken across the strait to the mainland to talk in the Peninsula hotel at Kowloon.

Governor Stays at Kowloon.

At 7:05 p. m. a Japanese staff officer announced the unconditional surrender of the British garrison. Gen. Maltby returned to Hongkong in order to prevent any further hostilities and Sir Mark remained at the Peninsula hotel.

It was stated that a detachment of swimming soldiers, trained by two Olympic swimmers, Reizo Koike and Saburo Ito, had aided in capturing Hongkong. They swam across the Kowloon mainland and the island, it was asserted, and exploded British mines by rifle fire, enabling Japanese transports to cross safely.

Koike took second place back of a teammate in the 200 meter breaststroke championship at the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles and was third in the same event at Berlin in 1936. Ito finished fifth in the latter race.

Offers Winnipeg Unit to Replace Hongkong Loss

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 26 (AP).—Lieut. Col. J. N. Semmens, commanding the 2d battalion of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, part of the reserve army, today announced he had offered the services of his battalion "to make good the loss sustained by the 1st battalion at Hongkong.

"While we deeply regret the inevitable loss that is sure to follow in the wake of the surrender of Hongkong, we are justly proud of the gallant stand made by the men of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and their sister regiment from Quebec [Royal Rifles of Canada]," Semmens said.

HITLER EXPECTED TO LAUNCH DUAL DRIVE ON AFRICA

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 26.—Reports in major foreign military and diplomatic channels at Istanbul say that the German high command under the personal direction of Adolf Hitler is expected to launch a massive offensive in Africa and the near east before the first of March.

Intelligence dispatches reporting huge concentrations of transports, warships, planes, and troops in Greek, Italian, and Sicilian ports and in southern Rumania, Macedonia, and Salonika indicated to foreign military experts at Ankara and Istanbul that preparations for the new offensive were nearing their final stage.

Bulgarian army barracks and airdromes are prepared to receive a ground force of 750,000 men and sufficient bomber and fighter squadrons for "a major operation." One leading foreign military intelligence expert said he expected the movement of German troops into Bulgaria within 10 days to two weeks.

East-West Drive Planned.

The German attack is expected by these foreign sources to be launched simultaneously from French North Africa against the British 8th army in the desert and from Bulgaria and Thrace across Turkey toward Syria, Iraq, and the Suez.

Preparations for this vast offensive have been delayed, according to foreign military experts here, by the unexpected violence and continued pressure of the broad scale Russian counteroffensives which have forced the German high command to retard withdrawals of troops, equipment, and air strength from the eastern front. In at least two instances, it is reported, the Germans have been compelled to return bomber squadrons to the Russian front to cover withdrawals and prevent complete rout of Col. Gen. Paul von Kleist's southern armies.

Libyan Defense "Collapses."

British naval and royal air force action impeding reinforcement to Gen. Erwin Rommel's crippled forces in Cyrenaica precipitated the collapse of the German general's defensive east of Bengazi and robbed his final counteroffensive of last week-end of any chance of success, it is reported. Vigorous British ground action by South African and Indian tank and armored car columns disrupted Gen. Rommel's attempted counterattack and led to the capture or destruction of fresh air support rushed from the eastern front to desert airdromes about Derna and Bengazi.

The German high command is expected to recoup Gen. Rommel's losses in Cyrenaica by this projected new offensive aimed at the western end and the middle of the long allied defense line now extending from Bengazi to Iran. According to foreign military experts here the Germans probably will try to foment an Arab rising in Syria, Iraq, and Transjordan, coincident with their assaults from the east and west.

FOUND DEAD, TABLETS AT SIDE.

Jack Norman, 35 years old, was found dead yesterday in his room at 1016 Wilson avenue. Near by, police said, were a quantity of sleeping tablets.

THE RULES

WHO CAN ENTER? This offer is open free to everyone — men, women, boys and girls — except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live.

WHAT TO DO? Each week-day a Puzzle Picture representing one of the State Capitals of the United States will be printed in the Daily Tribune until 48 have appeared. You are invited to cut out these Puzzle Pictures, solve them, name the State Capitals they represent, and give the names of the States. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 48. Do not send them in separately. You may send facsimilies if you wish. It is not necessary to solve ALL correctly. Prizes will be paid for entries ranking highest.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "State Capitals," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address, and stating in 50 words or less the name of your favorite State—the one you like for your home and tell why you like it best. Letters will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzles, in which event judgment will be based on sincerity and originality. Entries must be in by midnight one week after the last picture has been published.

No extra consideration will be given to elaborate entries. Therefore make your entry simple. Accuracy is the prime requirement.

JUDGMENT: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept the judges' decision as final. 728 Cash prizes, totaling $10,000, will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named, complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. (See Prize List.) No one shall be entitled to more than one prize. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid. In fairness to all, the Chicago Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject.

RUSSIANS SMASH NEW LINE THROWN UP BY GERMANS

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 [Saturday] (AP).—The Russians today announced the rout of German forces southeast of Leningrad and the smashing of new Nazi lines which Adolf Hitler himself exhorted his troops to hold at all costs on the Oka river south of Moscow.

More than 6,000 Germans were declared killed in the soviet offensive which sent the Germans reeling from the Volkhovo area, on the main Leningrad-Moscow railroad about 80 miles southeast of the long-beseiged Baltic port.

This brought to 36,200 the number of Germans reported killed within a week by the westward surging Red army forces all the way from the Crimea in the south to the northern front.

Free 32 More Localities.

Matching this achievement, the Russians said their forces on the central front have reoccupied Narofominsk, southwest of Moscow, and blasted the frost bitten Nazis from stubbornly defended positions on the west bank of the Oka river.

[The British radio reported that the Russians had recaptured Kliasma, described as "an important town on the Oka river," in their advance against the Germans from Tula.]

Troops Crawl Across Ice.

In taking the Oka river town, the Russian troops crawled across the ice by night, smashed the German flanks and took their objective in fierce hand to hand street fighting.

[This may have been Kaluga, communications center about 110 miles southwest of Moscow on the Oka river and a junction on rail lines running northwest to Vyazma and to Bryansk on the southwest.]

Germans on the Moscow front apparently were trying desperately to hold new positions on the Orel-Kaluga-Mozhaisk-Rzhev line, but Red armies were pressing forward despite repeated Nazi counterattack.

The Nazis in the Orel sector, 200 miles south of Moscow at the lower end of the line, were said to be under immediate soviet threat while Red forces steadily were throttling Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow.

Cite Nazi Order of the Day.

Prisoners captured on the west bank of the Oka told the Russians they had been ordered to halt the Red armies there at all costs. Red officers said this was substantiated by a German order of the day dated Dec. 19, captured in another sector of the Moscow front.

This order, signed by Col. Gen. Helmesterbert, commander of the 23d German infantry division, said:

"General conditions of the war require imperatively that the present retreat cease now. The division must clean up its entire rear line and bring back to regiments the soldiers who remain at the rear . . . I expect the division, despite great weariness of soldiers and officers, to be able to stand up under these critical days."

In a review of the campaign on the Arctic front, Vice Admiral A. Golovko, commander of the soviet northern fleet, said the German plan to take Murmansk and the Kola peninsula had failed.

Destroy 42 Transports.

Admiral Golovko said that in the first six months of the war the northern fleet operating in the Barents sea destroyed 42 German transports, 2 destroyers, 4 submarines, and 5 auxiliaries totaling 200,000 tons.

A soviet guerrilla detachment which for almost four months harried German communications and garrisons behind the Russian-German battle lines in the north has returned from its mission safely, Tass, the official Russian news agency, reported.

The detachment, traveling on foot or on skis, covered more than 1,250 miles in operations in Latvia and Estonia, around the cities of Pskov and Novgorod, southwest and south of Leningrad, and in the entire Leningrad area.

PROPOSES CURB ON SOCIALISM IN MEXICO SCHOOLS

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Dec. 26 (AP).—A proposed amendment to Mexico's school law specifically providing that Socialism taught in schools must respect the rights of the individual and must not be antireligious was sent to the house of deputies by the education ministry today.

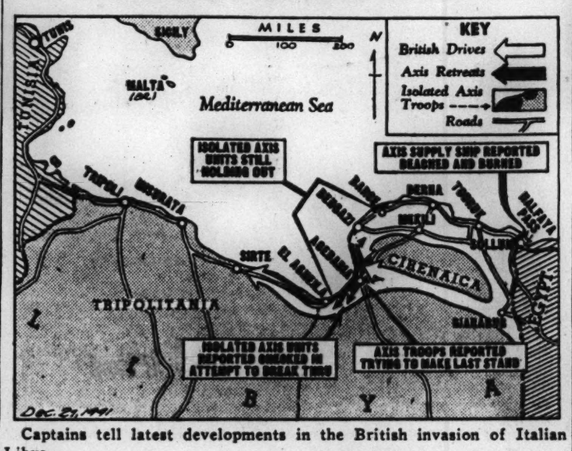
The measure said antireligious teaching violated the constitutional provision for freedom of worship.

The home would be considered a factor in teaching, whereas the previous statute put the primary obligation for education on the state. The bill also eliminates coeducation in Mexico above the second grade.

Don't Carry Letters Into Mexico, Travelers Warned

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 26 (AP).—The United States customs service issued a warning today to travelers not to carry correspondence if they plan a trip across the Mexican border. Travelers are being searched for letters and any similar forms of communication as they enter and leave the United States at San Ysidro. Customs officers reported the searching process, ordered by the treasury department in enforcing the trading with the enemy act, had resulted in delays for many tourists. The ruling does not affect the mailing of letters to Mexico.

Axis Tries Stand in Libya



Captains tell latest developments in the British invasion of Italian Libya.

AXIS UNITS FIGHT TO MAKE STAND BEYOND BENGAZI

13,000 Nazis, Italians Seized by British.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 26 (AP).—The last organized units of the axis desert army were trying to make a stand tonight 90 miles south of British-captured Bengazi, along the great arc formed by the Gulf of Sirte.

Here, in the Agedabia region some 80 miles east of the line which divides Cirenaica from Tripolitania, the bulk of the German and Italian force which remained to Gen. Erwin Rommel was struggling with heavy casualties in a last attempt to escape complete destruction and resume the flight west.

More than 13,000 axis troops either were in British prison camps or hospitals, and a large number—yet uncounted—remained in the forward sections, awaiting evacuation.

Rear Guard Action Seen.

It seemed unlikely that Rommel was trying anything more at Agedabia than a brief rear guard action to permit at least some of his men to get back toward Tripoli. The flat desert terrain of this coastal sector does not lend itself to long defensive action, especially since British advance columns are already behind the enemy, operating deep in Tripolitania.

[In London a military commentator conceded that some axis forces might be able to fight their way westward to temporary shelter, but said few tanks were likely to reach safety, due to their mechanical condition after weeks of constant action. To be even momentarily secure the Germans must at least get to Sirte, 160 miles inside Tripolitania.]

The day's middle east command communique told this story of the fighting:

"Altho isolated bodies in various stages of disorganization still remain around Barce and south of Bengazi, the bulk of the retreating enemy now appears to be in the Agedabia area.

"North of Agedabia there is a certain amount of confused fighting in which our troops are taking a toll of enemy parties attempting to escape southward.

"During this fighting 6 enemy tanks were knocked out yesterday and in addition 3 Italian tanks, 11 Italian armored cars, 11 German light tanks, some German and Italian aircraft, together with a considerable amount of material, was found abandoned in the Barce area."

Sollum Sortie Repulsed.

British wounded found in hospitals in this area were recovered and more prisoners were captured.

Hundreds of miles behind the front lines, on the Egyptian frontier, desperate members of one of several isolated axis garrisons near Sollum tried to break out to get food and water. They were rolled back and four of their light tanks wrecked.

A small axis vessel trying to supply still another of these "axis Tobruks" from the sea was caught squarely by British field artillery, driven ashore, fired, and burned out on the beach. This was at Halfaya, or "Hellfire Pass."

The royal air force again was pounding methodically at the lines of enemy motor transport, tanks, and guns southwest from Agedabia, in the El Agheila area, and elsewhere. Tripoli and Misurata were raided heavily.

OFFER UNIFORM DEFENSE BILLS FOR ALL STATES

Uniform defense bills, proposed for adoption by legislatures in 1942, were circulated yesterday by the council of state governments. The bills, destined for possible introduction in the Illinois assembly—now in special session—were mailed to Rep. Bernice T. Van Der Vries [R., Winnetka], Illinois chairman of the commission on intergovernmental coöperation, who said she would consider them.

The series includes:

1. Authorizing governors to establish blackouts wherever deemed advisable, or upon request by military authorities.

2. Mobilization for fire defense by permitting local governments to send fire fighting apparatus outside their jurisdiction on the request of the governors or mayors.

3. A model health and sanitation act, empowering state health departments to establish areas requiring special control because of catastrophies or where normal populations have greatly increased by camps or arms plants.

Find Bodies of 7 Drowned Christmas Day in Canada

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Dec. 26 (AP).—The bodies of seven residents of Dayton, Ont., 65 miles east of here, were recovered today from the waters of Bright lake after they drowned Christmas day in an ice boat accident. They were Harry Draper and his children, Floyd, Georgina, and Irene; two children of J. C. Gardiner, Chester and Ruth; and Bruce Tait, Draper's brother-in-law.

ALUMINUM SHEET MILL WORKER CONFESSES TO SABOTAGING MACHINE

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 26 (AP).—The arrest of Wandell Virgil Skelton, 22 years old, of Louisville for sabotage at one of the local plants of the Reynolds Metals company, producing defense materials, was announced today by Herbert K. Moss of the federal bureau of investigation.

Moss said Skelton told FBI agents "that he placed a piece of steel between rollers of a mill producing national defense materials, with the result that this mill was damaged, causing that particular mill to be taken temporarily out of operation for repairs. It curtailed defense production."

The FBI reported Skelton is a native of Warrick county, Indiana, and had been employed at the aluminum sheet rolling mills of the Reynolds company since January. The prisoner pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner Ray Kirchdorfer, who held him under $25,000 bond. Maximum penalty for the offense, the FBI said, is $10,000 fine and 30 years' imprisonment.

ITALIAN SEEKS COUNTRYMEN TO FIGHT FOR ALLIES

New York, Dec. 26 (AP).—Lieut. Col. Randalfo Pacciardi, Italian lawyer-journalist, arrived today on the Portuguese liner Serpa Pinto and said he wanted to form "an Italian movement to fight somewhere with the allies."

Declaring that Italy would be a vassal of Germany if Hitler won the war, Pacciardi, who commanded the Garibaldi brigade of the Spanish Loyalists, said he would gather together all anti-Fascists.

Following Franco's victory in Spain, Pacciardi fled to France where he was interned. Twice, after France fell, he tried to escape to Gibraltar but failed. Finally, he gained permission to leave France, and boarded the Serpa Pinto at Casa Blanca, French Morocco.

Illinois Marines Corporal Is Jap Prisoner of War

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—Corp. J. B. Story, 26 years old, of the United States marines, is a prisoner of war of the Japanese, according to a message today from the war department to his aunt, Miss Hazel Deers. He enlisted in the marines two years ago and has been stationed in China more than a year.

CRERAR NAMED CANADIAN ACTING CHIEF IN BRITAIN

Leads 100,000 During McNaughton Illness.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Lieut. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, former chief of the Canadian general staff, has been appointed to command the Canadian corps in Britain, comprising more than 100,000 men, in the absence of Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton on sick leave, it was announced tonight.

Crerar, 53 years old, was an artillery staff officer in the World war and was credited with designing the present structure of the Canadian army. He arrived in Britain today as commander of the second Canadian division.

The troops were officially met by Rear Adm. Sir Arthur Bromley on behalf of the British government and C. B. Johnson and A. C. Bryan, representing the Canadian high commissioner.

Airmen Arrive in Britain.

A BRITISH PORT, Dec. 26 (AP).—The largest group of airmen ever to cross the Atlantic arrived here by the thousands today, telling Britons, "We have come to bring you victory in 1943."

More than half were Canadians, but they included American members of the royal Canadian air force, Australians, New Zealanders, Britons, Norwegians, Poles, and Dutch, all trained in Canada.

Fresh Canadian Troops.

Besides pilots, gunners, navigators, and radio men, the convoy included thousands of reinforcements for the Canadian army corps in the United Kingdom, some personnel of the Netherlands fleet air arm, and Jamaica tradesmen for the British army. United States warships escorted the convoy on part of the uneventful voyage.

Among the Americans in the RCAF were Pilot Officers E. W. Sanders of Houston, Tex.; L. M. Solomon of Chattanooga, Tenn., and D. B. Hodd of Boston, Mass.

TWO CENSOR AIDS ARE NAMED FOR RADIO, PAPERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—John H. Sorrells, executive editor of the Scripps Howard newspapers, and John H. Ryan, vice president and general manager of the Fort Industry company, which operates a chain of radio stations, today were named censorship directors by Censor Byron Price.

Sorrells, who served as a lieutenant of infantry in the World war, has been executive editor of the newspaper chain since 1930. The company, of which Ryan is an officer, operates radio stations WSPD, Toledo, O.; NVWA, Wheeling, W. Va.; WMMN, Fairmont, W. Va.; WAGA, Atlanta, Ga.; WLOK, Lima, O., and WHIZ, Zanesville, O.

Ryan is to deal with problems of censorship effecting radio, and Sorrells with newspapers, Price said. Ryan assumed his duties today and Sorrells is scheduled to arrive in a few days.

Britons Back at Work; Ignore Second Holiday

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Britain's war factories were reported in full production today, with at least 90 per cent of the workers back at their benches after the Christmas holiday. Reports from industrial centers showed that, despite the fact that Dec. 26 is Boxing day and traditionally a holiday, absenteeism from the factories was no more than on a normal working day.

CONGRESS VIEWS CHURCHILL TALK WITH APPROVAL

Members Tell Reactions to His Message.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Congress generally liked the address of Winston Churchill, who told the American legislators that he was himself "a child of the house of commons."

Senate and house members applauded and cheered him, then later expressed these individual views:

Sen. Alben Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader in the senate—"The address was wonderful in its frankness, in its comprehensive discussion of the problems that face us and in the indomitable faith that out of it all shall come a great victory."

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.]: "A fine, forceful speech."

Sen. Gerald Nye [R., N. D.]: "So far as his appeal for the two countries to get together to fight the war went, the speech was fine. But if there was any 'union now' to be read into his remarks, I would have to take definite exception."

Sen. Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.]: "Every one will agree that the idea of union now for our military and naval forces is necessary. As to union in the future, the details and mechanics of that must wait but I believe it's got to be done."

Sen. Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.]: "If England had worked with us 12 years ago in the orient, Japan would not be the power she is today. If we had worked with England on other things, conditions would be different. These two nations hold the balance of power in the world if we exercise it for peace."

Sen. William R. Bulow [D., S. D.]: "Close coöperation between Britain and the United States to prevent recurrence of war is essential. That's what we ought to do, if it can be done. If we don't do that, the war is useless."

Sen. Ernest W. McFarland [D., Ariz.]: "The fact that we are having this war demonstrated that Churchill was right regarding the democracies working closer together in the future to prevent a recurrence of such wars."

Rep. Earl C. Michener [R., Mich.], acting Republican leader: "The sincerity and frankness of the speech will meet with the entire approval of all of our people."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.]: "It was a clever speech that, under the circumstances, would more or less appeal to the average American. He showed far more wit than the average Englishman does. He emphasized that it is necessary for us to set up an efficient organization in government with a view toward producing a maximum of defense materials."

Rep. John Kee [D., W. Va.]: "It was a message of courage and it ought to give us a lot of courage."

BRITISH FORESEE NEW WAR-PEACE BOND WITH U.S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 27 [Saturday.]—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's speech to the American congress yesterday was hailed in the British press this morning as an historic event portending even closer Anglo-American coöperation, both in war and in peace.

Churchill's hope of a postwar federation of the United States and the British empire is shared by Britons everywhere, says the Daily Mail, adding that "this is an attainable union in peace, proved to be attainable by the bonds we have now forged in war."

The News Chronicle contends that the speech "brings the two great English speaking nations in closer contact and closer harmony than at any time since the Declaration of Independence." It expresses the hope that "in due course the parliament of Britain will have the honor of receiving the President of the United States in its turn."

Spanish Groups Forbidden to Fly Their Flag in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 26.—Spanish regional societies in Cuba no longer may fly the Spanish flag from their buildings, Miguel Cespedes, minister of justice, ruled today. Recent public demonstrations against the societies brought about the ruling. The Spanish regional associations, which also include Cubans, function as recreational centers.

BRITISH REPLACE COMMANDER ON FAR EAST FRONT

Lieut. Gen. Pownall in Brooke-Popham Job.

for declaring that British defenses in the Pacific are able to withstand any attack, is regarded by Australians as an indication that their demands are carrying weight in high councils.

Rap Chamberlain Holdovers.

The Sydney Daily Mirror has demanded the removal from Prime Minister Winston Churchill's cabinet of all holdovers from the Chamberlain government, declaring "the retention of such men means the end of the British empire as such."

Australian officials, The Tribune correspondent was informed, have demanded the scrapping of the present system which requires them to submit thru various London bureaus all requests for action by the British government.

The object is to obtain closer and more intimate contact with the war cabinet here so that immediate decisions may be obtained on important matters, instead of having them lying around on desks and in pigeon holes before they even get to the attention of the proper authorities.

Protest Coat Tail Dangling.

"We have ended the period of dangling on the coat tails of the British foreign office," an important Australian said. Australia's views have been stifled, as have those of the other dominions, and this has got to end."

Former Australian Premier Robert Menzies, once criticized as an appeaser because he warned the British that Japan would be no pushover, said here recently that what Americans and Britons regard as the "far east" is the territory "immediately north" of Australia.

Menzies at that time reiterated a demand that far eastern defenses be strengthened greatly, and this was promised.

Editor Demands Change.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 27.—Sir Keith Murdoch in a dispatch from London to his Melbourne Herald says, "If Singapore is lost, the Churchill government will fall."

"Mr. Churchill would stoutly dissent the view that he is Atlantic minded," Sir Keith wrote, "but nobody can claim that he has handled the dominions well or has shown broad sympathy inasmuch as the dominions' secretary is not in the war cabinet and the dominions have been omitted from his speeches on Japan.

"Some of those in office are ready to say that we can finish the Japanese after beating the Germans. There is undoubtedly a vital shaping of policy coming when the dominions cannot be away from the table. The Pacific point of view must be stoutly and independently represented. Australia should request an immediate entrance into the war cabinet and the placing of her experts on the defense council."

Hints Far East Offensive.

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 26 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin, broadcasting today, said that Britain, the United States, and Australia had launched an effort to reverse Japan's present offensive advantage. He gave no details.

"The decisions of the far eastern war council," declared Curtin, "demand action and the support which is being given by Australia, the United States, China, Russia, the Netherlands, Great Britain, and their allies. We are mobilizing the allies against the axis."

He said Australia never was "satisfied with the air position in the Pacific," but added that "in the past 18 days we have taken stock and, altho the conclusion is not glowing with optimism, there is sober confidence. The meeting in Washington [presumably of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill] shows the democracies are fully alive to the need for cohesive action in directing operations in the Pacific."

The prime minister said that if Australia were attacked by Japan, "we would have casualties and material losses, but we must steel ourselves. It must be realized that we do not have sufficient forces to guard all our people from bombing and shelling, but we have the courage, determination and capacity to beat off the invader."

NAMES MINNESOTA RESIDENT ENVOY OF U. S. TO NEW ZEALAND

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated David J. Winton of Minnesota to be the first American minister to New Zealand. He is vice president of the Winton Lumber company at Minneapolis.

David J. Winton.

The President also nominated Col. Henry L. Larsen to be a brigadier general in the marine corps. Col. Larsen, 51 years old, was born in Chicago and his usual residence is listed as Denver, Colo.

Since July, 1940, he has commanded the 8th regiment of the 2d marine division. He served with that division in the American expeditionary force of the first World war. He has been in the service 28 years.

MALAYA BEGINS MOBILIZATION OF 3 MILLION CHINESE

SINGAPORE, Dec. 26.—The 3,000,000 Chinese in Malaya are to be mobilized against the Japanese as a result of decisions taken at a meeting of Chinese leaders with Gov. Sir Shenton Thomas.

Under the direction of Malayan-Chinese and Chungking experts, Chinese men and women will be drafted and trained for war services ranging from policing and propaganda to guerrilla warfare.

The Chinese mobilization stems from a message sent to Gov. Thomas by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek offering the services and coöperation of the Chinese community in Malaya. Thomas in turn pledged the full coöperation and backing of Malayan government for community mobilization under Chinese leadership.

Tan Kah Kee, Malayan Chinese tin and rubber magnate, has been selected to head the Malayan-Chinese war effort.

Churchill Phones Senator's Wife Too Ill to See Him

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Winston Churchill, leaving the capitol after his address today, was introduced to Sen. Ernest W. McFarland [D., Ariz.], who remarked that Mrs. McFarland was ill in a hospital and was disappointed at not seeing the prime minister. At Churchill's request, a telephone connection with the hospital was made and the British leader told Mrs. McFarland he hoped she would have a speedy recovery.

Serbs Destroy Trainload of Nazi War Machinery

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—The British radio reported today that a trainload of German machinery bound for the Bulgarian frontier had been derailed and destroyed by Serbian patriots between Belgrade and Nish.

CANADA SEEKING EQUAL VOICE IN ALLIED COUNCIL

Australia Probably Will Follow Lead.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26. [Special.]—The question whether the British empire will act as a unit in any supreme war council or other body set up to coördinate the strategy of the anti-axis nations or whether the British dominions will have separate representation has been raised by the arrival in Washington today of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada.

The situation is understood to be roughly that Great Britain and the United States would prefer that in an overall political advisory board and in staff intergration the British empire should act as a unit, altho some of its representatives could be chosen from the dominions. Mackenzie King, however, wants separate representation for Canada and in this initiative he is expected to be supported by Australia.

Canada Almost Independent.

On behalf of Canada's stand it is urged that she is no longer technically even a British dominion but a nation united to Great Britain only by a personal union, by the fact that she has the same king. This was made clear by her separate declaration of war in September, 1939, a week later than that of Great Britain. In other words, as a result of the decision of her own parliament, she decided to go to war and asked King George to declare it for her.

The second, and perhaps more impressive argument, is that she is the fourth of the allies as regards her military and economic contribution. She has now more than 100,000 soldiers in Great Britain, but perhaps her greatest potential importance is as the site of the empire air training scheme, which has already sent some 15,000 trained airmen to Britain and will have doubled this number by spring. Canada is supplying Britain with the major portion of all the wheeled equipment being used in Libya or Britain itself except for tanks.

Vitally Interested in Pacific.

Finally, it is argued, Canada is as vitally interested in the war in the Pacific as the United States and Great Britain, and Australia even more since she is close to it.

The last World war raised the question of the British imperial constitution in a different form. After it Canada insisted on separate representation in the league of nations. Now she wants separate representation in the councils of the war itself.

Australia has been the chief British arsenal in the Pacific, her output going to arm the defenders of Singapore and other British defenses in the Pacific, including Australia herself. Australia has been turning out war planes complete even to the engines, and her steel industry has been expanded to impressive proportions.

10 Sentenced to Death in Bulgarian Invasion Plot

BERLIN, Dec. 26 [Official broadcast recorded by Associated Press].—A former press officer of the British legation at Sofia, Bulgaria, and nine other persons were sentenced to death today on charges of espionage aimed at preparing for invasion of Bulgaria. The principal defendant [presumably the former press officer] was condemned to death in absentia.

Report Americans Leave Sofia.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 26 (AP).—Stefani [Italian news agency] reported today from Sofia that the American diplomatic corps in the Bulgarian capital left last night for Istanbul, Turkey. Bulgaria has declared itself at war with the United States.

U.S. TELLS NAZIS ENVOYS HOUSED COMFORTABLY

Get Liberties at White Sulphur Springs.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—All members of the German embassy staff and their dependents have been housed comfortably at the Greenbriar hotel, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and are receiving considerate treatment, the state department said tonight.

The department has requested the American legation in Berne to inform the Swiss government, for transmission to the German government, of the conditions under which their embassy personnel are living.

Describes Living Conditions.

In particular, the following conditions apply:

1. The whole group is permitted freely to move about in an extensive area of park grounds outside the hotel. This arrangement includes the mineral springs.

2. The German chargé d'affaires, with his wife, can upon request, also visit the town.

3. The representative of the Swiss legation is permitted free access to the German group at all times.

4. There is unrestricted two-way telephone communication at all times between the German group and the Swiss legation at Washington.

5. Postal communication between the Swiss legation and the German group is also permitted.

Treated on Reciprocal Basis.

The department pointed out that since diplomatic relations were severed, the United States government has treated on a reciprocal basis the former representatives of the governments with which it is now at war.

Recent news dispatches reported that American diplomats and newspaper correspondents in Germany have been taken to Bad Nauheim in Southern Germany to await departure for the United States. Bad Nauheim is a popular health resort.

EXPECT VICTORY, BUT NOT TILL '43, SAYS CHURCHILL

War Will Run Two Years, He Warns Congress.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—The war to crush Hitlerism thruout the world will last at least two more years, Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, warned today in an historic address before an informal joint session of congress.

If the democracies bend all their resources to the task, including "the whole man power," it is reasonable to hope that the end of 1942 will see them in a better position than they are today, said the man whose voice alone is credited with resurrecting the spirit and courage of the British lion after Dunkirk.

And by 1943, he added grimly, the foes of the axis powers should be able to take the initiative "upon an ample scale."

Speaks in Senate Chamber.

Mr. Churchill spoke in the senate chamber before an impressive assemblage of the highest officials in the land and a galaxy of diplomatic notables. There were representatives of many of the nations that have fallen before the armies of the dictators, as well as such figures as Maxim Litinov, ambassador from Russia, and Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador, whose nations are holding the enemy at bay.

The Canadian parliament also will hear Churchill, it was announced today. The British prime minister expects to go to Ottawa, Ont., for two days next week. Parliament, which is in recess, will be called back to hear Churchill. The exact date of his visit to Canada was withheld.

Get Brief Notice.

Arrangements for Mr. Churchill's appearance before congress today were made on brief notice, interrupting a Christmas recess of both houses. However, both the senate and house were well represented. The justices of the Supreme court shared the front row with cabinet officers. Edward R. Stettinius, William S. Knudsen, and Leon Henderson, representing the war production effort, occupied seats on the crowded floor along with former officials and members of congress.

It was a scene of high drama and colorful pagentry that unfolded beneath the powerful spotlights of the movie cameramen, etching itself deep into the memories of every one there.

Makes Stirring Speech.

Only once before has a British prime minister addressed the congress of the United States and never in wartime. It was a stirring speech in which hope, humor, invective, triumph and furious anger were intermingled.

Here was the man who has spurred the forces of the British empire to action time and again and whose words have upheld them in many dark hours. He gave his listeners today a powerful example of his oratorical prowess, making them laugh, or look solemn as he described what lies ahead of them, arousing them to anger, and finally bringing forth cheers of triumph as he told of British successes and promised that the dictators shall be "taught a lesson which they and the world will never forget."

Mr. Churchill, the light of battle in his blue eyes and a bull dog set to his jaw, strode into the senate chamber at 12:30 p. m. amid a solemn hush; he departed some 30 minutes later with a shouting, cheering ovation ringing in his ears.

Flashes Victory Sign.

The occasion reached its grand climax when he paused for a moment before leaving the platform, flashed his famed grin and held up the first and second fingers of his right hand in a "V for victory" sign.

Unsparing tho he was in his forecast of the probable length and harshness of the struggle that confronts the allies, Churchill spoke confidently of ultimate victory and hinted at steps to be taken to preserve peace in future generations.

Twice in a single generation has the catastrophe of world war fallen upon the United States and Great Britain, he said. Twice in a lifetime the long arm of fate has reached across the Atlantic to bring the United States "into the forefront of the battle." This generation owes it to itself and its children to make sure it does not happen a third time.

Blames Past Neglect.

If the United States and Britain had stuck together after the last war, Churchill said, if the two nations had taken common measures for safety, the present situation might never have occurred.

Some congressional listeners later said that they read into some of Mr. Churchill's statements subtle support for "Union Now" with Britain, a movement which was being propagandized in the east prior to the United States' entry into the war.

The British leader spoke from a prepared manuscript, which he explained later he had dictated last night between 10 and 12 o'clock, pacing the floor of his room in the White House.

In his level, grinding voice, at times pitched so low his words were indistinguishable in the overflowing galleries, he vented his wrath upon Hitler, Mussolini, and Japan with all the bitterness familiar to Americans who have listened to his speeches from England over the radio.

When he referred to Mussolini, he let his tongue dwell on each separate syllable, his voice dripping with sarcasm, and his mention of Hitler was a growl of contemptuous anger. His tone when he spoke of the "wicked men and their factions" brought a responsive rumble from the floor and galleries.

TEXT OF CHURCHILL TALK

"Members of the senate and of the house of representatives of the United States: I feel greatly honored that you should have thus invited me to enter the United States senate chamber and address the representatives of both branches of congress. The fact that my American forebears have for so many generations played their part in the life of the United States and that here I am, an Englishman, welcomed in your midst, makes this experience one of the most moving and thrilling in my life, which is already long and has not been entirely uneventful.

"I wish indeed that my mother, whose memory I cherish across the vale of years, could have been here to see. By the way, I cannot help reflecting that if my father had been an American and my mother British, instead of the other way around, I might have got here on my own.

Perhaps Better This Way, He Says.

"In that case, this would not have been the first time you would have heard my voice. In that case I would not have needed any invitation, but if I had it is hardly likely that it would have been unanimous. So perhaps things are better as they are. I may confess, however, that I do not feel quite like a fish out of water in a legislative assembly where English is spoken.

"I am a child of the house of commons. I was brought up in my father's house to believe in democracy; trust the people, that was his message. I was to see him cheered at meetings and in the streets by crowds of working men 'way back in those aristocratic, Victorian days when, as Disraeli said, the world was for the few and for the very few.

"Therefore, I have been in full harmony all my life with the tides which have flowed on both sides of the Atlantic, against privilege and monopoly, and I have steered confidently towards the Gettysburg ideal of government of the people, by the people, for the people.

Credits Advance to Commons.

"I owe my advancement entirely to the house of commons, whose servant I am. In my country as in yours public men are proud to be the servants of the state, and would be ashamed to be its masters. On any day, if they thought the people wanted it, the house of commons could by a single vote remove me from my office, but I am not worrying about it at all.

"As a matter of fact, I am sure they will approve very highly of my journey here, for which I obtained the king's permission, in order to meet the President of the United States, and to arrange with him for all that mapping out of our military plans and for all those intimate meetings of the high officers of the armed services in both countries which are indispensable for the successful prosecution of the war.

ENCOURAGED BY U. S. VIEW

Nation's Sense of Proportion Termed Impressive.

"I should like to say, first of all, how much I have been impressed and encouraged by the breadth of view and the sense of proportion which I have found in all quarters over here to which I have had access.

"Any one who did not understand the size and solidarity of the foundation of the United States might easily have expected to find an excited, disturbed, self-centered atmosphere, with all minds fixed upon the novel, startling, and painful episode of sudden war as it hit America.

"After all, the United States have been attacked and set upon by three most powerfully armed dictator states. The greatest military power in Europe, the greatest military power in Asia—Japan, Germany, and Italy have all declared and are making war upon you, and the quarrel is open, which can only end in their overthrow or yours.

Fortitude Called Olympian.

"But here in Washington, in these memorable days, I have found an Olympian fortitude which, far from being based upon complacency, is only the mark of an inflexible purpose and the proof of a sure, well grounded confidence in the final outcome.

"We in Britain had the same feeling in our darkest days. We, too, were sure that in the end all would be well. You do not, I am certain, underrate the severity of the ordeal to which you and we have still to be subjected.

"The forces ranged against us are enormous. They are bitter, ruthless. The wicked men and their factions who have launched their peoples on the path of war and conquest know that they will be called to terrible account if they cannot beat down by force of arms the people they have assailed.

Foes' Weapons Described as Vast.

"They will stop at nothing. They have a vast accumulation of war weapons of all kinds. They have highly trained and disciplined armies, navies, and air services. They have plans and designs which have long been contrived and matured. They will stop at nothing that violence or treachery can suggest.

"It is quite true that on our side our resources in man power and materials are far greater than theirs. But only a portion of your resources are as yet mobilized and developed, and we, both of us, have much to learn in the cruel art of war.

PATH VIEWED AS DIFFICULT

Time of Tribulation Lies Ahead, Congress Told.

"We have, therefore, without doubt, a time of tribulation before us. In this same time, some ground will be lost which it will be hard and costly to regain. Many disappointments and unpleasant surprises await us. Many of them will affect us before the full marshaling of our latent and total power can be accomplished.

"For the best part of 20 years, the youth of Britain and America have been taught that war was evil, which is true, and that it would never come again, which has been proved false.

"For the best part of 20 years, the youth of Germany, of Japan, and Italy have been taught that aggressive war is the noblest duty of the citizen and that it should be begun as soon as the necessary weapons and organization have been made.

"We have performed the duties incident to peace. They have plotted and planned for war. Naturally, this places us in Britain and now places you in the United States at a disadvantage which only time, courage, and untiring exertion can correct.

"We have indeed to be thankful that so much time has been granted to us. If Germany had tried to invade the British Isles after the French collapse in June, 1940, and if Japan had declared war on the British empire and the United States at about the same date, no one can say what disaster and agonies might not have been our lot. But now, at the end of December, 1941, our transformation from easy going peace to total war efficiency has made very great progress.

PREDICTS DRIVE IN 1943

Definite Gains Are Expected by End of 1942.

"The broad flow of munitions in Great Britain has already begun. Immense strides have been made in the conversion of American industry to military purposes, and now that the United States is at war, it is possible for orders to be given every day which in a year or 18 months hence will produce results in war power beyond anything that has been seen or foreseen in the dictator states.

"Provided that every effort is made, that nothing is kept back, that the whole manpower, brain power, virility, valor, and virtue of the English speaking world, with all its galaxy of loyal friends, are associated in a common community or state, we can be reunited by the simple but supreme God.

"I think it would be reasonable to hope that the end of 1942 will see us quite definitely in a better position than we are now, and that the year 1943 will enable us to assume the initiative upon an ample scale. Some people may be startled or momentarily depressed when, like your President, I speak of a long, hard war.

"Our peoples would rather know the truth, somber tho it may be, and after all, when we are doing the most blessed work in the world, not only defending our hearths and homes, but the cause of freedom in every land, the question of whether deliverance comes in 1942 or 1943 or 1944 falls into its proper place in the grand proportions of human history.

Strength Held Equal to Task.

"Sure I am that this day now, we are masters of our fate; that the task which has been set us is not above our strength; that its pangs and toils are not beyond our endurance, as long as we have faith in our cause and unconquerable willpower, salvation will not be denied us.

"In the words of the sonnet, 'Ye shall not be afraid of evil tidings; his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord.'

"Not all the tidings will be evil. On the contrary, mighty strokes of war already have been dealt against the enemy—the glorious defense of armies and people. Wounds have been inflicted upon the Nazi tyranny system which have bitten deep and will fester and inflame not only the Nazi body but in the Nazi mind.

Mussolini Crumbled, Congress Told.

"The boastful Mussolini has crumpled already. He is now but a lackey and a serf, the merest utensil of his master's will. He has inflicted great suffering and wrong upon his industrious people. He has been stripped of all his African empire. Abyssinia is liberated.

"Our armies of the east, which were so weak and ill equipped at the moment of the French desertion, now control all the regions from Teheran to Bengazi, from Aleppo and Cyprus to the sources of the Nile.

"For many months we devoted ourselves to preparing to take the offensive in Libya. The very considerable battle which has been proceeding there for the last six weeks in the desert has been most fiercely fought on both sides.

Tanks and Planes Turn Tide.

"Owing to the difficulties of supplies upon the desert flank, we were never able to bring numerically equal forces to bombard the enemy. Therefore, we had to rely upon superiority in numbers and qualities of tanks and aircraft—British and American.

"For the first time, aided by these, we have fought the enemy with equal weapons. For the first time we have made them feel the sharp edge of those tools with which he has enslaved Europe. The armored forces of the enemy in Cirenaica amounted to about 150,000 men, of whom a third were German. Gen. Auchinleck set out to destroy totally that armored force and I have every reason to believe that his aim will be accomplished.

LIBYA ONLY A SAMPLE

Weapons and Organization Held Route to Victory.

"I am so glad to be able to place before you members of the senate and the house of representatives at this moment, when you are entering the war, the proof that with proper weapons and proper organization, we are able to beat the life out of the savage Nazis. What Hitler is suffering in Libya is only a sample and a foretaste of what we have got to give him and his accomplices wherever this war should lead us in any quarter of the globe.

"There are good tidings also from the blue waters. The lifeline of supplies which join our two nations across the ocean without which all would fail—that lifeline is flowing steadily and freely in spite of all that the enemy could do.

"The back of the British empire, which many thought 18 months ago was broken, is now incomparably stronger and is growing stronger with every month. Lastly, if you will forgive me for saying so, the best tidings of all, the United States—united as never before and who have drawn the sword for freedom and cast away the scabbard.

Hope Rises Among Conquered.

"All these tremendous steps have led the subjugated peoples of Europe to lift up their heads again in hope; they have put aside forever the shameful temptation of resigning themselves to the conqueror's will.

"Hope has returned to the hearts of scores of millions of men and women, and with that hope there burns the flame of anger against the brutal, corrupt invaders and still more fiercely burn the fires of hatred and contempt for the filthy Quislings whom they have suborned.

"In a dozen famous ancient states, now prostrate under the Nazi yoke, the masses of the people await their hour of liberation when they too will once again be able to play their parts and strike their blows like men. That hour will strike and the people will proclaim that night is past and that dawn has come.

Onslaught Long Planned, He Says.

"The onslaught upon us, so long and so completely planned by Japan, has presented both our countries with grievous problems for which we could not be fully prepared. If people asked me, and they have a right to ask me in England, 'Why is it that you have not got an ample equipment of modern aircraft and army weapons of all kinds in Malaya and in the East Indies?' I can only point to the victory Gen. Auchinleck has gained in the Libyan campaign.

"Had he diverted and dispersed our gradually growing resources between Libya and Malaya, we could have been found wanting in both places. If the United States has been found at a disadvantage at various points in the Pacific ocean, we know well that that is to no small extent because of the aid which you have been giving to us in munitions for the defense of the British Isles and to the Libyan campaign, and above all, because of your help in the battle of the Atlantic, upon which all depends and which has in consequence been successfully and prosperously maintained.

PREPARATIONS GO SLOWLY

Believes Disposition of Resources Was Correctly Made.

"Of course, it would have been much better, I freely admit, if we had enough resources of all kinds to be of full strength at all threatened points, but considering how slowly and reluctantly we brought ourselves to large scale preparations today, we had no right to expect to be in such a fortunate position.

"The choice of how to dispose of our hitherto limited resources had to be made by Britain in time of war and by the United States in time of peace, and I believe that history will pronounce that upon the whole—and it is upon the whole that these matters must be judged—the choice made was right.

"Now that we are together, now that we are linked in a righteous comradeship of arms, now that our two considerable nations, each in perfect unity, have joined all their life energies in a common resolve, you will see milestones upon which a steady light will glow and brighten.

"Many people have been astonished that Japan, in a single day, has made war against the United States and the British empire.

"We all wonder why if this dark design, with its laborious and intricate preparation, had been so long filling their secret mind, they did not choose our moment of weakness 18 months ago. But, quite dispassionately, in spite of the losses we have suffered and the further punishment we will have to take, it certainly appears an irrational act. It, of course, only proves it correct to assume that they have made very careful calculations and think they see their way thru; nevertheless, there may be another explanation.

"We know that for many years past the policy of Japan has been dominated by secret sects of societies and junior officers of the army and navy who have enforced their will upon successive Japanese cabinets and parliament by the assassination of any Japanese statesman who opposed or who did not sufficiently further their aggressive policies.

A Considerable Undertaking.

"It may be that these societies, dazzled and dizzy with their own dreams of aggression and the prospect of early victory, have forced their country into war against its better judgment. They have certainly embarked upon a very considerable undertaking.

"After the outbreak at Pearl Harbor and the Pacific islands, in the Philippines, in Malaya, and the Dutch East Indies, they must now know that the stakes for which they decided to play are enormous. When we look at the resources of the United States and the British empire compared to those of Japan, when we remember those of China, which have for so long valiantly withstood invasion of tyranny, and, when also we observe the Russian menace which hangs over Japan, it becomes still more difficult to reconcile Japanese action with prudence or even sanity. What kind of a people do they think we are?

MUST BE TAUGHT A LESSON

Premier Says Allies Will Persevere Against Axis.

"Is it possible they do not realize that we shall never cease to persevere against them until they have been taught a lesson which they and the world will never forget?

"Members of the senate and members of the house of representatives: I'll turn for one moment more from the turmoil and convulsions of the present to the broader spaces of the future. Here we are together, facing a group of mighty foes who seek our ruin.

"Here we are together, defending all that to free men are dear. Twice in a single generation the catastrophe of world war has fallen upon us. Twice in our lifetime the long arm of fate has reached out across the ocean to bring the United States into the forefront of the battle. If we had stuck together after the last war, if we took common measures for our safety, this renewal of the curse need never have fallen upon us.

"Do we not owe it to ourselves, to our children, to tormented mankind, to make sure that these catastrophies do not engulf us for the third time? It has been proved that pestilences may break out in the old world which carry their destructive ravages into the new world, from which, once they are afoot, the new world cannot escape.

"Duty and prudence alike demand, first, that the germ centers of hatred and revenge should be constantly and vigilantly served and treated in good time and that an adequate organization should be set up to make sure that the pestilence can be controled at its earliest beginnings, before it spreads and rages thruout the entire earth.

"Five or six years ago, it would have been easy, without shedding a drop of blood, for the United States and Great Britain to have insisted on the fulfillment of the disarmament clauses of the treaties which Germany signed after the great war, and that also would have been the opportunity for assuring to the Germans those materials, those raw materials, which we declared in the Atlantic charter should not be denied to any nation, victor or vanquished.

Chance Departed Now.

"The chance has departed; it is gone. Prodigious hammer strokes have been needed to bring us together today.

"If you will allow me to use other language, I will say that he must indeed have a blind soul who cannot see that some great purpose and design is being worked out here below, for which we have the honor to be the faithful servant.

"It is not given to us to peer into the mysteries of the future; yet, in the days to come, the British and American peoples will, for their own safety and for the good of all, walk together in majesty, in justice, and in peace."

Hurt in Salt Slide

Quick action by city firemen saved the life of Giuseppe Aducato, 65 years old, yesterday when he was trapped under part of a 40 foot high, 10,000 ton pile of table salt.

Aducato, who lives at 907 South Claremont avenue, was loading salt in a warehouse of the Morton Salt company at 1357 Elston avenue.

The loading machine ate into the bottom of the pile and an overhanging ledge suddenly gave way. Aducato was throwr under the machine as several tons of salt buried him.

Racine avenue police and firemen of Engine company 35 answered the alarm sounded by Robert Niemann, assistant manager of the branch.

Within 10 minutes the firemen had burrowed to the pinned workman. Inhalator squad 10 administered oxygen and Aducato was revived.

Weapon: Ridicule

Clifford Ulrich, 28 years old, 3738 Sheffield avenue, expects soon to be called to fight Hitler, Mussolini, and the Japs with bullets—but right now he is fighting them with ridicule. He's a cartoonist. He drew a Hitler-Mussolini-Jap cartoon on each door of his car and one on the back. On one door he shows the Nazi and Fascist leaders trying to chisel off a piece of the world for themselves, with the Jap standing by and holding the bag. In the rear he shows them as a triple headed dog, Hitler's head red with fury, Mussolini's green with envy, and the Jap's just plain yellow. On the other door he depicts the three in prison stripes.

STRAW BALLOTS HINT COURTNEY EYES U. S. SENATE

10,000 Bearing 2 Names Ready for Use.

Ten thousand or more straw vote ballots to test public sentiment on the United States senatorship election in Illinois next year have been printed and are ready for use after the holidays.

The 10,000 have been glimpsed in surroundings that indicated the test was planned to gather information for the people who hope to see State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney enter the senatorship race.

Only two names appear on the card. First, with a square before it, is the name of Courtney. The second name, also preceded by a square, is that of Wayland Brooks, the senator whose term expires next year.

Above the names appear the words "For United States Senator," and above them a heading, "The Chicago Voters' league, 155 North Clark street."

No Such League Listed.

That address apparently is not for use—may be intended merely to give weight to the poll since the reverse side is blank, a fact leading to the conclusion that the straw vote is to be taken at street intersections, at movie theaters, and similar places where votes would be easily obtained.

Inquiry at 155 North Clark street, the Ashland building, drew a blank and no such organization as the Chicago Voters' league is listed in the telephone book, two reasons for believing there is no such organization and, for that reason, that the poll is to be taken secretly for the guidance of some one deeply interested in the senatorship or attracted toward it.

If the test is to be made in the interests of State's Attorney Courtney the fact that it is planned is the most definite indication so far apparent that he has his eye on the Democratic nomination next April with the expectation of running against Sen. Brooks in November.

Silent on Reports.

The prosecutor has steadfastly refused to confirm or deny reports that he is seriously considering a formal announcement early in January, but the evidence of the straw vote cards was generally accepted as confirming other circumstantial evidence pointing in the same direction.

At about the same time the printed cards were discovered, it also was learned that there is an increasing opinion among lesser Democrats that Courtney should agree to resign from the state's attorneyship if he is nominated for senator.

It was argued that a refusal by Courtney to resign and his retention of his present office during the election campaign would weaken his candidacy and would be used against him. His opposition, the minor Democratic prophets declared, would label it as proof that he did not expect to win the senatorship. Similarly it was contended that his resignation would be construed by the voters as a demonstration of his own confidence that he would win.

Act of 1935 Cited.

A special act governing the situation created by the resignation of a state's attorney was passed by the general assembly in 1935. It differs from many statutes governing the filling of vacancies of more than one year in that it provides that upon the written request of a majority of the Circuit judges the county board shall appoint "some competent attorney" to perform the duties of the prosecutor until a new state's attorney is elected.

In this instance, the lawyers say, the acting state's attorney would serve from the time of his appointment until 1944 when the next county election is scheduled. A majority of the Circuit judges are Democrats and the Democrats control the county board.

TWO PILOTS, ONE CADET, KILLED IN PLANE CRASHES

Macon, Ga., Dec. 26 (AP).—A Cochran field training plane crashed, exploded, and burned today, killing its two occupants. Lieut. P. S. Walke, public relations officer, said the dead were Lieut. John E. Loehrke, 26 years old, Mayfield, Wis., and RAF Cadet John K. Briers of Derby, England. A farmer who saw the crash, about 13 miles from the field, said the plane's motor "began to cut up" at about 1,000 feet altitude and that it dived to earth.

Plane Hits Mountain Top.

Blain, Pa., Dec. 26 (AP).—An army plane crashed and burned today atop Conococheague mountain, killing the pilot. The body was at the controls when searchers found the wreckage. State police said a watch on the body carried the name William Luetzow. Officials at Middletown army air depot, 40 miles from the scene of the crash, said Lieut. William E. Luetzow of Milwaukee, Wis., was missing on a flight.

HOLIDAY OVER, HUNDREDS TRY TO VOLUNTEER

Hundreds of young men who had waited until after Christmas to volunteer for the fighting forces kept Chicago recruiting offices working at top speed yesterday. The army enlistment depot at 460 South State street accepted 100 men and at least 500 others applied.

The navy recruiting office in the United States courthouse swore in more than 100 men and 300 others filed applications.

$2.09 Sticker Good to July 1.

New federal revenue stamps for automobiles will be ready for distribution next month, the Chicago Motor club was informed yesterday. The first stamp for the period from Feb. 1 until July 1 will be sold to motorists for $2.09. Thereafter a new stamp costing $5 must be purchased each year on July 1.

The stamps, about the size and shape of postage stamps, will be sold in post offices and in the offices of collectors of internal revenue. They are designed to be fixed to the dashboard or elsewhere in the interior of the automobile.

Checkup by Revenue Dept.

After buying a stamp the motorist fills out a form and mails it to the bureau of internal revenue where his name is checked against a list of motor car owners.

Those who fail to buy the stamps and fill out the forms are subject to a maximum penalty of $25 fine and 30 days in jail. Violators will be arrested by federal officers and tried in the federal District court. There are about 625,000 motorists in Chicago and about 1,925,000 in the state who will be affected by the law.

Objections to the Tax.

Altho the tax is new there already have been efforts to repeal it. A bill nullifying it is pending in the house of representatives. It is supported both by the Chicago Motor club and the American Automobile association.

The chief defect of the tax law, said Charles M. Hayes, Chicago Motor club president, is that it is inefficient in both its system of collection and enforcement. A large part of the tax will be consumed by th unwieldly system of selling stamps to enormous numbers of motorists, Hayes said, and the federal court dockets probably will be jammed with petty violation cases.

RETREAD BOOM EXPECTED THRU TIRE SALE BAN

Gives Car Owner 80% of Original Wear.

New rules on rubber conservation, which prohibit the purchase of new tires by the vast majority of owners of passenger cars, are expected to give an added volume of business to the recapping industry, composed of firms which put new treads on old tires.

Prices for the service have not been stabilized and have advanced rather sharply in the last three months. A representative of one north side company said recapping an average passenger car tire might cost about $7.50 per tire—or $1.50 to $2 more than last summer.

Material Price Doubtful.

"That's a guess, now," he added. "We don't know how high the price of camelback [recapping rubber] is going, or how much of a supply of it we can get. But our firm will guarantee a job to last 80 per cent of the life of the original tire and that's a break for the owner even if he could buy new tires at recent prices."

Retreading and recapping attain the same ends. Retreading was a process under which the rebuilder stripped off the old tread down to the carcass and put on a new tread. It was said this system virtually has been abandoned for recapping, in which the worn tread rubber is buffed down to an even, rough surface and a new tread is applied. This saves rubber.

Retail Business Once Small.

Some of the recappers have in the past bought worn tires and refinished them, selling them as "rebuilt tires." Some large firms have found most of their service purchased by owners of truck fleets. The retail business with car owners has been small, but is reported on the increase—up, by estimate, at least 60 per cent since the first order barring tire sales temporarily was issued.

Hugh Johnson, an official of the Chicago Motor club, said great reductions in rubber use were inevitable for a long time.

At the offices of the Yellow Cab company, officials said the ban on cab tires was a "shock," and they would need further study to determine how to keep their vehicles running.

[The United States may possibly become a self-sufficient rubber producer by 1943. Details on page 21.]

Judge Caplan Reassigned to Hear Gambling Cases

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffer of the Municipal court announced yesterday that Judge Oscar Caplan would remain in the Racket court because of the good work Judge Caplan had done in handling gambling cases. Judge Caplan's reassignment also was urged by Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, who commended the judge for coöperating with the state's attorney and the grand jury now investigating gambling.

A BIG 'BUYER' MAKES USE OF A BIG BUILDUP

Finds It's Simple to Get Check Cashed.

It was just two months ago that Joseph Levy, urbane, banjo eyed, and smartly dressed, arrived in Chicago and visited the mayor's office. Mr. Levy was calling himself David Lehman then. His real name is somewhat tarnished because under it he has spent about 28 of his 44 years in various reformatories and prisons for passing worthless checks.

Joseph Levy, alias David Lehman.

As David Lehman he said he was an agent for the highway maintenance division of Washington state and had come here to buy vast stores of socks and bedding for convict road workers. He told one of the mayor's secretaries he hoped the mayor could advise him where to buy.

Goes to Barnet Hodes.

Mayor Kelly does not deal with strangers. The visitor next sought Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel. Hodes was reluctant to interest himself in a stranger's affairs, and he telephoned Col. A. A. Sprague, who was doing the buying for Chicago's Own Christmas benefit. Sprague is receiver of the Rapid Transit [elevated] Lines and formerly was commissioner of public works.

Col. Sprague immediately acted in the stranger's behalf and telephoned F. H. Scott at the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. wholesale house, 366 West Adams street. He told Scott that he had a customer for him, and that Mr. Lehman would be right over.

Lehman outlined Washington's need for socks and bedding and, deprecatingly, outlined his own need of having a $100 check cashed. Since his customer had been sent by Col. Sprague, Scott had his secretary, Miss Helene Ernst, count out $100.

Check Bounces Back.

On Oct. 30 the check returned, marked "no account." Mr. Lehman was seen no more until last night when Miss Ernst glimpsed him in the lobby of a downtown hotel. After house detectives arrested him, Lehman admitted all.

"Col. Sprague must have given me a fine buildup," he said at the detective bureau. "It was very simple."

"That is very interesting," said Col. Sprague.

Mr. D. F. McMahon, Manager

The Chicago Tribune
Chicago, Illinois

Dear Mr. McMahon:

In March of 1940 we decided to introduce O-G Elevators -- a new type of men's shoe that adds almost two inches to a man's height.

We are probably the best known name in men's shoes in Chicago, thanks to decades of Tribune advertising. But in this case we started from scratch, with a limited advertising budget, to tell Chicagoans about a new and highly specialized line of men's shoes.

On March 10, 1940 we ran our first small advertisement featuring Elevator shoes for men at $12.95 a pair. Since then we have run 52 small one-column ads ranging from 38 lines to 105 lines in the Sunday Tribune during all but the slowest months.

Results have been typical of Tribune pulling power. This modest appropriation, hardly more than $1500 a year, but expended for exclusive, consistent Tribune advertising, has built for us in the short space of a year and a half a $50,000 annual volume in men's Elevator shoes.

I think this is interesting because it proves that small space does a big job in your paper. Of course we were confident it would, because in our experience we have successfully used every size in the Tribune from small one column ads to full pages in color. And regardless of the size of the ad or the type of appeal (popular price or expensive, high styles or conservative, men's shoes or women's shoes), the Tribune always does a "bang-up" job.

Very truly yours,
O'CONNOR & GOLDBERG

How small space exclusively in the Tribune did a big job for O'CONNOR & GOLDBERG

FROM scratch to a $50,000.00 annual volume in a year and a half — that's O'Connor & Goldberg's record with O-G Elevators, $12.95 shoes which add two inches to a man's height.

Here is a case history of particular interest to every advertiser with a highly selective selling job to do. It is another clear-cut demonstration that no matter what you sell . . . or to whom you sell . . . you can sell more at lower cost by building your advertising program around the Tribune.

This is a fact known to O-G for more than twenty years. Since 1919, to sell shoes to women and to men, O'Connor & Goldberg has placed in the Tribune more of its advertising linage than in any other Chicago newspaper. During the first eleven months of this year, O-G placed in the Tribune 60% of its total linage in all Chicago newspapers. This was three times as much as any other Chicago newspaper received.

When you can have more, why take less? With more than 1,000,000 total net paid, every day of the week, the Tribune reaches hundreds of thousands more readers than other Chicago newspapers. Ask a Tribune representative to help you plan a program built around the Tribune which can help you get the volume you need and want during the months ahead.

Shown here in slightly reduced size are some of the small advertisements which, appearing exclusively in the Sunday Tribune, helped O-G to build a $50,000.00 annual volume in O-G Elevator shoes for men.

"Justice Deferred"

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1941: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Waugh returns to Santa Rita, 20 years after he has seen his father ambushed and murdered, determined to bring the murderers to justice. He rescues Mary Lane from a holdup and possible kidnaping and finds she is the stepdaughter of Corbett Carey, friend of his father. With Corbett's son, Carl, Jack visits Jim Fallon, who was the first to arrive on the scene of the Waugh murder. Jim has been working at the Clinton ranch since the murder. Before Jack can question Jim, Tracy, foreman at the Clinton ranch, arrives, starts a fight, and is given a terrific beating by Jack. Jim, under Jack's protection, tells him he was sure old Ab Clinton instigated the murder as he saw Tracy and Ab's son, Brad, leave the scene of the murder just as he arrived. Old Ab still owns controling interest in the ranch, but Brad runs it and is as unscrupulous as his father. But two of Ab's sons are well thought of and are prominent bankers, and Abner Clint, his grandson, is Mary Lane's suitor. Jack learns that old Ab robbed his father of his money bags, after the murder and bought the Waugh ranch with the stolen money. When Jack meets Ike Parker and Clem Peake, two more of Clinton's hired men, he recognizes them as Mary's holdup men and notifies young Abner, who, investigating, finds it true. Abner talks to his grandfather, who assures him the men will be arrested, but instead old Ab offers Parker $500 to get rid of Jack. Parker, Peake, and Tracy lie in ambush for Jack, who has telephoned the sheriff to arrest the holdup men at the Clinton ranch. The men in ambush attack the wrong man and Jack arrives just in time to save the man's life and capture Parker, Peake, and Tracy. He takes them to the awaiting sheriff at the Clinton ranch, but the sheriff refuses to arrest Tracy as he claims he has no proof they attacked Jack. He does arrest Parker and Peake for Mary's holdup, but en route to town Brad and Tracy hold up the sheriff and allow the captives to escape to a hideout in the mountains. In the meantime, Paul Dillon, a small boy, is lost in the mountains and a posse, including Jack, sets out in search of the lost boy. Jack walks into a pocket and is captured by Parker and Peake, but before they kill him, young Abner, who has just found Paul, stumbles into their hideout and rescues Jack by promising not to notify the sheriff of the hideout until they have time to escape. In a drunken rampage, Tracy catches Jack at a disadvantage and Jack is forced to shoot him in self-defense. Jack, who is in love with Mary, realizes the killing has put a barrier between them. Corbett stands Jack's bail. Brad visits the hideout and finds that Parker and Peake are still hanging around.

INSTALMENT XLII.

TRUCE OFFER.

Brad ignored Parker's ironic advice. "There was yore dear friend Shorty, who ain't afraid of anything but a bellyache, by Ike's way of it, an innocent bystander while Waugh was stopping Tracy's clock.

"He was too busy hunting cover back of a counter to pump a bullet into Waugh's back. Claimed he didn't have a gun with him, anyhow." In Brad's voice was a biting derision that by implication extended to his listeners.

"Probably he didn't," Parker defended. "Usually he doesn't tote his .45."

"Now that smart nephew of mine has got the old man to quit war on Waugh in the hope he'll be satisfied to lay off us, having sent Tracy west. I expect he is right to throw up his hands, seeing how the Texan made all you lads crawl off with yore tails between your legs."

"If you are just being a sorehead, Brad, that's all right with me," Parker told the A C boss. "Keep on yapping. But if you are hinting for us to settle this Texan's hash for you, I would say forget it. The old man reneged when I made a bargain with him. Young Abner butted in when we had Waugh dead to rights. I wouldn't care to deal with the family any more. Anyhow, we're beating it outa the country like you been urging us to do. Of course, there won't be a dry eye among the Clintons when we go, but the best of friends must part."

"He sure is, when he has never done anything in his life for anybody but himself," Ike countered.

"All right. All right. Play yore own hand. But get outa here."

Brad dragged himself to the saddle and rode away.

As soon as he had gone the outlaws packed and saddled. From the park they passed into a gulch that dropped fast to a huddle of hills below. Among these the riders wound, working always down to the shining plain below. In the distance they could make out the water tank at a railroad station.

"La Veta," Peake said.

"There used to be a train about 5 o'clock," his companion mused. "We ought to be in time for it."

"Do we pull off the job tomorrow?"

"We'll have to talk that over with Shorty. He has looked the ground over."

"Before I move a step I want to be sure he has picked a good hideout for us."

"We won't lift a hand till we are sure the whole thing is fool-proof," Parker promised.

Mary's warm, husky voice came over the telephone. "Mr. Corbett Carey's secretary talking," she said. "He has some important business to talk over with you, Mr. Waugh, a new development that has just come up. He would like you to come to dinner this evening if possible. Strictly informal. Nobody present except you and him—and, of course, his secretary."

The sound of her gay voice stirred in Waugh an odd breathless excitement. He sparred for time.

"I thought you were going back to the ranch yesterday," he temporized.

"I was, but I changed my mind and went to a swimming party." She hurried on, to anticipate a possible refusal of the invitation. "Father really wants to see you about—an offer from the enemy. If you can't come he will have to arrange a meeting with you at the hotel as soon as possible."

Jack thought it would be ungracious not to accept and as soon as he had done so was aware of a warm glow of exultation in his blood. He was going to see her again, to sit near her at table. Perhaps he might walk beside her in the garden, breathing with her the fragrant blossoms of the velvet night. It occurred to him, in self-derision, that renunciations were not so hard if not too final.

Carey came at once to what was in his mind. Ed Clinton had been to see him. The president of the First National bank was very anxious to arrange a truce before any more blood was shed. He wanted Corbett to fix a time and place for a meeting with Waugh at which the whole difficulty between them could be threshed out.

"So Uncle Ed is in it now," Jack said, smiling at Mary.

She laughed. "I know what you think, and it is true. Abner stirred up his grandfather to get Mr. Edward Clinton to take a hand. He saw the district attorney and got him to accept bond for your appearance."

"Very kind of the president of the First National to interest himself in my behalf," Jack drawled dryly. "And by the way, who stirred up Abner to be so active?"

A faint flush beat into the girl's face. "He didn't need any prodding," she answered defensively. "You ought to know that he has been trying to stop this trouble from the first."

"Are you willing to meet Ed Clinton?" Carey asked.

"Yes. I'll meet him. But he does not need any truce to stop the killing. All that is necessary is for his friends to quit trying to murder me."

"Yes, but——"

Jack looked at the girl. "Go on. You started to say that I ought to meet them half way."

"At least some of the way, don't you think?"

"I expect to turn what evidence I have collected over to the district attorney. A fine public spirited citizen like Ed Clinton would surely not ask me to conceal evidence of a murder in my possession."

"Do you think you have evidence enough to convict?" Mary asked.

He considered that, an eyebrow lifted skeptically. "Not with the Clintons all active and busy."

"You mean they will see that justice isn't done?"

"What do you think?"

She did not answer that, but asked another question. "Given a fair trial with an unprejudiced jury, do you think the verdict would be guilty?"

"On the evidence I have collected?"

"Yes."

"Afraid not. A good lawyer could make it look like a grudge case."

"Then why go on with it?"

"I have collected enough testimony to justify a trial. There are other punishments than going to the penitentiary. If this case comes into the courts, the fair-minded people of this state will know that the Clintons murdered my father and robbed my mother."

"And who will be punished?" Mary asked quietly. "Not old Abner and Brad, the ones who are guilty. They won't care a rap if they escape the law. Those who suffer will be the families of John and Edward, who had nothing to do with the wrongs to your parents and to you. Of course, young Abner will be shamed, too."

She did not mention that Abner had saved his life, but both of them thought of it.

"I'll listen to their proposition," Waugh said, to Carey. "If you will be present as a witness. I don't want any distorted story of what is said to be circulated afterward."

The old cattleman agreed to that.

After dinner Carey excused himself to write a letter and the young people wandered into the coolness of the garden.

"Any Dutch or Germans among your ancestors?" Mary asked, slanting at Jack a glance of mock derision.

"My grandfather was Dutch, but he was a singularly gentle soul. No stubbornness about him."

"Then we can't lay it to the Dutch in you, can we?"

"Maybe I'm just ornery.

"If we are going into the vernacular, I think 'sot' is the word."

"I grew up the hard way," he explained. "Several years in the saddle before I was 18, two in the army, three at hard rock mining in Nevada and Colorado, another six months in Brazil with an engineering outfit, and the rest of the time ranching. I suppose I am what you might call a tough nut.

REFUSES TO SEAT NEGRO NAMED TO BENCH BY GREEN

Scheffler Cites Opinion Action Is Illegal.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of the Chicago Municipal court refused yesterday to recognize Gov. Green's appointment of Patrick B. Prescott Jr., well known Negro attorney, as an associate judge of that court.

The action was based on a legal opinion written by Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, president of Mayor Kelly's public library board, to whom the chief justice went for advice. The opinion held that the vacancy to which the governor sought to appoint was for more than one year and that, for that reason, the governor was without authority.

Says Scheffler Exceeds Power.

Attorney Prescott immediately announced that he will begin mandamus proceedings to compel recognition of the governor's commission. He also emphatically contended that Chief Justice Scheffler had no authority to go behind that commission.

On Dec. 10 Gov. Green announced the appointment of Prescott to the seat of associate judge formerly held by Scheffler, who was elected chief justice on Nov. 4. The governor had withheld acceptance of Scheffler's resignation until the date of the appointment, a fact that, it was contended, reduced the vacancy term to less than one year and thereby brought it within the governor's appointing power under the state constitution.

In a statement announcing his decision, Chief Justice Scheffler said it was necessary for him to inquire into the legality of the appointment so that the administration of justice might not be impaired.

Cites Peril to Justice.

"The assignment by me of one whose appointment as a judge is subject to serious question might lead to great uncertainty and confusion in the administration of justice in this court," read the statement. "Judgments rendered by such an individual acting as a judge might be unenforceable. Lawyers would hesitate and even refuse to try their cases before him.

"I have come to the conclusion that I have no alternative but to refuse to assign Attorney Prescott as a judge of the Municipal court of Chicago."

The nub of the opinion by Attorney Fleming, one of the mainstays of the Democratic organization in such legal matters, was that the Scheffler seat as associate judge was vacated automatically when Scheffler was elected chief justice, an "incompatible" office, on Nov. 4 and that therefore the vacancy was created on Nov. 5.

Says Election Made Vacancy.

Facts set forth in the opinion were that Scheffler submitted his resignation to Gov. Green "as of Nov. 5" and that his name was certified to the Municipal court pay roll as chief justice on the same date and that his commission as chief justice from the governor was dated Nov. 18, all prior to Dec. 10, when the governor accepted the resignation.

"Your resignation was effected by operation of law," read the opinion. "No acceptance by Gov. Green of any written resignation was necessary."

"Mr. Fleming, an able lawyer," said Attorney Prescott, "was not asked to say whether Judge Scheffler had the power to pass upon my commission. That commission certifies on its face that Judge Scheffler resigned Dec. 10, 1941. The commission runs to Dec. 7, 1942. The only lawful procedure is to seat me and make a test by quo warranto."

CHICAGO NEGRO ASKS RECEIVER IN ESTATE CASE

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 26 [Special].—A petition was filed in United States District court today on behalf of a Chicago Negro, Mitchell Knighten, 54 years old, asking that a receiver be appointed to conserve $7,413,286 in cash plus oil producing properties to which Knighten declares he is entitled.

Knighten, who lives at 4232 Calumet avenue, Chicago, is represented by Attorney George C. Adams and Investigator Sheridan Bruseaux. He contends that he was the husband and rightful heir of the late Lete Kolvin, a Creek Indian. In October, Federal Judge C. O. Beavers ruled that the Sinclair and Minnehoma oil companies must pay the cash and turn over the oil lands to Lete Kolvin's heirs, whom the court found to be her half sister and two nephews of her supposed husband, now dead.

Bruseaux said he has discovered evidence that the Lete Kolvin named by the court was a Negro and not the Creek Indian entitled to the fortune. Bruseaux said that his client's wife, who died in 1916, was actually the Lete Kolvin who was an Indian.

SENATOR URGES U. S. LOTTERY AS INFLATION CURB

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—A national lottery, sponsored by the treasury and designed to curb inflation, was proposed in legislation introduced today by Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.].

According to the bill first prize in the drawing might be as much as a million dollars, with second and third prizes not to exceed $500,000 and $250,000, respectively. Other awards would range to $100. The treasury would issue certificates with coupons attached, at $1.10 each. The main part of the certificate would be redeemable at any time for $1, or could be redeemed in defense stamps. The coupon, representing 10 cents of the total purchase price, would bear a number and be used as a stub for the drawing. Drawings would be monthly.

Thomas said the measure would end illegitimate slot machines and numbers rackets in addition to providing revenue.

MAIL REFLECTS INCREASE HERE IN HOLIDAY GIVING

Chicagoans, their friends, and relatives exchanged more Christmas presents and greeting cards this year than during the 1940 holiday season, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen announced yesterday. Postal receipts, during the period from Dec. 1 thru Wednesday, showed a 5.6 per cent increase from $5,838,600 a year ago to $6,148,030 this year.

Following is the tabulation of mail by classification:

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

What do you consider the most pleasant sound you have ever heard?

WHERE ASKED.

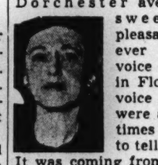
THE ANSWERS.



Mrs. M. L. Mendel, housewife, 5234 Dorchester avenue—One of the sweetest and most pleasant sounds I've ever heard was the voice of a street singer in Florence, Italy. His voice and the violin were a perfect duet. At times it was even hard to tell which was which. It was coming from quite a distance below and that improved it.

L. A. Christensen, ticket agent, 2422 North California avenue—A few years ago I took a trip to Mexico. Early one morning I was aroused from my slumbers by the chimes of all the neighborhood churches. They made a beautiful chorus. I wouldn't mind at all if I could hear it every morning.

Jean Christoffel, student, 2511 Eastwood avenue—I have a Latin class every day that lasts 40 minutes. I don't like Latin. I can't think of anything more pleasant than to hear the dismissal bell ring at the end of class. At the end of any other class it's nothing unusual but mighty pleasant when it's Latin.

Mrs. LeRoy Lindgren, advertising, 1658 Juneway terrace—At this time of the year when there's lots of shopping to be done nothing sounds so sweet to my ears as the jingling of a little loose cash in my pocket. And, if it lasts until after Christmas it's almost more than I can bear.

Raymond Kane, museum attendant, 510 Deming place—There's no sound as pleasant to me as rain falling on a roof top. If it's a tin roof it's amplified so it sounds all the better. There is nothing quite like it if I'm having a hard time to get to sleep. The soft natural rhythm is music to my ears.

Ruth A. Carr, clerk, 7716 Cornell avenue—A warm moonlight night in June and a comfortable spot on the beach at Waikiki probably added lots to the pleasant sound of the ocean waves rolling in. It sounded just as soft as the sound reverberations in a large seashell. The sound of the ocean waves was the most pleasant and soothing of any I know.

LIEUTENANT AND POLICEMAN FACE TRIAL BY BOARD

Lieut. Anthony McDonough of the Cragin police station was suspended yesterday by Commissioner Allman, who ordered charges of conduct unbecoming an officer filed against McDonough and Policeman Edward Sexton of the West North Avenue station.

Sexton was suspended Dec. 2 after he shot and wounded Eugene Dean, alias John Johnson, 21 years old, 1941 Wilmot avenue, who was released last May from the Davenport, Ia., reformatory, where he served a term for grand larceny. The shooting took place in the Humboldt Park hotel, 2623 North avenue. Witnesses said Dean registered under the name of Johnson, and that he and Sexton entered the hotel and went to Dean's room shortly before the shooting.

Sexton said he recognized Dean on the street, followed him to the hotel, and shot him when he tried to escape. Commissioner Allman said Lieut. McDonough was ordered to investigate the case and failed to make a proper investigation.

Anti-Sabotage Plans Studied for U. S. Buildings

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen met with other government officials yesterday to draw plans for prevention of sabotage in buildings under his jurisdiction. The plans were not made public. Among the buildings involved are the United States courthouse, the postoffice, the customs building, garages, and repair shops for postoffice vehicles and the postal substations.

CONSIDER WIRE TAPPING CHARGE AGAINST BOOKIES

When the grand jury investigating gambling resumes work Monday the state's attorney's office may seek indictments for conspiracy to tap telephone wires, it was reported yesterday. If this action is taken, it would be the result of evidence uncovered in raids on so-called nerve centers of the gambling syndicate.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, would not comment on the reports. Yesterday his staff was studying the records seized in gambling raids. Police Commissioner Allman is scheduled to reappear before the jury Monday or Tuesday.

One of the nerve centers raided was at 51 East Chicago avenue where detectives seized Lawrence [Dago] Mangano, an old time public enemy, now said to be a business manager for the Guzik gambling ring. Another so-called "center" was uncovered in the building at 624 South Michigan avenue, said to be a clearing house for receiving and relaying race track information and for the acceptance of bets over telephone and teletype.

RECALL IROQUOIS FIRE DISASTER IN SERVICE TUESDAY

The 38th anniversary of the Iroquois theater fire will be observed Tuesday at 3 p .m. in the city hall council chambers. The fire, on Dec. 30, 1903, took 570 lives.

Among those participating in the memorial program will be Mrs. Edward J. Buchan, the former Annabelle Whitford, who was leader of the ballet performing on the theater stage when the fire started, and Frank Holland, another member of the cast. Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, one of the group of firemen first to answer the call to the theater, also will be present.

Alice Burns, who was in the audience at the time of the fire, and the Sears-Roebuck chorus of 30 voices will sing.

Check Divorce Records Against Draftees' Claims

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—Draft boards here today requested Circuit Clerk Paul Wilson to compile a list of all divorces granted in 1941 to check with 3A draft deferment lists. Board chairmen feel many men have failed to notify boards that they have obtained divorces, making them eligible for army service.

—Stephen Decatur.

THE PHILIPPINE WAR.

The lack of modern weapons in the Philippines is only one of the explanations for the inability of our forces to prevent the Japanese landings. We lack numbers, also. Even if our army had all the planes, tanks, and up-to-date shooting irons that could be used, there would still be too few soldiers available to guard all the threatened points.

Islands, it used to be said, can be taken by whatever power controls the sea. That theorem of war still holds true if recognition is given to the fact that control of the sea is possible only where control of the air is maintained. When England's navy was all-powerful, Britain demonstrated on many occasions that she could take any island she wanted. The Japanese used their sea power—reinforced by air power—to take Wake Island the other day. They can hold it until they lose control of the sea and air in the Wake region.

So far as the Philippines are concerned, the best strategical minds in our army have long recognized the extraordinary difficulty of defending these outposts, located as they are in waters which the Japanese fleet and air force dominate. The army was inclined to regard the Philippines as a liability and was not displeased at the decision to grant the Filipinos their independence.

There were, and perhaps still are, two schools of thought in the navy. One recognized the great difficulty of fighting a major naval battle on the other side of the Pacific and accordingly agreed with the army's judgment. The other school, placed in command by the present administration, believed our battle fleet could best the Japanese navy in its own waters. Many of our admirals have publicly indorsed this view. Only two months ago, for example, Rear Adm. Bemis, commandant of the 16th naval district in the Philippines, returned to San Francisco to say that "we in the Philippines are just waiting for the whistle to blow. We are all ready."

That was the view of the dominant faction of the navy. It becomes plainer every day that the judgment was ill-founded. The Japanese succeeded in doing great damage to our fleet in Pearl Harbor. It is reasonable to assume that the enemy's planes could have done even greater damage had our fleet approached the western side of the Pacific where it could have been attacked by land-based planes as well as carrier planes. The Japanese understood the principles of modern war. We have had to learn them the hard way.

Even if we lose the Philippines, we shall not lose the war. With an overwhelming air force, based on ships, we can move progressively across the Pacific. We can build planes much faster than the Japanese can and we have fast merchant ships which can readily be converted into airplane carriers. We can advance from island to island as on stepping stones. We shall have to acquire skill in landing operations but with time the job can be accomplished. It will take a great deal longer if the stonehead school which didn't believe in the power of the air arm and is responsible for the Pearl Harbor defeat regains the control.

BOWLS AND BOMBERS.

The Rose bowl game is moving from Pasadena to Durham, N. C. The East-West All-Star football game, usually played in San Francisco, will be contested in New Orleans. Santa Anita race track will not open and the horse owners may find, after all these years, that there is something to this talk of improving the breed of cavalry remounts. Plans are under way to prohibit any public gathering of more than 10,000 persons on the Pacific coast.

The bombing of a great crowd at the Rose bowl or the Santa Anita track would be a national tragedy and the precautions taken seem wise. But such an event would be a minor tragedy contrasted to an attack in the same force on any one of the big airplane plants that lie a few miles back of the ocean from San Diego to Seattle.

Some of these plants have as many men and women working in them as visit Santa Anita on a normal day—far more than the maximum of 10,000 proposed for public gatherings. Losses in such an attack would be irreplaceable—the skills of some of the finest mechanics in the country, machine tools that it has taken years to make, six months to a year's production of the weapons that we need most of all. If civilian gatherings are unsafe on the Pacific coast, that area is no place for the vital airplane industry.

As THE TRIBUNE pointed out a few days ago, techniques have been developed for moving large industries with remarkably small loss of production. No time should be lost in constructing substitute plants in the industrial citadel of America—the Mississippi valley. When the buildings are finished the machinery and working force can be transferred to them almost overnight.

The job of transferring the airplane plants to safe locations will be greatly simplified if the substitute plants are located near large cities where housing facilities are already available for the working force.

MANILA AN OPEN CITY.

To the open door and the open shop, the common man has now added another open—the open city. The designation of Manila as an open city by proclamation of Gen. MacArthur should mean that the city in which a large part of the wealth and industry of the Philippine Islands lie will be spared the fate of Warsaw and Rotterdam.

In the last war the immunity of open cities was not recognized by the kaiser's armies. The Carnegie Endowment after the war published a list of instances of deliberate bombardment of undefended places by the Germans.

One of the so-called rules of war is that the force applied must not go beyond what is necessary in attaining an objective. Open or undefended cities are given a special status. In the regulations annexed to the Hague convention of 1907 respecting the laws and customs of war on land it was provided that towns, villages, dwellings, or buildings which are undefended must be spared bombardment. Prof. Charles Cheney Hyde in his treatise on international law points out that a town does not necessarily cease to be defended because it lacks fortifications, and that conversely an unfortified place possessing a military force or a population rising in armed resistance must be regarded as defended. When any means are taken to prevent an enemy from occupying it, a place cannot be considered undefended. "The price of immunity to bombardment is that the place shall be left open for the enemy to enter."

It is hard to believe that Japan will refuse to pay attention to Gen. MacArthur's proclamation. For Japan is no doubt confident that it will win the war and become the dictator of Asia and all adjacent islands. A victorious Japan cannot use what it has reduced to ashes and rubble. It was sheer self-interest which led Hitler to recognize Paris as an open city and to spare Athens.

THE FREE FRENCH LAND IN AMERICA.

The seizure of the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland, by naval forces of the De Gaullist Free French government presents a complication and brings a protest from the American state department. The Free French have been fighting with the British ever since the collapse of France and supposedly they are a part of the allied effort which Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill are endeavoring in Washington to bring into full coordination and coöperation.

Until there have been further explanations it does not seem understandable that the Free French should have taken a step on this continent without consultation with the American and Canadian authorities and without their consent. Our state department says the landing upset the agreement which was to maintain conditions unchanged in the French possessions over here.

In itself, it could hardly be a matter of great concern that French allies should have assumed responsibility for these small North Atlantic possessions. The inhabitants were not offended. They seemed glad to join hands with Frenchmen who are still fighting the Nazis. When the French lost Canada to the British they were given the small compensation of retaining under the French flag the two islands as fishing bases, and this anomalous situation, like others presented by vestigial survivals of European empire in the western hemisphere, remains to this day.

It was one of the least important anomalies and so long as more serious ones remained it seemed inconsequential to do anything about the tiniest one. However, we found when the war broke out that the policy of undertaking peaceably to acquire necessary outposts had been the proper one. The present arrangement, which combines British sovereignty and American military control, is a makeshift which is bound to present irritating problems in the future. They are repressed now only because of the common danger.

With regard to St. Pierre and Miquelon, the real concern of the American government is caused by the effect the seizure may have upon the relations of the shaky Vichy government with the Nazis. Petain has been under great pressure to meet all the German demands and to give Hitler access to French African bases, if not the use of the French fleet. The United States has tried to stiffen the Vichy resistance without having very much to offer as a compensation in the immediate future.

It is probably feared that what the Free French have done over here will cause the Germans to disregard all the French armistice stipulations and do as they please with the possessions and resources of the defeated country. The United States would have been glad if the Free French and the British had succeeded in their attempt to seize Dakar. But the taking of the two islands in American waters would seem to be without any point, to be useless both militarily and morally, and to be dangerously provocative.

WHERE JUSTICE LIES.

As far as the leader of a world religion could, Pope Pius XII. indicated in his Christmas message where his sympathies lie in this war. It is his personal tragedy to have taken the name Pius in the hope that his reign would pass in peace and then to have seen war come to every part of the globe. He could still hope that the peace that must come would see justice extended to all peoples. The enemies of peace and of justice were pointed out. It was not necessary to name them.

He spoke of godless and anti-Christian conceptions of the state in some countries, fettering the individual and depriving him of almost all independence. He said that ideas of force stifle and pervert the rule of law and blunt and confuse the concepts of good and evil, right and justice. These are terms that define the totalitarian states and their philosophies. The pope placed the blame for war on them.

On the same day the Roman Catholic bishops of the United States pledged the "lives, the fortunes, and the sacred honor" of 20 million American members of their church to the cause of freedom. The Catholic church thru its leader in the Vatican and its leaders in this country has said that if Christian and Catholic principles obtain in government anywhere, they reside in this republic, and that if there is to be hope for the world that is to come, this nation must make them prevail.

Editorial of the Day

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL AND BOMBS.

[Des Moines Register.]

Here is the testimony of one able American correspondent who saw the all-day attack on Pearl Harbor and watched the reactions of the people of Honolulu:

"The city of Honolulu took it like a veteran. There was no hysteria.

"The civilian defense organization went into action quickly and smoothly.

"I can testify today that Americans can take it. Here is an American city with more potential dissension in it than any on the mainland. This is an extremely mixed population of divergent antecedents. One thing all have in common is American public school training.

"I am beginning to think that the American public school is a far more powerful political force than the Hitler Youth organization. For this city, which might have been rent into angry factions, took it better than Berlin.

"Chinese, Filipinos, Japanese, Portuguese, and the older American stocks proved that they are real Americans."

The witness is Joseph C. Harsch of the Christian Science Monitor, who served a long spell in Berlin before going to the Pacific. And he is no "soft-soaper."

MR. PEPYS LIVES AND LEARNS.

27th Dec.—Must now prepare for New Year's, I suppose, which I will do by figuring out the places where I can get into the most trouble in that celebration and then avoiding them. A statesman could do no more; indeed, I recommend this policy to most leaders of nations, now and in the future.

Came thru Christmas nicely but found, after all my preparations, that I had to work as usual, altho not in my office, for Thursdays are my busiest time of the week. I celebrated, however, according to the old customs, and when it came on to rain at night, took pride in putting on my new rain pants for the first time and walking my dog in defiance of the elements. Nobody saw me, but nevertheless it was a memorable occasion.

Bestowed upon a young lady related to me a Chinese bracelet of silver filigree with ivory tablets, bearing engravings of the Eight Immortals, and it was much admired. Now, these Immortals are to the Chinese what saints are to us, and two of them are women. Have begun some studies into this subject, and am learning to recite the names of these curious characters, who are Ho Shien Ko, Lan Toy Wo, Chang Kua Lao, Tao Kua Chiu, Lin Tung Pin, Huan Chung Li, Han Siang Tze, and Teh Kuai Li. They are the patrons, respectively, of housewives, florists, magicians, actors, the sick, scholars, musicians, and the poor.

Bought this trinket in Chinatown, which is a very good little Chinatown, and while there I talked with some of the inhabitants and found them a cheerful and kindly people. Visited the building or temple of the On Leong tong, which is a guild of merchants, and found it very fine, and was told it is the finest in this country.

So it seems I combined learning with my Christmas shopping, and perhaps I should adopt Huan Chung Li, the patron saint of scholars, as my favorite Chinese Immortal. But this old gentleman is always represented with a baked stomach, which causes me to regard him with a certain degree of mockery.

THE DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS.

'Twas the day after Christmas and all thru my clothes
Not a penny was lurking to buy "dese and dose."
When lunch time arrives I just sit in my chair,
For all that I now can afford is fresh air;
And as I glance downward there catches my eye,
My own precious present, my Butterfly Tie.
The butterflies take on grotesquely life poses,
And impishly dance, with their thumbs to their noses.
Of course I received other gifts from my spouse,
But (for goodly reasons) they're left in the house.
You're right! I mean andirons, and paintings, and rugs,
The washing machine and some new bath tub plugs;
A collar for Tootsie (for my special joy);
A statue of Mozart in plastic alloy.
No, there were no golf sticks. No, none of such tripe.
No paddles for ping-pong (not even a pipe).
But what are such trifles compared to a mat,
Or a shiny new collar for our noble cat?
And when I received the new silver tea pot,
My ecstasy seethed to a point that was hot.
No, there were no poker chips (not even dice),
But my brand new bath mat is awfully nice.
But e'en with it all do my spirits run high,
For am I not wearing my Butterfly Tie?

Freedom's Victory on Christmas Night.

Christmas trees glittered behind the sleet-glazed windows of Hessian quarters in the little town of Trenton on Christmas night 165 years ago. It was warm inside; there was the good smell of tallow candles dripping on evergreen branches; there was singing and laughing and drinking of rum; it was gay indoors that Christmas night.

Outside, a dozen miles away, half-frozen men were forcing horses from the slippery shore of the Delaware onto barges; fishermen were rowing crowded boats of men and guns across the river black with the storm and white with great cakes of crashing ice. These were American soldiers, dog-tired, discouraged by defeat, half starved, their feet bare or wrapped in rags, struggling all that night in the bitter cold, in the snow and sleet and hail. "Victory or death" they said grimly to themselves. Two American soldiers froze to death that Christmas night.

It was victory the next morning at Trenton. American freedom grew from the spark that was so nearly out into the spreading fire that can never be beaten out by alien hands; the little flicker was fed and tended by the freezing hands of American soldiers in the darkness and desperation of that Christmas night.

THE CALL TO AMERICA.

In days long gone God spake unto our sires:
"Courage! Launch out! A new world build for Me."
Then to the deep they set their ships, and sailed
And came to land, and prayed that here might be
A realm from pride and despotism free,

Lo, in these days, to all good men and true
God speaks again: "Launch out upon the deep
And win for Me a world of righteousness."
Can we, at such an hour as this, still sleep?
O God of Life, inspire us by Thy light

We Are in the Army Now!

Subject: Application for promotion.

Sir: Why not make generals out of Marjorie F. W., Eolus, and Quizzicuss, they being star contributors? I do not desire to make a major nuisance out of myself, so please do not call out the captain of the guard. I have no ambition to wear a sergeant's stripes, but having 16 contributions in the 1939, 1940, and 1941 Line Books, it is my private opinion that this should entitle myself and others with similar records to a corporal's hashmarks.

I had never noticed that Western Union messengers have the company's initials embroidered on each side of their uniforms until they began employing girls. Now, whenever a sweet young thing goes by, I whisper to myself, "WU-WU!"

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

IS CHEWING PAINFUL? LOOK FOR TRENCH MOUTH.

NOW and then an individual will complain that he cannot eat in comfort. An examination may disclose tiny ulcers on the tongue or somewhere within the oral cavity. Little wonder that food cannot be relished. Every movement involved in chewing and swallowing is attended with pain.

In any case in which appetite flags, when the patient is "out of sorts," or should the breath be fetid, the possible presence of Vincent's organisms [trench mouth] should be investigated.

This ailment is contagious and may be spread thru direct contact such as kissing or via unclean china or tableware. If the sufferer is cared for in the home, complete quarantine should be observed. Separate dishes, eating utensils, etc. must be provided. The toothbrush should be burned, as it will harbor the germs.

The malady is not always accompanied by severe symptoms but, when neglected or when the infection is extensive, systemic illness may follow. As a rule, the temperature rises and the tongue is coated thickly with fur. If this organ is swollen it may show teeth imprints on the edges. Should the fever persist, unless treatment is adequate, marked tenderness may ensue.

In an acute case the gums may become sensitive rather suddenly—so much so that a drink of water may bring on distress. The flow of saliva is increased and may appear blood stained because the soft parts have become so spongy. The victim may remark that his teeth feel as tho wooden plugs had been thrust between them.

Sometimes the disorder will spread to the tonsils but more commonly it will be confined to the tissues about the front teeth. Within a few days the gums may look "punched out" and, on careful inspection, ulcers will be seen between each two incisors. The surface is usually covered with a grayish white membrane or a minute clot which, when touched, will bleed slightly.

What can be done? Bed rest is essential. Next comes attention to the diet, with large doses of vitamin C. Orange juice, lemonade, or tomato juice will suffice. Without delay the physician will advise gargling with hydrogen peroxide or sodium perborate, as the spirochetes cannot flourish in the presence of oxygen. Fortunately, arsenic is almost a specific. While we dare not neglect scrupulous attention to the mouth and teeth, nevertheless we can paint the lesions with a suitable solution of this substance.

Certainly nutrition has something to do with the onset. In epidemics within institutions, only those will be affected who are slightly below par and who have failed to practice good oral hygiene. Let a person become anemic, with fewer white cells [bacteria destroyers] than normal, and trouble may arise. Particularly susceptible are those who are accustomed to use drugs of the amidopyrine type which, in some instances, injure the leucocytes.

With the patient well on the road to recovery, a skilled dentist may complete the job. This is important because germs may lurk in the vicinity of a partially erupted molar or beneath a flap of soft tissue.

CLOSE SHAVE.

O. W. writes: I shave against the grain so that my face looks as smooth as glass. Is there any danger in this practice?

REPLY.

No, unless you actually wound the epidermis. It takes a real man, one with the bark on, to do this regularly. Not recommended.

SWEETS AND ITCHING.

H. L. L. writes: Can eating too much candy cause the skin to itch?

REPLY.

Diabetics frequently complain of severe itching. A high level of sugar in the blood may explain the symptom. You can answer your own question by an experiment. Omit sweets and see what happens.

BOMB VOYAGE!

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

FROM AN ADOPTED YANK.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Dec. 22.—Allow me to congratulate you on a truly great enterprise. Your "Adopt a Yank" program has brought a great deal of pleasure to all of the lads here. Letters and packages alike are pouring in. One guy says, "I'm adopted. Are you?" The poor fellows who haven't heard from their adoptees yet are sad lads looking for their mail.

You can measure our enjoyment, fancy words omitted: Thank you. Thanks a million.

HARD WORKING CAMP MAILMEN.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Dec. 22.—I wish to let you know what is happening down here at Camp Forrest since THE TRIBUNE inaugurated the plan of civilians adopting "Yanks." Since the Christmas rush started a week ago, the postoffice men have been working night and day, so that the men of the 33d division will get their mail for Christmas. Some of the boys start work at three in the morning, and if they can still see well enough to work they are at the job all day.

The sergeant in charge of the postoffice gave me this information concerning the amount of mail entering and leaving this camp on an average every day during the past week: 1,000 sacks of insured incoming mail has to be checked. The counter on the canceling machine for outgoing mail has been showing 30,000 to 35,000 packages and letters per day. Today the total reached a new high of 50,000. The crew that is handling this mail consists of only five regulars and three extras.

You folks back there in Chicago, and all those who have sent or received mail thru the 33d division postoffice, ought to consider the fine work that these men are doing, so that you and your friends in the army might celebrate Christmas with a heart that is overflowing with joy, because of both ends being able to meet at the proper time.

BUCK PRIVATE.

PASTORAL PICTURE.

Fish Creek, Wis., Dec. 24.—Driving thru the country this morning, I met a farmer boy in well worn overalls, cap pulled down over his ears, and a double bitted ax over his shoulder. He was walking along the road accompanied by a nondescript shaggy dog, wagging his ridiculous tail in the most enthusiastic manner.

The happy expression on the boy's face showed that he was on his way to cut the Christmas tree for the family. Seeing this charming picture set me to wondering whether youngsters in the rest of this distracted world manage to find some innocent fun or whether we are the only country left where that is possible.

KURT STOCK.

NOT EVEN DRUNK.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—This afternoon, Christmas eve, I had occasion to walk into the office of Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the Municipal court, and was inspired by the sight that caught my eye. During the lull in business the clerks got together and sang Christmas carols and other songs. There were beautiful voices among these men and the nice part of it was that none of them had been drinking. It would be a grand thing if other offices took this as a pattern on Christmas eve, instead of carousing.

MORE ON NURSES' CAPS.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 23.—In answer to Nurse Barrett's comment on Volunteer Nurses' aids wearing caps similar to registered nurses, I understood that a nurse on the Civilian Defense board designed our uniform and cap. We study for more than six weeks and must work a probation period to earn our cap. In times like these it seems of small consequence what uniform we wear as long as our services are the best that we have to give.

Volunteer Nurses' aids never ask for any credit for the work they are doing. They give the leisure time to study and work in helping nurses in hospitals and clinics who need their help. We are proud of the little we can do, and are justly proud of the honor done us in letting us wear a uniform and cap. We prize our uniform as much as any nurse can hers, as we, too, put in honest, hard work to get them.

I sincerely hope there are other nurses who understand more of the Volunteer Nurses' aids and are with us, even to wearing the cap I feel we have earned.

WANTS AMERICA FIRST CONTINUED.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Dec. 23.—I don't like to see the America First organization disband. It's too late to keep us out of war, but they could work against un-American movements, such as "Union Now," which I hear talked of again. We need the America First committee, and I'd be glad to pay yearly dues to keep it in force. We must remember a lot of things at the next election that are forgotten for the moment. MRS. H. C. B.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An estate is to be settled in Ohio.

1. I have been advised that the executor cannot sell the property in order to close the estate without receiving an order from the court, and, as far as he is concerned, it is closed.
2. Why is an executor appointed?
3. I thought he was supposed to sell the property, etc.
4. Also believed he was to divide equally between the heirs. We are four heirs, according to the will.
5. It seems strange that all the executor should do is to pay the bills as we could do that ourselves.
6. An attorney handled the other matter.

A. M.

1. In general, the powers of an executor depend on the wording of the will. We see no reason to question the advice that you have received.
2. Some of the purposes are to establish who is entitled to the assets, to pay the debts, to present an accounting, and to distribute.
3. There is no such general rule.
4. The heirs can inherit in undivided shares.
5. Where real estate is involved, it is ordinarily advisable to probate the estate in order to satisfy subsequent purchasers as to the validity of the will, the payment of debts, etc.
6. He is in a better position to advise you than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GIFT OF PROPERTY.

Chicago, Dec. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own several lots in Michigan. I have no living relatives.

1. I gave the deeds to a friend [man and wife] to keep and [2] said the lots would belong to them when I passed away.
3. An acquaintance told me they have changed it in their names. This was just a verbal statement.
4. Can they change this without my signature?
5. What is the best method for me to take to protect my safety in the ownership of these lots?

K. W.

1. Placing in their hands deed that name you as grantee would not be enough to pass the title to them.
2. Do you mean that you were going to make a will in their favor?
3. We do not see how they could have done this on the bare facts that you state.
4. No.
5. The first step is to ascertain the facts by examining the records in the Recorder's office.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 24.

1. Indian cigars refer to the seed pods of which of these trees?
   Maple Catalpa Sycamore Pine.
2. We import most of our coffee from which of these countries?
   Brazil Argentina Java Chile.
3. The new semiautomatic Garand army rifle will fire how many shots without reloading?
   5 8 15 24.
4. Encephalitis is an inflammation of the Liver Pancreas Thyroid gland Brain.
5. The color known as chartreuse is a combination of Red and yellow Red and blue Yellow and green Green and blue.
6. You are entitled to one point for each correct matching of the rivers below with the bodies of water into which they flow.

[a] Amazon	[v] Black sea
[b] Volga	[w] English channel
[c] Danube	[x] Atlantic ocean
[d] Seine	[y] Persian gulf

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

COL. M'CORMICK SPEAKS TONIGHT ON GETTYSBURG

Chicago Theater of the Air Foregoes Program.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Chicago Theater of the air will forgo its regular presentation of an operetta this evening to broadcast a special production—"Gettysburg"—from 8 to 9 o'clock over W-G-N, W59C, its sister FM station, and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak on the Battle of Gettysburg during the broadcast. A musical background of Civil war and patriotic music will be included on the program.

Col. McCormick is an authority on military history and has studied the important battles of the Civil war and their strategy exhaustively. He is the author of "Ulysses S. Grant, the Great Soldier of America."

Members of the Civil War Round Table, a Chicago society with a major interest in the battles of the Civil war, will attend the broadcast in the main studio of W-G-N.

Discuss Battle Each Month.

Members of this group, including lawyers, bankers, and business men, meet each month to discuss some major battle of the Civil war. They will devote their next session to a discussion of the high points of Col. McCormick's Gettysburg comments.

Marion Claire, regular soloist on the operetta series, and Igor Gorin, baritone, who has appeared as guest, will be the soloists on the musical portion of the program. Henry Weber will conduct the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus.

A feature of the program will be a recreation of "The Pledge to the Flag," by Albert Hay Malotte, the composer, which was first introduced on W-G-N with Gorin in the leading rôle more than a year ago. This musical expression was written by Malotte for Gorin after he had become an American citizen. Gorin again will sing the thrilling composition.

Patriotic Songs on Program.

The program will open with the chorus singing "America, the Beautiful." This will be followed by "The Pledge to the Flag." Then will follow "America Marches On," by the chorus and orchestra. A Civil war medley comes next with Gorin as soloist, supported by the chorus and orchestra. The selections in the medley: "Yankee Doodle," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "Dixie," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," "Tenting Tonight," and the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Civil war medley will precede Col. McCormick's talk.

At the conclusion Miss Claire will sing the "Vacant Chair" with the support of chorus and orchestra.

The program will close with "The Star Spangled Banner," by the soloists, chorus, and orchestra. John Weigel will be the announcer. The voices of Bret Morrison and Willard Waterman also will be heard during the production.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE GIRLS SENT TO CAPITAL

The Illinois Bell Telephone company and other Bell companies have been asked to send trained long distance operators and supervisors to Washington, D. C., to aid in handling the greatly increased volume of military and governmental telephone calls, it was announced yesterday. Illinois Bell has sent 10 operators who volunteered, and others are ready to leave when needed. Anticipating the increase several months ago, the company instituted a training program which insures an adequate supply of trained personnel for the company's territory, it was stated.

Quest for American Operetta Brings 1,500 Entries to W-G-N

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A last week rush has brought the total number of entries in the $10,500 W-G-N-Mutual quest for the great American operetta to more than 1,500. The deadline for registration in this national competition is Jan. 1.

Entries have come from 45 states, Washington, D. C., and Canadian provinces. Illinois has provided the greatest number of entries, with New York, Massachusetts and California next in line. The response is much greater than anticipated, the judging committee announced.

The judges will pick three winning operettas for presentation on the Chicago Theater of the Air in March. Composers of these three will receive $1,000 each. An additional $5,000 will go to the operetta adjudged best reflecting the spirit and achievement of America. And $2,500 will go to listeners for helping name the winning operetta.

Entries have been received from persons in many walks of life. Composers, orchestra conductors, band leaders, arrangers, music teachers, and students are among these.

One operetta entry is the result of a radio plea by Anthony Misuraca for a lyric writer to help him. His appeal for help was broadcast on W-G-N's Help Your Neighbor program. Almost 100 persons responded. From these volunteers Mrs. Margaret Frisbey of Evanston was chosen. Misuraca is an established composer and Mrs. Frisbey is a playwright.

Producers of the Hobby Lobby program have decided to cancel the Howard Klein hypnotic demonstration which had been scheduled for Jan. 3. Klein, who recently appeared on the program and reputedly hypnotized subjects outside the New York studio thru a regulation microphone, had proposed to extend his efforts Jan. 3 to persons in a Chicago studio and others in Los Angeles.

The latter demonstration was scheduled prior to America's entry into the war. When it was suggested that such an experiment would contribute nothing to national calmness and might start another Orson Wellesian scare the sponsors voluntarily dropped the idea.

Bob Hope has mentioned Hedy Lamarr's name in jests on his air show in the last four years almost 1,000 times. Only six weeks ago he met her for the first time. But they have never appeared on the air together. Monday evening they will be costarred in the Radio Theater's presentation of "The Bride Came C. O. D."

The Chicago subway is responsible for a radio play. Jack LaFrandre, author of NBC's Hot Copy series, visited the subway recently and while watching workers he got an idea for a radio drama. The ingredients include a feminine columnist, a jealous suitor, and a cavein. It's to be aired at 9:30 p. m. Jan. 3, with Fern Persons and Pat Murphy taking the leads.

50 TAX DEPUTIES TO SAVE TIME AT DEFENSE PLANTS

Income Advisers to Be at 35 Factories.

Selection of 50 deputy collectors was started yesterday by Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue. They will be assigned to 35 defense plants in northern Illinois from Jan. 15 until Feb. 20. Their duties will be to advise and assist defense workers in filling out income tax returns.

"Lower personal exemptions and higher levels of earnings among industrial workers this year will add at least half a million new income tax payers to the rolls," said Harrison. "Those who will be paying for the first time will need advice. I believe their time and their services are too valuable to make them come to the collector's office or to some bank to get assistance.

Workers to Mail Returns.

"With the help of our deputies they can fill out their returns and then mail them in with checks. This will save time that may be better used in the production of weapons for our defense."

After Feb. 20 the field deputies will be withdrawn from the factories and stationed in the collector's office and in other public service offices, where they will assist taxpayers as they have in the past.

300 to Be Busy in Field.

Harrison said that requests for deputies always exceed the supply, and that assignments will be made almost exclusively to industrial plants engaged in defense production. With the recruits to the staff there will be about 300 field deputies to assist taxpayers when collection begins.

Last year approximately 1,100,000 persons in the Chicago collection district paid income taxes. With personal exemptions reduced from $2,000 to $1,500 for heads of families and from $800 to $750 for unmarried persons the number paying is expected to be about 1,600,000.

FORMER STATE WORKER DIES.

Benton, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—Mrs. Ella Shiller, 79 years old, who resigned her position at the Barionville State hospital a month ago after eight years' service, died here today. She was the widow of William F. Shiller, former state's attorney of Franklin county.

Pope Appeals for Peace in 3d Christmas Speech

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 26 [ANDI agency to Associated Press].—For the third time in three Christmas season days Pope Pius XII, today called upon warring nations of the world to sheathe the sword. Addressing his noble guards the pontiff said, "In this sea of tempest and human catastrophes may the fury of the winds cease; may the waves become calm, and on the undisturbed ship of bounty and faithfulness may men shake hands and embrace justice and peace."

WARNS TRAFFIC TOLL WILL RISE NEW YEAR'S EVE

Motor Club Head Blames War Conditions.

While deaths from traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday continued to mount yesterday, a prediction was made that the death toll during the New Year's eve revelry next week would be higher than last year's New Year's eve total of 26.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, said that the increase will be the result of more traffic because of 24 hour defense industries and military leaves; more money available for entertainment, and a devil-may-care attitude on the part of some people because of the war.

Father and Son Killed.

George Jackson, 39 years old, 118 Adella street, Joliet, a truck driver, and his father, John, 76, of 10234 South Racine avenue, were killed early yesterday when their car collided with an automobile containing six soldiers at 127th street and Cicero avenue, Worth township. The soldiers, en route to Chanute field, were slightly injured. Their driver, Stanley J. Alkonis, 20, of Two Rivers, Wis., was held for the inquest.

William Barnum, 39, of Rand road, Mount Prospect, died yesterday in Palatine Community hospital of injuries received on Christmas when his car skidded on slippery pavement, overturned five times, and struck a tree on U. S. 12, northeast of Arlington Heights.

Funeral services for Cyril Joyce, 35, former De Paul university football star who was killed in an automobile accident in Boston, Mass., on Christmas, will be conducted Monday in the chapel at 6400 Glenwood avenue.

Killed as Train Hits Auto.

James Cavanaugh Jr., 30, of Minooka, employed at the Elwood arsenal, was killed when his auto was struck by an Alton passenger train at the edge of Elwood.

Michael Hadan, 53, of 1461 Erie street, died in St. Elizabeth hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 23 when he was struck by a car driven by Morris R. Soloman, 2547 North Lawndale avenue. The accident occurred at Ashland avenue and Erie street.

Noah Allen, 60, colored, 4323 South Dearborn street, died in the County hospital of injuries received on Christmas when he was struck by a hit-and-run automobile driver at 43d and State streets.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 964 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 675 were killed in Chicago, where 26,225 were injured in the same period.

C. T. CROWELL, 53, NEWSPAPER MAN AND WRITER, DIES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Chester T. Crowell, widely known writer and former newspaper man, died unexpectedly at his home here tonight. He was 53 years old.

Crowell worked on several Mexican and Texas newspapers, including the San Antonio Express, Austin Statesman, and Dallas News during the period before and during the first World war and later was on the staff of the New York Evening Post. He was a frequent contributor to magazines.

Crowell was special assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau in 1935 and wrote the book, "Recovery Unlimited—the Monetary Policy of the Roosevelt Administration."

Born in Cleveland, O., on Oct. 14, 1888, Crowell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Miller Crowell, daughter of the late lieutenant governor of Texas, Barry Miller.

POLICE HUNTING DOG RUSTLERS ON NORTH SHORE

Lake county's deputy sheriffs and the police of several north shore suburbs are seeking to end the career of a band of dog rustlers who have been operating over a wide area for several weeks.

Among the dogs stolen and their owners are Edmund F. Mansure, who resides in Everett road southwest of Lake Forest, a collie; Edwin W. Shipman, whose home is near Mundelein, an Irish setter and a great Dane; Francis G. Fabian, who lives near the Mansure place, a cocker; Dr. John B. O'Donoghue, residing in Mellody road southwest of Lake Forest, a Doberman-Pinscher; Charles Dennehy, 476 East Woodland, Lake Forest, a Scottie; Edwin Shields Hewitt, 1360 West Everett road, Lake Forest, a boxer, and Count Anthony Potocki, 1716 Knollwood road, Lake Forest, a cocker.

MARY M'CORMIC FAILS TO APPEAR FOR HER HEARING

Mary McCormic, 40 years old, former opera singer who was arrested in a parking lot at 64 East Harrison street Christmas eve and charged with disorderly conduct, failed to appear before Judge J. M. Braude in Women's court yesterday. Her attorney, Lawrence E. Dowd, said she was ill, and Judge Braude ordered that she appear New Year's eve. "I'd like to get her to make a resolution before Jan. 1," the judge said. "I think she needs help."

G. R. Basler Slugged in Battle with Three Robbers

G. R. Basler, 933 Jackson avenue, River Forest, was slugged and seriously injured early today when he struggled with one of three bandits who held up Basler and his wife in front of their home. While Basler struggled with one bandit, who had just taken his wallet, a second dropped his guard over Mrs. Basler and slugged Basler over the head with a shotgun.

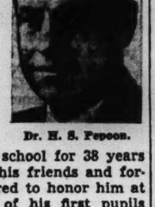
DR. H. S. PEPOON, NOTED BOTANIST, TEACHER IS DEAD

On Lake View Faculty for 38 Years.

Dr. Herman S. Pepoon, teacher and author of textbooks on botany, died last night in Augustana hospital at the age of 81. He had been ill only a week. He was one of the oldest University of Illinois graduates.



Dr. H. S. Pepoon.

In 1930 Dr. Pepoon retired from teaching at the limit age of 70. He had then been teaching at Lake View High school for 38 years and hundreds of his friends and former pupils gathered to honor him at a dinner. Some of his first pupils were present.

Made "Botany Beautiful."

The Lake View Alumni association said of him then, "He has made botany a beautiful and popular subject to the students, some of whom are the fathers and mothers of his students today. He saw the school grow from a few rooms to the point where it was necessary to provide branches for its thousands of students. He saw the sparsely settled community of homes grow into a neighborhood of apartment buildings and business places. He is, without doubt, the most popular man on the teaching staff."

Born in Warren, O.

The Pepoon family traced its ancestry from the Huguenots, the first of the American branch establishing themselves in Connecticut in 1630. Dr. Pepoon was born in Warren, O.

Dr. Pepoon entered the University of Illinois in 1877, and took his doctor of medicine degree at the old Hahnemann Medical school in Chicago. He practiced medicine for 11 years in Nebraska and Illinois.

He is survived by one son and one daughter, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Bandits Lock Motorist in Trunk for Hour and Half

Joseph De Angelis, 42 years old, of 4523 South Christiana avenue reported last night to Hyde Park police that he had been held up by two gunmen when he went to park his auto at 1508 East 52d street. He said the men locked him in the trunk of the car and drove around for an hour and a half, making three stops. He said he was released at Stony Island and 71st street after the men had robbed him of $15 and a $10 ring.

Funeral Services Monday for Mrs. Adelina Murphy

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. in St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, for Mrs. Adelina M. Murphy, who died yesterday in her apartment at the Stevens hotel. NAVY GIVES YULE GIFT TO MOTHER; HER SON'S ALIVE

Peru, Ind., Dec. 26 [Special].—Richard Lee Fuqua, 21 years old, of Peru, who was reported lost in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, is alive and well, according to a message which his mother, Mrs. S. F. Fuqua, has received from the navy department. She previously had received an official notice of his death, and the American Legion conducted a memorial service for him last week. "It was the grandest Christmas of my life," Mrs. Fuqua said.

Son Writes That He's Safe.

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 26 (AP).—Joy displaced gloom today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wright. Ten days ago the navy department reported their son, Thelford, 20 years old, missing in action in the Pacific war zone. Memorial services were conducted for him last Sunday. Today the Wrights received a letter from their son saying he was safe and uninjured. The letter was dated six days after release of the report that he was missing.

FINED FOR FALL THRU 10 PANES AT CONSERVATORY

Harry Page, 26 years old, paid yesterday for his brief glimpse after closing hours Christmas eve of the flowers in the Garfield park conservatory. Page explained to Judge Thomas A. Green in the Fillmore street court that he hadn't known exactly what he was doing. He had clambered to the conservatory roof, thru which he fell, breaking 10 panes of glass. After being told the glass has been paid for, Judge Green imposed a $25 fine upon Page, who lives at 3236 Beach street.

MONEY TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS IN CHICAGO SOUGHT

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he will ask the United States Conference of Mayors, which meets in Washington, D. C., Jan. 12 to 14, to aid him in obtaining federal aid to fight tuberculosis in Chicago.

The mayor made this announcement after receiving notice from Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States and Dr. L. O. Welcon, Chicago representative of that organization, that no money is available.

Because of a shortage of money, the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium's 1942 appropriation will be $350,000 smaller than the 1941 appropriation, necessitating a reduction in the number of field nurses.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT BLAMED FOR 130 TRAFFIC CASES

Judge Erwin J. Hasten of the Safety court mounted the bench yesterday and looked down on a mosaic of faces—the defendants, complainants, and witnesses in 130 traffic accident cases. Many wore bandages or bore scars.

"It looks," said Judge Hasten to Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Polk, "like too much Christmas 'spirit' and not enough Christian spirit in giving the right of way to others."

Judge Hasten disposed of 70 cases with small fines, continuing the rest. There were 50 charges of reckless driving, 25 of leaving the scene of an accident, and 10 for drunken driving.

One of the reckless drivers was Buel Nave, 23 years old, of Manistee, Mich. On Christmas night, at Jackson boulevard and Keeler avenue, his car collided with that of Abe Rubin, 5916 Roosevelt road. Nave apologized, saying he was hurrying home from a visit to relatives, to prepare for immediate induction into the army. Rubin then declared he would not press the charges and the case was dismissed.

Social Schedule Full for Today and Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

NO one would suppose from glancing at today's and tomorrow's social calendar that there were any somber over or under tones to the usual Christmas gayety, for there is something planned for practically every moment. To be sure, most of the parties are for the young, but the Yale Dramatic association's and the Cornell Musical club's performances in town tonight are certain to attract many loyal alumni and their wives.

The actors of the Yale "Dramat" will arrive from Cincinnati at 3:25 o'clock to prepare for their production of "The Waterbury Tales" in the Civic theater tonight. Before the show the young visitors will attend Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Connell's debut tea for their daughter, Miss Frances. After the last curtain call tonight the men will be going on to a supper dance which Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow are giving at the Casino for their debutante daughter, Miss Frances.

Several Dinner Parties Precede Performance.

There'll be numerous dinner parties before the show. Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody and Mrs. Darrow Fulton will entertain for debutante Eleanor Cochran. At the Racquet club Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Woodruff of Joliet will be entertaining for Miss Louise Strawn. The Solomon B. Smiths and Dr. and Mrs. Selim W. McArthur and their daughter, Miss Betty, also will give dinners.

Among the Chicagoans here with the show will be Spencer Moseley of Highland Park, captain of the Yale football team; George R. Nichols III., secretary of the Yale "Dramat," and Beckwith Bronson of Lake Forest.

The Yale Dramatic association has been invited to a cocktail party which Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams will give tomorrow afternoon in her Lake Shore drive home for Miss Leonore Cudahy.

Cornell Clubs' Members Will Be Guests at Ball.

The Cornell University Musical clubs, who will present their concert operetta, "Red Rolling," in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House tonight, will have little time for entertaining by Chicago Cornell friends. The clubs will not arrive until late this afternoon and must leave early tomorrow. They will, however, take part in the Christmas ball which will follow the concert. A group of 50 midshipmen from Abbott hall and 50 aviation cadets from Glenview have been invited to the party.

The Rollin D. Woods of Winnetka, the A. Harris Barbers of Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. Ross McKinstry, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sailor of Hinsdale will be among those giving dinner parties before the concert.

Philip G. Connell's three Princeton roommates—William Stevenson of Essex Fells, N. J., Peter Farr of Montclair, N. J., and Kenneth Crampton of Sewickley, Pa.—are arriving today for his sister's debut tea. Mr. and Mrs Connell Sr. and Miss Frances will receive from 4 to 7 o'clock in their Scott street home.

Debut Tea to Introduce Helene Harding Today.

Guests at a debut tea which Mrs. Charles Ford Harding Jr. is giving this afternoon in her home in Winnetka to introduce her daughter, Miss Helene, will have a chance to meet the debutante's future sister-in-law, Miss Patricia Bolling. The fiancée of Charles F. Harding III. has come from her home in Greenwich, Conn., to be here until the first of the year.

Miss Patricia Louise Wade will make her debut at a tea at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Oak Park home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Albert Wade. The Wades will take their daughter, her assistants, and their beaux to dinner at the Oak Park Country club after the tea.

Only young people have been invited to Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey V. Nevius' tea tomorrow afternoon to present their daughter, Miss Catryna, to society. The Neviuses have a house guest, Dean C. Picton of Toledo, O., for the week-end festivities. After the tea Mr. and Mrs. James M. R. Glaser and their daughter will give a supper for today's debutante at the Glaser home, Rosemor lodge.

Other Parties for Debs Today and Tomorrow.

Among other parties for the debutantes today and tomorrow are a luncheon today at the Woman's Athletic club that Mrs. Harold J. Gordon, Miss Terry Gordon, and Mrs. Broadus Clarke will give for Betty Hartz; a tea-dance today in the Bavarian village at the Indian Hill club given by the H. Mitchell Harpers and the John G. Searles for Shirley O'Brien; a luncheon tomorrow for Miss O'Brien given at the Glen View club by the Edwin S. Fords; a cocktail party at noon tomorrow given by the George W. Ryersons for Lois Mason and Lois Pittman; a luncheon tomorrow given by the Fred W. Fairmans for Sallie Ellen Welsh, and a luncheon tomorrow at which Mrs. W. Burke Williamson will be hostess for Sally Robbins.

Tomorrow night Mrs. James B. Forgan will give a party for Miss Robbins in the Four Georges room of the Sherman hotel. Other deb parties tomorrow are a luncheon at the Snelling S. Robinsons' home in Libertyville for Ann Carpenter; a lunch at Camellia House at which Christian M. Lauritzen II. will entertain for Carol Gardner and Kay Keehn; a cocktail and buffet supper party for Miss Mason, Miss Ann Johnson, and Miss Barbara Pettibone, given by the Samuel A. Greeleys and their daughter, Miss Lois; an informal tea given by debutante Sally Hyde and her sister and brother, Miss Betty Cole and John Cole, at their home in Winnetak, and a dinner and ice show party

This Mother to Attend Cornell Clubs' Show

From their smiles one would judge that Santa Claus brought Mrs. Richard D. Vanderwarker and her little daughter, "Christy," just what they wanted. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Vanderwarker will attend the Cornell Musical clubs' presentation of "Red Rolling," a concert and light opera, in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House and will stay on for the Christmas ball afterward. Mr. Vanderwarker is chairman of the Chicago committee for the clubs' 1941 presentation. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Dr. Stock and Orchestra Are in Best Form

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock, conductor; Zino Francescatti, violinist. Presented in Orchestra hall Friday afternoon, Dec. 26, 1941. The program:

Pastorale, from "Christmas Oratorio" ..... Bach
Dance of the Angels and Prelude, from "The New Life" ..... Wolf-Ferrari
Prelude to "Hansel and Gretel" ..... Humperdinck
Concerto for Violin, No. 3, G major ..... Mozart
Suite, "Adventures in a Perambulator" ..... Carpenter
[First performance in Chicago of revised version.]
Tzigane ..... Ravel

BY CECIL SMITH.

Since the Thursday concert was moved to Saturday this week to avoid conflict with the Christmas plans of the patrons, yesterday's matinée was the first of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's holiday pair of programs. Christmas trees and festoons of greenery decorated the stage, and an air of festivity was apparent in Frederick Stock's cheerful word of greeting to the audience, in the large number of vacationing young people scattered thru the house, and in the familiar and beautifully played Christmas music at the beginning of the program.

After arduous days earlier in the week devoted to making phonograph records, Mr. Stock and the orchestra might have been excused if they had shown some signs of letdown yesterday. A day of rest apparently left every one refreshed, however, for the orchestra was at the summit of its form thruout the entire concert. Even "The Star Spangled Banner," which is tossed off absent-mindedly by every theater orchestra nowadays, was magnificent and inspiring, and the audience joined in with enthusiasm.

The soloist was Zino Francescatti, the French violinist who has built himself up to a high peak of popularity within three seasons. The final say of the afternoon was left to Mr. Francescatti, who played Ravel's "Tzigane," that brilliant and slightly sardonic satire on Hungarian gypsy music, with dazzling accuracy and great nervous intensity.

Earlier in the program he addressed himself to Mozart's G major concerto with less striking results. His musicianship is primarily of an intuitive rather than a logical order, and he endeavored to create a feeling of onward movement and emotional vitality without paying enough attention to the equally important factors of balance and intellectual control.

Mr. Stock's revival of John Alden Carpenter's suite, "Adventures in a Perambulator," played for the first time here in its newly reorchestrated version, brought back to public attention a score of surpassing beauty of craftsmanship. Hardly any other American composer, living or dead, has understood and commanded his musical means as thoroly as Mr. Carpenter. In its graciousness, its candor, and its warmth, the music is wholly lovable.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Ichthyologically.

The cutest Christmas present we've heard about was one we got. Our black mollies presented us with nine [latest count] babies—little black fish about an eighth of an inch long. Cross our heart, they arrived Christmas morning.

Leander J. McCormick, who probably knows as much about fish as any one in town—from a fisherman's point of view as well as the ichthyological one—took a look at our aquarium the other night. He told us its dark brown color was not due to carelessness but to algæ, the result of too much light. He said this probably caused the untimely death of our prize fish, a neon tetra. Incidentally, Mr. McCormick is writing a book on fishing the Amazon.

Flowers That Bloom.

Browsing around in the books of the late John B. Castle of Sandwich, Ill., we came across a copy of "Gems of Deportment," published in 1881 by Tyler & Co. here in Chicago. One chapter is devoted to the language of flowers, and here are some of the daisies we gleaned:

If you want to say, "Your looks freeze me," send ice-plant. If you have a stingy friend and want to urge charity, send turnip greens. Henbane, the book says, means blemish. So, instead of anonymously supplying the girl friend with a certain soap, give her henbane, with your card inclosed. Flowering dogwood asks, "Am I indifferent to you?" If you think your hostess is extravagant, send her house-leek, because that signifies domestic economy. Mistletoe simply means: "I surmount all difficulties."

We found dozens more, but here are some timely ones: Nasturtiums mean patriotism, peonies suggest anger, York and Lancaster roses signify war, coltsfoot flatly says, "Justice shall be done you," and gladioli are to say you're "ready armed." Dead leaves quite naturally are to express sadness.

Lazybones.

The boy, named Adam [Up'n Attem], who operates the elevator for Postl's got tired of explaining the other day that the elevator was out of order. In fact, we're told he gets even more tired of running the elevator. So he put up this sign: "Outa Oider." Brooklyn, maybe?

Skeptic.

A gentleman who went to a dinner party refused the salad. A few nights later at another party he again refused the salad. Another guest, who also had been at the first party, asked him why. "I don't like salads," he replied, "and by the way, what were those little round yellow balls in the one the other night?" Told they were melon balls, he exclaimed: "You can't kid me, they don't grow that small."

KEESE LAUNDRY

Hectic Evening Is Enjoyed at Ballet Russe

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The surrealist ballet, "Labyrinth," filled the stage of the Civic Opera house last night with mounds of skulls, clutching branches, hollow and noisome stumps, malformed beasts and humans, and everything else that the most exacting victim of delirium tremens could demand.

This was a first Chicago performance of the second of the Salvador Dali-Leonide Massine ballets ["Bacchanale" was the other], and it served as the principal feature of the opening bill of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo's seven day engagement.

"Labyrinth" tells the story of Theseus and the Minotaur, of Ariadne and her thread, and of the horrid maze of Crete. It brings to the tale an unfettered imagination and complicates it with many a curious twist.

The new ballet has a strange mad beauty that can suddenly seize you by the heart right in the middle of some apparently meaningless orgy of jabberwockies. For no matter how capricious Dali may be, and no matter how much tongue-in-cheek work he has turned out, the fact remains that somewhere in his tortured psyche is a deposit of that particular type of intuitive power—that ability to sense and express new relationships between things—which the world has agreed to call genius.

"Labyrinth" is based on Schubert's seventh symphony, and the deranged settings and costumes and choreography become even more startling by reason of their contrast with such sweet, sane music.

The new ballet is good entertainment because of the richness of its choreographic texture. There is always an air of bustle and excitement even when nobody is doing anything or going anywhere.

The lighting added to the piece's nightmarish qualities. Dali can make a desert under a midday sun more scary than a winter night path past the burying ground.

The performance served to reintroduce Tamara Toumanova, who must now be well into her twenties but is showing no sign of decay. Her work had humor, lightness, and enormous technical skill. She mimed Ariadne, and her partner [Theseus] was Igor Youskevitch, one of the company's most characterful male dancers.

The bill included also "Vienna—1814" and "Gaité Parisienne," in both of which Leonide Massine and Alexandra Danilova appeared.

Illinois Educators Meet in Chicago Next Monday

Illinois educators will meet at the Morrison hotel Monday thru Wednesday in the 88th annual meeting of the Illinois Education association. It is the first time in 31 years that the meeting has come to Chicago. The responsibility of the educator in wartime will be the theme of much of the discussion sessions and speeches.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Same Name.

For a number of years she has been a silk saleswoman, behind the same counter, in the same store, fingering her merchandise as fondly as a gem collector.

The other day I discovered, quite by accident, that she is something of a collector . . . of amusing anecdotes and coincidences.

Her name is Sophie Kerr, and numerous and laughable are the experiences which have grown out of the coincidence of her name. Now she makes it quite plain she is not THE Sophie Kerr, the novelist, but not always has she been so cautious.

A few years ago she was in Paris, buying two or three things in a shop. As the clerk handed her a pencil, for her signature, he asked, "Do you write?" "Yes," she answered, thinking it an odd question, but immediately forgetting about it. . . . The following day she revisited the shop with a friend and was baffled by the low bows and the air of attentiveness. "I bought such a few things," she commented to her friend.

Away from the shop she remembered the clerk's question on her first visit and grew red with embarrassment. An impostor! That's what she was! In a panic she wrote to Sophie Kerr, the novelist, and explained that she had no thought of impersonating her up and down the continent. Back came a letter, filled with humor and friendliness.

"Go right ahead," said Sophie Kerr, the writer, to Sophie Kerr, the silk saleswoman. "Only," she cautioned, "don't sign your name to any checks because the bank account, at present, is very low."

More Coincidence.

Speaking of coincidence—one day this week, a business girl by the name of Miss Jonas called a Miss Jones of another firm for some information. Miss Jones referred her to Miss Johnson who wasn't in at the moment, but Mr. Janson's secretary, Miss Joyce took care of the matter. The J's had it.

Dog Watch.

A young woman who calls herself "Commuting Katie" says she can't keep her mind on her work because of a wistful dog, who has been, for three weeks, waiting and watching for some one in the little parkway by the 91st Street Beverly Hills station. Food has been brought to him, and meat bones and other dog delicacies, but he can't be coaxed away from his vigil.

Katie, herself, one rainy night just before Christmas, after she came home from work, took her own dog over to the parkway to make friends, hoping to bring the lonesome one home and keep him housed . . . and warm. He followed three blocks, then turned slowly, sadly, and went back. . . . He is part Doberman, friendly, and unusually intelligent. But he is nervously on the watch for an automobile. Katie thinks he'd like me to say to that some one who left him there: "All is forgiven. Come get me . . . please."

Wailing Wall.

Plans are under consideration for a sort of wailing wall for white collar girls which will take care of such matters as today's letter from a working girl whose upstairs neighbors—nice neighbors, too—clump around over her head at night and in the morning and never think to put on bedroom slippers. Let's hope they each received moccasins for Christmas. A lot of apartment dwellers—and this is equally true of girls' clubs and dormitories—just don't seem to register the effect of such disturbances on a tired person and the next day's work.

Russian War Relief to Start Fund Drive at Rally Tomorrow

The medical committee of the Russian War relief will appeal for funds for medical supplies and vitamins at a public rally at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Palmer house. Clarence Randall, chairman, will introduce Dr. Henry E. Sigerist of Johns Hopkins university and Dr. David J. Davis, dean of the University of Illinois medical school, as guest speakers.

Dr. Benjamin Miller of the University of Chicago, who is coöperating with the medical committee, said the Russian demands for ammunition and planes have been very moderate. Russia's most vital need, he continued, is for sulfa drugs to check infections, heart stimulants, and sedatives and anesthetics to deflect the shock of emergency operations on the field. They also need instruments, bandages, and medical books.

Members of the Ballet Russe, who are supporting the drive, are expected to attend the rally. About 75 nurses from various Chicago hospitals will act as ushers.

Covenant Club Dance.

The Covenant club will hold its annual sons' and daughters' formal dance this evening at the club, 10 North Dearborn street.

The 'Messiah' Sung Again by Apollo Club

For 62 years the Apollo Musical club, one of Chicago's oldest and most valuable musical organizations, has presented Handel's oratorio, the "Messiah," one or more times annually. Last night in Orchestra hall it was given once again by the veteran choral society under the direction of Edgar Nelson. The soloists were Charlotte Symons, soprano; Eileen Law, contralto; Ralph Nylund, tenor, and John Neher, baritone. Robert Birch, organist, and a portion of the Chicago Symphony orchestra provided the instrumental accompaniments.

Just as the oratorio's age—it is exactly 200 years old—has not diminished its beauty, so have the numerous renditions by the choir not spoiled the excellence of its performance. It was the easy, experienced singing of a difficult score by the Apollo club that highlighted the evening. Well balanced thruout, the ensemble tossed off the florid, Handelian runs with smoothness and clarity and was able to amass a round, sonorous climax when the occasion demanded.

The many years that Mr. Nelson has conducted the "Messiah" have lent authority to his choice of tempos and his manner of phrasing thruout the work. For the most part he kept the performance moving along expressively.

The solosits each had an almost uniform number of merits and defects. One could enjoy Miss Symons' exquisitely lyrical voice but not the sentimental manner with which she delivered her arias. In similar fashion Miss Law might be credited with a simple, dignified style and a satisfactory voice while she is debited with a lack of emotional insight into the music assigned to her.

On the whole Mr. Nylund fared best with an agreeable voice, evenly scaled thruout, that did equal justice to both coloratura and lyrical passages. Mr. Neher's fine baritone voice is well handled in the upper register but lacks focus below. R. E.

Critic Left in Decided Haze by New Play

"TAKE MY ADVICE."

Comedy in three acts by Elliott Lester. Directed by Douglas Hope. Setting by Les Cobleigh. Presented by Clyde Elliott in the Great Northern theater, Friday evening, Dec. 26, 1941.

THE CAST.

Bud Weaver ..... Frank Pacelli
Ann Weaver ..... Norma Jean Ross
Jimmie Thayer ..... Lee Young
Kerry Van Kind ..... Albert Carroll
Joseph Weaver ..... Douglas Hope
Mrs. Weaver ..... Jeanne Dixon
Bradley Clement ..... John Connor

BY CECIL SMITH.

Before coming to grips with the latest of the Great Northern theater's unique exhibits, let me hasten to admit that "Take My Advice" evokes a larger number of laughs than either "Village Green" or "Let's Have a Baby." Too many of these laughs, however, are illegitimate, for they are at the play's expense; and it is neither normal nor commendable to take pleasure in the grimly unintentional humor provided by an inexpert author or confused and suffering actors.

Fashions in comic playwriting have changed so radically since 1927, when "Take My Advice" enjoyed its brief day of minor glory in New York, that its basic materials and its manner of presenting them are equally outmoded. A promoter of wildcat oil stock necessarily bears an earlier water-mark than 1929; and a schoolboy hero depicted in cloying imitation of Booth Tarkington goes a good deal farther back than that.

Perhaps one somehow could forgive Elliott Lester, the author, his shallow collection of rattlebrained people, whose intelligence quotient—except for that of a prep school instructor who is a relative paragon of intellect—is so low that they deserved to be wiped out along with the wildcat oil stock, if it were not for the morass of absurd motivations which lead them all to behave like even worse nincompoops than they are.

If you are wondering why I have not given some clearer indication of the plot structure of "Take My Advice," I can only admit that I do not remember. Out of a chaotic and trivial evening I dimly recall that pretty little Norma Jean Ross was about to be lured away from her innocent home life to a phony dramatic school by Albert Carroll, cast as an effete opportunist in the field of dramatic education; that Frank Pacelli, an active young actor, was disturbed by sensations of puppy love induced by Sunda Love, a seductive vamp to end all seductive vamping, or, at least, I should think, to render it a useless craft; that Albert Carroll at one point suddenly began to impersonate all three of the Barrymores; that John Connor as the fine young instructor had something less of a rôle to deal with than his Othello of Federal theater days, and that the setting was the same bilious thing we saw in "Let's Have a Baby." Except for these dim impressions, my memory now enjoys a compelte blackout.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 26.—This yarn is probably as old as the boy's grandfather was in the first place—but, anyhow it's about this little boy and his grandpop, as related by Dave Kapp's secretary. They—the kid and the old man, I mean—were walking in a very cosmopolitan section of Europe or some place like that, and the lad noticed that the signs were in different languages.

The first was in French and the boy said: "Grandpa, what does that say?" and the old boy replied: "I don't know."

The next sign was in German. Same question. Same answer.

The next were in Swedish, Spanish, Polish, and Arabic. Same questions, same replies. Finally the little boy said: "Say, grandpa, you don't mind my asking these things, do you?"

"Mind?" said the old man. "Of course not! How else are you going to learn?"

Songwriters on both coasts are blowing gaskets trying to think of words that rhyme with Jap. . . . Orson Welles' historian, Herb Drake, who is a bit of yachtsman and goes under the title of Sir Francis, reports that a local sailor has hastily renamed his 12-foot dinghy. She is no longer the Haywire Maru. . . . Sam Goldwyn's still looking for a title for Gary Cooper's Lou Gehrig picture. Best one I've heard of is "King of Diamonds," but Sam no like. He says ball fans will go to see the picture no matter what the title, and he wants something that will intrigue the dames. "King and Queen of Diamonds," maybe? . . . Madeleine Carroll, who abandoned her plan to go to England when war broke out in Pearl Harbor, will stick with the movies and play the lead in "The Forest Rangers." Bob Sisk producing and Fred MacMurray in the male lead. All in color. . . . An intriguing setup is the announcement that Rene Clair will direct a picture for Paramount with Preston Sturges supervising. It's "I Married a Witch," based on Thorne Smith's posthumous "The Passionate Witch."

Joel McCrea and Veronica Lake to start. . . . Walt Disney and his staff will turn out 20 films for the navy in the next six months. They'll be a combination of cartoons, models and live action, and will be technical stuff for the bureau of aeronautics. One film lesson, for instance, will instruct pilots how to tell the enemy's ships from our own.

Hollywood has begun the toughest year in all the history of the movies—and better pictures should come of it. Waste and cheap politics will find the going harder, and thousand-a-week deadheads encumbering production pay rolls will dwindle in number.

Thirty thousand movie folk are shifting to a war footing. Many have already quit Hollywood to fight.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Three Girls About Town" is a farce comedy at its farciest. Never believable, not often funny, but far better acted than the script deserves.

The to-do is mostly about the "death" of a certain mediator, due to settle differences re a prospective strike. . . . The efforts of a young reporter [John Howard] to hand his paper a "scoop" by producing the "body," the determination of the "three smart girls about town" to prevent him from doing so, and the feud between the chief of police and said reporter, are responsible for most of the action.

Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes, John Howard, and Eric Blore are worthy of a far better vehicle.

On the stage—Ted Lewis! He, I'm sure, will cheer you up. Cheer is, you know, his principal stock in trade.

The Housewife

From Minnesota comes a line of those delightful, simple earthenware casseroles so beloved by good cooks. In the group are a number of sizes and shapes. There are the shallow, individual oven dishes, the little covered pots, the large open casseroles shaped like a frying pan and with the handle, too, as well as large uncovered baking utensils. All are the same brown as the famous old French ovenwares, with the inner surfaces glazed. Any or all make excellent additions to your pantry shelves.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Professor to Speak.

Prof. Hans Kohn of Smith college, a native of Czecho-Slovakia and an expert on Russia, will speak tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at Sinai temple, 4600 South parkway. Dr. Louis L. Mann, spiritual leader of Sinai congregation, said that Prof. Kohn's subject will be, "What Does It All Mean?"

We homemakers can be proud that another woman has been chosen as food consultant in the subsistence branch of the quartermaster corps. Her name is Meryl Pickering Stone, and she is a member of the American Dietetic association and of the American Home Economics association.

Mrs. Stone will be associated with Mary Barber, the first woman ever to have been selected to help the army with its food problems. Miss Barber is food consultant to the secretary of war.

Both women will study army menus and aid the quartermaster corps in keeping them nutritionally well balanced.

All of us food columnists are going to be putting the emphasis more and more upon economy dishes, now that we're at war. Economy meats will, of course, come in for a great deal of attention. I have a mimeographed list suggesting economical meats to fit the tightened food budget, at the same time adding variety and interest to meals. You may have a copy without charge. Just send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, in care of THE TRIBUNE. I think you'll find the list very helpful in planning economical menus.

Economical recipes probably are going to be given a good deal of consideration from now on in our daily prize recipe contest. That isn't to suggest that a fairly extravagant recipe wouldn't be eligible, but we shall probably choose two or more budget savers in the course of a week.

If you aren't "up on" our contest, here's the information: There'll be a daily prize of $5 for some good recipe, to be tested and judged by my staff. Eligible are economy dishes, old family recipes, party favorites, almost anything that you've made a great deal and like a lot. Just write the recipe out in the usual recipe form, giving clear and full directions. Tell us something about it, if there's an interesting history back of the recipe. It isn't necessary for you to write a letter to accompany it unless you want to.

Send only one recipe at a time, please. If you have two or three excellent ones, send them a week or so apart. They'll receive much better consideration this way than they would if you sent them all at once, for, because of the volume of our mail, only one recipe from one person will be considered at a time.

Prize winners won't appear for approximately two weeks after they've been chosen. That's because we had to get a head start on this big job of picking, choosing, and testing. Many of our previous prize winners have told us how much that $5 prize has meant in stretching the food budget.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Mrs. Rose McDonald's prize winning recipe for spinach was brought from France by her mother. Cabbage may be cooked in the same way, writes Mrs. McDonald, who lives at 2828 Pine Grove, Chicago. Children and grownups all like the dish, she says.

The recipe has been thoroly tested by the contest judges. A prize of $5 has been sent to the contributor. If you have a good recipe which you think worthy of a reward, send it to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune. There'll be a daily prize, and you may win one.

SPINACH, FRENCH STYLE
2 pounds spinach, cooked
3 strips bacon
1 small onion, minced
1 cup chicken or beef stock
1 teaspoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Liberal dash of nutmeg

Chop cooked spinach very fine. Mince bacon and fry in skillet. Add onion and cook until transparent. Add spinach, flour, and soup stock. Cook gently until thickened. Just before serving add a liberal dash of nutmeg.

Rev. Joseph Evans to Talk on W-G-N's Church Hour

The Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Evans of Metropolitan Community Center church, South Parkway and 41st street, will be the Chicagoland Church hour preacher tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock on W-G-N. Services of the Metropolitan church, with its famous Negro choir singing under the direction of Prof. J. Wesley Jones, will be broadcast.

Junior Size Jumper Frock

JUMPER FROCK, JUNIOR SIZES.

The slim figures wearing sizes 11 to 19 always look well in jumper frocks. This version of the fashion makes up well in woolens, crêpes, and rayon mixtures. The shoulders are comfortably styled and the companion blouse softly tailored.

Style No. 2729 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Size 15 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short-sleeved blouse; 2¼ yards for long-sleeved blouse; 2¼ yards of 54 inch for jumper with buttoned-on shoulders; 2⅛ yards of 54 inch for jumper with seamed shoulders.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Northwestern Classes Put on Quarter Basis

All undergraduate work at Northwestern university, beginning next fall, will be done on the quarter system instead of the semester, as is the basis now. This was announced yesterday by Dr. Franklyn Bliss Snyder, president, in a report sent to the parents of his students.

Also, Dr. Snyder announced, plans are now under way to provide instruction during the summer months, so that a student may earn his bachelor's degree in three years instead of four.

"This change," the report read, "may well make it possible for young men to complete their undergraduate education before being called for duty in the armed forces."

Dr. Snyder said the school had been preparing for two years for the possibility of war coming to America, and that the result will be that its program now will go thru without a hitch.

Any student called for service after completing one-half of a semester or quarter will be given full academic credit for the entire period on the basis of his grades. If called during the first half of the period his tuition will be refunded.

On the question of students enlisting in the armed forces, he said, the university followed the lead of President Roosevelt in suggesting that they remain at their books until called by selective service. A similar position recently was announced by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Upon the outbreak of war, President Snyder continued, the university superimposed on its regular curriculum a carefully thought out civilian defense program. This included special courses in aviation, radio, chemical warfare, the internal combustion engine, analysis of propaganda, first aid, knitting, and small-arms practice. Fifteen other engineering courses also were geared directly to the defense effort. Registration in all of these courses has been far beyond expectations.

Members of the Naval Reserve Officers Training corps, Dr. Snyder said, are permitted by the navy to remain until they are graduated and receive their commissions, without being eligible for the draft. Men with two years' college credit also may enlist in the Reserve Midshipmen's Training course at Abbott hall, without being subject to the draft.

Dr. Snyder warned parents to ignore such rumors as that the university would enroll no women, or take only students for professional and technical training. He added that it would help the local parking problem if the parents would also urge little Johnny to keep his car at home.

Vail Rhodes Bucklins Serve Cocktails Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Vail Rhodes Bucklin are inviting 100 guests to cocktails today in their home in Astor street to meet their son, Mr. Bucklin Jr., and his pretty bride, the former Mary Constance Matthews of Pasadena, Cal.

Mrs. John G. Ralston of Dixon will entertain at a party at the Camellia house of the Drake tonight for her subdeb daughter, Joan.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Moore of Highland Park will entertain 75 young friends of their son, William, and daughter, Patricia, at a dinner-dance tonight at the Hotel Moraine-on-the-Lake.

Among the cocktail parties planned for tomorrow afternoon are Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore's for Mrs. Wood Tullis and William H. Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ridenour's, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Payne's. Parties for the younger set include the Edward K. Hardys' tea for their daughter, Miss Faith; the Kellogg M. Pattersons' eggnog party, which will include friends of their daughter, Miss Barbara; Miss Katrina Wolcott's tea for Miss Cynthia Burnham, and the Kimball Salisburys' tea-dance for their daughter, Joy.

Capt. and Mrs. Hugh Groves and their son, Ben, who have been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Allen of State Park way for a week, have moved to the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest for the last half of their holiday visit. Tonight Mrs. Addington Hubbard is entertaining at dinner for the former Marjorie Allen and her husband, who have been living in Ottawa, Canada, for several months. Tomorrow the Henry Rowleys will give a luncheon for the visitors.

Loretta Van Rie Bride Today of Cecil Barnes Jr.

A group of Chicagoans are in Mishawaka, Ind., today for the marriage at 4 o'clock of Miss Loretta Van Rie to Cecil Barnes Jr. The ceremony will take place at the home of Miss Van Rie's father, Dr. Leo Paul Van Rie, and will be followed by a reception there. Mr. Barnes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes of Chicago, are among those from this city who will be guests at a family luncheon party before the wedding. After their return from a motor trip young Mr. Barnes and his bride will live in Warrenton, Va., where he teaches in the Stuyvesant school.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon Miss Martha O'Connor will become the bride of William H. Harrison Jr. in a ceremony in the Church of Saints Faith, Hope, and Charity in Kenilworth, with the Rev. Thomas J. Burke officiating. The ceremony will be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor of Kenilworth. Mr. Harrison's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harrison of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y. If time permits, Mr. Harrison and his bride will take a skiing trip before they go to his army post.

Miss Louise Wells Brodt will become the bride of George Redfield Kincaid at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brodt of Evanston. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the Orrington hotel. Mr. Kincaid is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Kincaid of Evanston. He and his bride will live in Evanston or Chicago after their return from a wedding trip.

The marriage of Miss Nona Benninghoven to John Stewart Walworth Jr. will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Howes Memorial chapel at Northwestern university. Miss Benninghoven is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Benninghoven of Estes avenue. Lieut. Walworth's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walworth of Evanston. A reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Knight of Kenilworth after the ceremony. Lieut. Walworth and his bride will leave tomorrow for the south.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts Wallace of Dorchester avenue, to Russell Kenneth Heilmann of Stratford, Conn., will take place this afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal church, with the Rev. Sidney Wishart Wallace, uncle of the bride, officiating. Mr. Heilmann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heilmann of Wisconsin. He and his bride will live in the east.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Howell W. Murray of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Heath Wakelee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Wakelee of Maplewood, N. J. Miss Murray, who is a sophomore at Wellesley college, is at home for the holidays, and her fiancé is arriving this morning to spend the week-end in Highland Park. Because his visit will be so brief, Mr. and Mrs. Murray are not entertaining at this time for their daughter and Mr. Wakelee. No date for the wedding has been set. Mr. Wakelee was graduated from Amherst in 1938.

At a family dinner on Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord J. Case of Wilmette announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Dexter, to Merritt Paul Starr, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Starr of Winnetka. Both are college juniors, Miss Case at Bryn Mawr and Mr. Starr at Oberlin. Before going to college they were classmates at the North Shore Country Day school. Miss Case made her debut at a tea at home a year ago last September.

Another interesting announcement told to the families on Christmas was of the engagement of Miss Blix Nichols, daughter of Mrs. Frances Nichols and the late Warren Nichols of Evanston, to Carl S. Jefferson Jr., son of Mrs. Jefferson and the late Mr. Jefferson, also of Evanston. Miss Nichols is a graduate of the Faulkner school and Northwestern university. Her fiancé attended the University of Chicago.

At a family party on Christmas eve Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Knight of Kenilworth announced the engagement of their daughter, Peggy, to Edwin Allen Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Phillips of Auburn, N. Y. The wedding will take place on the evening of Jan. 16 in the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony will be a military one, for on that day Mr. Phillips will receive his ensign's commission from the midshipmen's school at Abbott hall. His classmates will assist at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur John Bergren of West 91st street announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Roderick D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith of Nova Scotia, Canada. Miss Bergren was graduated from St. Bernard's hospital and is a hostess with Transcontinental Western Airlines. Mr. Smith was graduated from Mt. Allison university in New Brunswick, Canada, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Walters of Constance avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Sergt. Robert W. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Edwards of Belden avenue. Miss Walters is a senior at the University of Illinois, where her fiancé received his master's degree. The wedding is planned for Feb. 7.

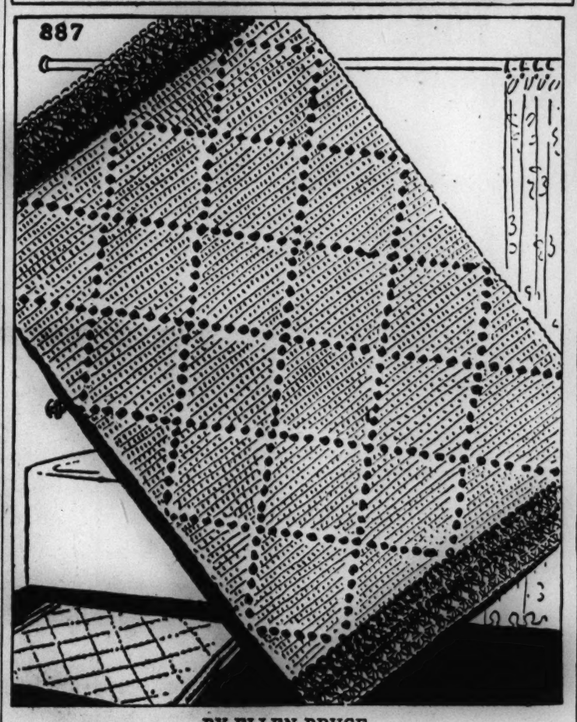
Crocheted Bathroom Rug



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted bathroom rugs done in a smooth, yet soft, fluffy cotton yarn, lie flat, and the edges do not curl. This rug requires little time to crochet and may be done in monotone or multicolored fashion. Tearose combined with light brown is a favorite combination for bathrooms when the tile is white. A few balls of this cotton make an attractive rug, and an inexpensive gift.

For instructions in crocheting the cotton bathroom rug, No. 887, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Novel Daytime Dresses Have Snap and Zest

BY REA SEEGER.

Clever, snappy two piece daytime dresses of night black bengaline material, sold with a matching pillbox hat, are just what any career girl or college girl needs to buck up her sagging spirits as well as her wardrobe.

These twosomes have the same dash and swagger of a bellboy's uniform. The jacket tops are cut to fit, with a definite emphasis on fit. They are buttoned snugly and smartly down the center front, with a row of small flat covered buttons to match the ribbed bengaline. The skirts have a flare and are gathered smoothly into a narrow belt. At each side is a vertical hip pocket elaborated with red braid. The sleeves are elbow length, the collars neat and narrow, forming a shallow vee or round line.

As an inbetween find for pickup duty or as something new for classroom or for office, one of these dresses can't be equaled. Such a snappy duet slides under fur coats or fur trimmed winter coats as smartly as under swanky topcoats of tweed or wool in high colors or trick plaid mixtures. And there isn't any law against the use of snow white collars and cuffs of piqué or double tailored sheers when the all-black idea begins to pall.

These are the jauntiest, youngest looking teams in the shops. The price marks are extremely easy on a depleted clothes allowance, the two pieces costing around $15. If you want to spend more and crave an ensemble of telling chic, buy the matching pillbox hat, also of the ribbed bengaline material and also decoratively accented with the same meandering braided design in red, repeating the effective design around the pockets of the skirt. The pillbox, too, is priced for small budgets.

Band Leader Has Good Pointers on How to Dress

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Jimmy Dorsey not only likes to provide good music for dancing but often, as he watches thousands of couples sway past his bandstand, he feels like reaching out and stopping some girl and offering a bit of advice which will insure her more fun than she's having, and teach her how to get calls for return dates.

Dorsey's pointers to the girls who want to be glamorous and, at the same time, have ideal partners for their dates, stem from his long observation from the leading dance podiums thruout the country.

Wear as many yards of net and lace as you wish, but make sure the whole affair is constructed so you don't have to take time out every now and then to arrange the folds or plaits, adjust shoulder straps, hide underclothes, adjust bows, and untwist ribbons. Get dressed at home in something that will "stay put" for a long time and even after a carefree conga or rumba.

If you must pile your hair up in a lot of curls, fasten them in place once and don't keep fussing with a stray wisp all evening. Use a wax or lacker on your hairdo that will keep it intact. No man likes to take out a girl who dazzles him with a fancy coiffure, only to find her spending all her time keeping it in place.

The new flat heels for formal and informal wear insure lasting endurance on the dance floor. You look better and feel gayer when your feet can withstand the exercise which dancing involves.

Carry a small bag with only the most indispensable personal items in it. Remember, a man's pockets are full of enough things already.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The only reason for describing one's hand accurately in the bidding is to give partner a clear picture of the situation, thus enabling him to make a choice of suits or other decisions. When it becomes obvious that partner will be unable to act on this information, it is no longer advisable to broadcast it. Note how South in the following deal shrewdly suppressed announcement of his second suit.

West, dealer.
North-South, vulnerable; 40 part-score.

♠ 9 7
♥ 8 6 5 3
♦ 7 4
♣ Q J 7 6 2

WEST
♥ A Q J 4
♦ 9 6 3
♣ 10

EAST
♠ Q 10 6 4 3
♥ 10 9 7 2
♦ 10 8

SOUTH
♠ 8
♥ K
♦ A K Q J 5 2
♣ A K 9 4 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	2 spades	3 diamonds
4 spades	Pass	Pass	5 diamonds
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

I bear no brief for West's untimely double, but I do maintain that it was South's suppression of his club suit that was largely responsible for West's error. If, over four spades, South had made the persuasive bid of five clubs, West undoubtedly would have taken a different view of the matter. Then he would not have depended on several defensive heart tricks. He would have realized that South had 11 or 12 cards in the minor suits and, instead of doubling, would either have passed for East's decision, or would have gone on to five spades as a sacrifice measure. Actually, he should have passed over the five diamonds but, strangely enough, players do not always do what they should do.

The point is that one series of bids will have a certain psychological effect on the average opponent, whereas a different series will have quite a different effect. In this case South saw that there was no reason to ask North, his partner, whether he preferred diamonds or clubs. South's diamond suit could stand on its own feet. Whether the final contract were five clubs or five diamonds, South would have to bring home his club suit with a minimum of loss, and if North could supply the queen of clubs with two or three others, the hand would play just as well in diamonds as in clubs. If North were short in clubs he would go back to diamonds anyway, and South would have offered information purely for the enemy's consideration.

Thus, in cases of this type, when no material aid can be expected from one's partner, it is pointless to bid two suits if one of them is solid. This philosophy has interesting variations. Some excellent players deliberately show two suits in order to ward off a penalty double, that is, they try to impress the opponents that a double will be dangerous. When they hold a hand as strong as South's, however, they do not fear a double, hence confine their bidding to one suit unless they have definite hope of a slam.

Striving Too Hard Does Not Win Obedience

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

The following letter interests me especially because I believe it depicts a state of mind of many conscientious, altho loving, mothers:

"Our problem is not one of trying to make a perfect child or trying to make her conform to a certain set of ideals. Our little girl is 2½ and our problem is just trying to make her mind. I am not too young and have tried to be sensible about raising her.

"She seems in many ways to be unusually intelligent for her age, has a fine memory, can help me around the house, busies herself with things such as seeing that lights are put out, doors closed, and rugs straightened. She is affectionate and we give her plenty of love. She is a child who causes people, after being around her just a short time, to say: 'My, isn't she bright!'

"She never has been spoiled since the minute she was born. We can leave her at any time. Once were away for a week and she didn't once cause the people any trouble. She doesn't have tantrums or even crying spells. When we tell her she cannot have something she wants, that's all there is to it. And she always has obeyed until this fall. Now I must follow up everything I tell her to do, or not to do, with a slap that she can feel or by raising my voice.

"Another angle is that her grandma is with us on and off; has been here long this time. And she will not slap her, saying she just can't, but I always follow up everything she tells the baby to do; so even tho she doesn't mind grandma, I see that she does do as she is told.

"What I would like to know is whether you think this is one of those 'stages' or if grandma's lack of discipline is causing it; or if we're at fault?

"My husband and I both are upset about it. We insist on having an obedient child because we see so much of the other kind, especially in our own family.

"I may be working too hard at it. I'm so afraid, if I let one thing go unnoticed, more and more will develop. Should the disobedience of a 2½ year old be overlooked somewhat, or should she be made to mind implicitly?

"This is a long letter, I know, but this is really getting the best of me."

This mother apparently has been very successful in raising her little girl, but she is slated for changing conditions and so must fit her management of her small daughter to the normal changes which are taking place. For her baby is no more. In her place is a young person of growing power who is aware of that power.

Yes, is my answer to this mother's question, I do believe you are "working too hard at it." Don't bend over backward in trying not to have a spoiled, disobedient child.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The present school holiday is a good time for parents to check up on the complexion ailments of their offspring. If the youthful skin is broken out, or being agonizingly difficult for the youngster to keep smooth and fresh, a visit to the dermatologist now may save months, even years, of grief later.

When boys and girls are away at school their methods of cleansing and their diets may be a lot sketchier than parents realize. It's a youthful trick to give the face and neck and ears a lick and a promise instead of the particular kind of thoro scrubbing that's more necessary during adolescence than at any other time in life and, of course, no matter how carefully diet is supervised, they all seem to have an infinite capacity for cakes and candies and soft drinks. The combination of peculiar eating habits and superficial cleansing is responsible for a lot of the troublesome complexions that bring so much misery to both boys and girls.

A visit to a dermatologist can be more than a much needed treatment or diagnosis. The intelligent doctor can convince the youngster of the importance of almost antiseptic cleanliness and send her back to school with a new set of rules for skin care and diet that might solve all her problems. She'll be more intelligently armed against skin troubles, certainly, and if her particular case requires medication she'll have that, too. A holiday checkup for the youngster with an inclination to skin eruptions is as sensible as the usual visit to the dentist.

We know now that following the line of least resistance, of waiting for children to "outgrow" their skin ailments, is wrong. Conscientious parents will do everything possible to spare their children the physical and psychological handicap of a bad complexion.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

The lasso in Frederick Jagel's signature is an interesting characteristic. Singers often have many curving loops in their writing, and often we find that the signature is a series of gracefully flung lines, looking something like the patterns a rope twirler might make in performing rope tricks. In Mr. Jagel's signature the lasso strokes curl and twist with a suggestion of intriguing humor. The "l," particularly, is full of buoyant fun.

Imagination is shown in the tall and full loops, and we can check off that trait with a large red mark for Mr. Jagel. His enthusiasm is spontaneous and he has a restless mind, quick to respond to impressions.

Notice how much larger the first and last "e's" are compared to the other small letters. They tell us that he likes attention and responds graciously to applause.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR 3 HOUSING PROJECTS HERE

Defense Units Will Cost Total of $2,296,000.

Three new federal defense housing projects, to cost a total of $2,296,000, are planned for Chicago, it was announced yesterday by Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing authority

Arrangements have been completed for the purchase of the four and one-half acres bounded by 31st and 32d streets, and by Lituanica avenue and the alley west of Halsted street, for a 144 dwelling unit to cost $864,000. The land will be bought for $68,375 from the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and the city.

Row Houses to Be Built.

Two other sites are being considered for similar projects. One, planned for the northeast corner of 26th street and California avenue, will provide 132 dwelling units. The cost will be $782,000. Another, at 43d street and Lowe avenue, will cost $650,000 and provide 108 dwelling units.

Funds for the first two projects have been approved by the United States Housing authority, Miss Wood said, and the USHA is considering the third project.

They will be used to house defense workers until the end of the war emergency, and then will become low rent projects. Miss Wood said the locations were selected with a view to the sites of defense industries, and that the Chicago Plan commission approved the sites.

Plans for City, Too.

Meanwhile the city council housing committee, headed by Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], recommended that the council approve an agreement whereby the CHA would pay the city 5 per cent of the project rentals in lieu of taxes. Similar agreements were made affecting previous federal housing projects.

Ald. Walter Orlikoski [15th] protested that the 5 per cent payment should be increased to 10 per cent.

"Five per cent of the rentals does not approach the tax bill a private property owner would have to pay," he said. He withheld his vote when the committee approved the agreements.

Demolition work is under way on the CHA project at 14th street and Racine avenue, and bids on the $4,840,000 project will be opened in the CHA offices Dec. 30. This 834 dwelling unit group may be opened to defense workers for the duration, a CHA spokesman said.

3 CHICAGOANS AT CAMP GRANT ARE PROMOTED

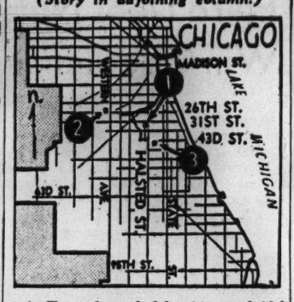
Three Chicagoans who are now army officers stationed at Camp Grant, near Rockford, have been promoted, Brig. Gen. John M. Willis, camp commander, announced yesterday.

Capt. Robert E. McMillan, a former judge of the Municipal court of Chicago and judge advocate of Camp Grant, has been promoted to major. He resided at 3325 Washington boulevard.

Dr. P. J. Stein, formerly of 7300 South Shore drive, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the medical corps. Another physician, Dr. Irving H. Rosenthal, formerly of 1414 South St. Louis avenue, received a similar promotion.

New Housing Projects

(Story in adjoining column.)



1. Tract bounded by 31st and 32d streets and Lituanica avenue and alley west of Halsted street which will be bought for federal housing project. 2. Site at 26th street and California avenue considered for similar project. 3. Site at 43d street and Lowe avenue, which may also be used for a third project.

1942 ECONOMIES ARE URGED UPON CITY AND PARKS

Officials of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Civic Federation announced yesterday that their organizations and 50 others will appear next week at public hearings to plead for economies in the 1942 budgets of the city of Chicago and the Chicago Park district. A hearing on the parks' budget is set for Monday morning and on the city's budget, for Tuesday.

Leverett S. Lyon, executive officer of the association of commerce and Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic Federation, said that the parks and the city together spent $4.73 of the 1940 tax rate of $9.52 per $100 of valuation and that hence "widespread interest in their operations is particularly warranted."

"We believe all public officials should be encouraged to make no capital improvements during the war that are not directly related to the defense effort and specifically requested by the federal government," the pair's statement said. Lyon and Sutherland commended the recent move to transfer city parks and playgrounds to the park district, but said the park board should not ask for additional taxes to operate them.

TRUCKMEN NAB HIJACKERS WHO ELUDED POLICE

Two men sought by Chicago police for six months, often chased and sometimes fired upon, were seized last night by a group of truck drivers. The drivers said the two were caught in the act of hijacking a load of candy and gum from a truck in front of a warehouse at 589 East Illinois street.

Between $25,000 and $30,000 worth of goods has been hijacked in the last six months in the loop area and the police several times have caught sight of the light delivery truck used by the pair, but because of special gearing in the truck, never could catch the men in it.

Edward Casper, driver for an interstate hauler, and several of his friends seized the pair. The much sought blue truck was partly filled with Casper's load. The men gave the names of Ben Bernard, 436 West 31st street, and August Serio, 7807 South Hermitage avenue. Police said they would be turned over to federal authorities.

One Killed, Another Hurt as Train Hits Snow Plow

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—Charles McDonald, 35 years old, of Roscoe, was instantly killed and Clark Weller, 62, of South Beloit was seriously injured when the state snow plow they were operating was struck by a Milwaukee road train at a grade crossing near Rockton today.

ASK COUNTY DROP 587 WORKERS TO REDUCE EXPENSE

Survey Staff Urges First Cut Since 1933.

BY LAWRENCE BURD.

The year by year increase in the number of employés on the Cook county government's pay roll will be halted for the first time since 1933 if the county board incorporates economies proposed by the county efficiency survey staff in drawing the 1942 budget. This was shown yesterday by county records.

The efficiency staff, which has been directed by the Civic federation, acting on authority from the county board, has recommended the dropping of 587 county pay rollers out of a total of 4,355, at an estimated annual saving of $1,097,000. The staff's reports, however, are subject to final approval or revision by a seven man survey committee, headed by Lee J. Howard, county auditor. The committee will begin soon to make its final recommendations to the county commissioners.

Would Cut to 1937-'38 Level.

The number of county employés, according to budget records, is now 1,092 higher than the 1933 total of 3,263. The cuts proposed by the staff would reduce the rolls to the 1937-'38 level, when the average number was 3,766.

The recommended cut of slightly more than a million dollars in the pay roll would go only part way toward meeting the county's estimated budget deficit of $3,400,000. To balance the budget, the commissioners will have to make further cuts or find additional revenue.

The largest pay roll cuts proposed by the staff were in the treasurer's and sheriff's offices. The dropping of 167 of the treasurer's employés at a saving of $272,000 a year was proposed. In the sheriff's office, a cut of 17 out of 145 highway police and dropping of 100 out of 521 other members of the sheriff's staff were proposed—at an estimated expense reduction of $281,000. Treasurer John Toman and Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien both have opposed the recommendations.

Others reductions proposed by the survey staff and the estimated savings included: County clerk, 44 employés at $80,000; civil service commission, 3 at $6,724; county auditor, 6 at $12,000; board of tax appeals, 15 at $25,000; county recorder, 26 at $50,000; coroner, 8 at $21,000; bureau of public welfare, 6 at $10,000; juvenile court, 38 at $80,000; assessor, 50 at $75,000, and the clerks of the Superior, Circuit, Probate, and Criminal courts, a combined reduction of 67 employés at $150,000.

An increase of 8 employés in the County hospital, making a total of 815 and adding $13,350 to the cost, was proposed. The staff also reported that Oak Forest institution was "not overstaffed." In these two instances, unlike most of the offices surveyed, the staff found recent increases in the number of employés was justified. The hospital and Oak Forest have added a combined total of 400 employés in the last 8 years, or 36 per cent of the increase for all county departments.

Two Evanston Detectives Promoted to Sergeants

Police Chief Carl Ekman of Evanston yesterday promoted to Detectives Daniel Dreiske, who joined the police force in 1938, and Henry Engstrom, who joined in 1929, to sergeants. The chief also added two patrolmen, W. P. Bartlett and F. W. Flood.

RIGGS, KOVACS START TOUR WITH VICTORIES

COMMISSIONER RULES LEAGUE WITH IRON HAND

Hopes to Carry On During War.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Chicago Bears football team, which many believe is the greatest in the history of the game, received the tribute of millions of fans this fall as it ran and passed to record scores. With the exception of the 16 to 14 defeat by Green Bay, a licking amply avenged in the Wrigley field playoff, the Bears carried on at the pace they finished in 1940 when they took the National league championship by defeating Washington, 73 to 0.

Less than a week ago the Bears retained that title by whipping New York, 37 to 9. Thus, the National league, in the thoughts of many, means the Chicago Bears, or perhaps the Bears and Green Bay. Certainly they are professional football's two best squads.

All Sports Need Balance.

The owners, however, recognize that the league itself is not made stronger by the vast superiority of the Bears, any more than the success of the American Baseball league, for instance, is dependent on the superior performance of the New York Yankees. Americans prefer a battle between evenly matched competitors and the future of professional football is directly linked to capacity crowds watching the Bears and the Packers, the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, rather than the anti-climactic title game between the Bears and Giants.

No man understands this more thoroly than Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National league, who will complete supervision of his first season's games in New York Jan. 4, when the Bears meet a picked squad of professional All-Stars in the Polo Grounds.

He Works at His Job.

Perhaps Layden was employed with a side glance at the prestige he would bring to the National league. There was a nice correlation in securing the man holding collegiate football's most important coaching job for professional football's commissionership.

The National league automatically reflected Layden's personal popularity when he signed his five year contract. But Layden's acumen and his far sighted policy already have more than matched his skill and success as a coach. Many may have forgotten that Layden was director of athletics for seven years at the University of Notre Dame as well as coach of the football team.

Harmony Marks Meeting.

Layden's training in management of athletics has received little publicity but his achievements as executive for Notre Dame sports were on a par with his excellent record as football coach there and at Duquesne Thus he was ably equipped for his duties as commissioner of professional football.

The meeting of the National league just concluded probably was the most harmonious in history in that the owners thought more thoroly in terms of the welfare of all. There were heated arguments, of course, for the ill temper of the gridiron frequently has been carried into the meetings, but as one owner phrased it, "We checked our weapons at the door and our fights were verbal."

This can be amplified. Club representatives are willing to negotiate and talk things thru. The period when league quarrels were conducted thru the newspapers probably has ended. If so, Layden's advice and demeanor have at least been partly responsible for the shrewd policy of a united front before the public.

They Hope to Carry On.

The future of professional football is linked unalterably with the war, in common with all professional and collegiate sports. It is unnecessary to add that professional football is entirely and willingly coöperative. In the meantime the owners and the commissioner—just as baseball and hockey men—are hoping to be able to carry on. Equalization of competition may be the answer to numerically reduced material and other conditions resulting from the war.

The annual draft was completed as in other years, altho many of the college men will not be available. By plans under discussion, it is hoped all members of the National league will have access to the player pool before any is sent to minor teams. The relationship of the National league with other professional football leagues has improved since Layden became commissioner. He has inspired confidence. The other organizations, while they may be subsidiary in talent, know their rights will be respected. Gradually the pattern of professional football has become clearer and, in some respects, it resembles the baseball setup.

Details Get Full Attention.

Under Layden's supervision the affairs of the National league have the same attention any man automatical-

Time—1:30 p. m. Chicago time. Radio broadcast—W-G-N and Mutual network at 1:15.

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 26 [Special].—The long drawn out football season of 1941 positively will be brought to a close here tomorrow afternoon. Other and bigger games are scheduled for Jan. 1, but that comes under the head of 1942 business, so the 46 stars from all parts of the nation, who meet in the fourth annual Blue-Gray battle have the honor of winding up the year in a blaze of flying footballs.

A sellout crowd of 15,500 is forecast for Crampton bowl. The kickoff is set for 1:30 p. m., Chicago time.

Hallabrin May Start.

An epidemic of colds held today's final workout to a brisk signal drill, but the chief sufferer, Jack Hallabrin of Ohio State, was the only athlete who missed the drill and he is expected to start.

The Yankee, or Blue, coaching staff, comprising Carl Snavely of Cornell, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, and Burt Ingwersen, N. U.'s line chief, decided after the final drill that their attack will be built around Andy Tomasic of Colgate; Jim Carrier, Wesleyan full back; Jackie Hunt of Marshall college, and Gene Ball of Duquesne. Other back field dynamite includes Tuffy Chambers of Northwestern, Jimmy Richardson of Marquette, and Frank Maznicki of Boston college.

Cadets to Be Guests.

The Rebel, or Gray, squad has chosen Lloyd Cheatham, Auburn quarter back, and Bob Gude, Vanderbilt center, as co-captains. The Yankees will be led into battle by Gordon Paschka, Minnesota guard, and Bob Friedlund, Michigan State end.

Hundreds of royal air force cadets and American aviators from nearby Maxwell and Gunther fields will attend the game as guests of the management.

BY WILLIAM FAY.

So you got a table tennis set for Christmas. So you screwed the net posts into place on the dining room table. So you picked up a paddle and socked the little white ball. So the little white ball rolled off the edge and under the table.

So you crawled under the table after the little white ball. That was Thursday. Now it's Saturday. So you're pretty tired of crawling under the table after the little white ball.

Maybe you better stop in at the Bal Tabarin of the Sherman hotel this afternoon, or tonight, or tomorrow afternoon, or tomorrow night. Learn something about how this game of table tennis is played.

Plenty of Experts.

The experts, you know, play the game on top of the table. And there will be plenty of experts running around loose in the Bal Tabarin the next two days.

The experts will come from six cities—New York, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Detroit, Boston, and St. Louis. There will be some Chicago experts, too, and all seven teams will be competing for top honors in the 11th annual intercity table tennis tournament.

New York's the defending champion. The New Yorkers have won the event nine times and are slight favorites to win their 10th title. The Chicago team has other ideas, tho.

Chicago Team Strong.

Chicago has a strong team composed of Billy Holzrichter, Bob Anderson, Dan Kreer, Eddie Ray, and Bill Du Metz. The Chicagoans will play four matches today, meeting Philadelphia and Boston this afternoon, and Indianapolis and Detroit tonight.

Each match is a round robin affair among the three men nominated by each opposing team. First team to score five victories wins the team match. Each individual match is best of three games of 21 points each.

McClure Enjoys Himself.

The New Yorkers meet Philadelphia and Boston this afternoon, then go against Indianapolis tonight. The Indianapolis-New York tussle, incidentally, is a big thing at these intercity tournament. Usually it means that Jimmy McClure, who is Mr. Table Tennis around Indianapolis, carries on a one man vendetta against the refugees from La Guardia's air raid alarms.

McClure, one of the great American table tennis players of the last decade, thoroly enjoys his three whacks at the New York singles stars. Indianapolis doesn't often win, because McClure seldom gets much support from his Indianapolis teammates, but the scoreboard usually reads like this: New York, 5; McClure, 3.

The afternoon block of six matches will begin at 2 o'clock; the evening block, also of six matches, will begin at 8 o'clock. Today's schedule:

AFTERNOON.
New York vs. Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Philadelphia.
Indianapolis vs. Detroit.
Chicago vs. Boston.
St. Louis vs. Detroit.
New York vs. Boston.

EVENING.
St. Louis vs. Philadelphia.
Chicago vs. Indianapolis.
St. Louis vs. Boston.

NAVY OUTLINES RESTRICTED ZONE NEAR NAVY PIER

The navy yesterday designated all waters within approximately 400 yards of the Navy pier as a restricted area, warning all boat owners to stay clear of this region. The United States coast guard will patrol the waters about the pier to see that the order is observed.

Boundaries of the restricted area are as follows: The water area from Oak street shore on extension, including the waters to the north side of the Navy pier and from a line drawn from the east end north to a line extended from the Oak street shore on extension. The water area between the south side of the Navy pier and the south bulkhead pier and from a line drawn from the east end of the Navy pier to a line extended from the east end of the south bulkhead pier.

CHICAGO U. PREP BASKET TOURNEY TO OPEN TODAY

Du Sable Faces Kelvyn Park in Title Defense.

Today's Games

1 p. m.—Lake View vs. Parker.
2 p. m.—Crane vs. Manley.
3 p. m.—Amundsen vs. Wells.
4 p. m.—Hirsch vs. Tilden.
5 p. m.—Roosevelt vs. Calumet.
7 p. m.—Kelvyn Park vs. Du Sable.
8 p. m.—Taft vs. Washburne.
9 p. m.—Hyde Park vs. Senn.

Fifteen of the 39 Chicago public high school teams challenging Du Sable's supremacy in the University of Chicago's 24th annual interscholastic basketball tournament will start play in the preliminary elimination round at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Midway fieldhouse.

Du Sable begins its title defense in a contest with Kelvyn Park tonight at 7 o'clock. Manley, probably the strongest of the contenders playing in the initial round, will meet Crane at 2 p. m. Lake View will play Parker in the opener at 1 o'clock.

Senn Faces Hyde Park.

Another close contest is expected when Senn meets Hyde Park to close the opening session at 9 p. m.

Led by Nathaniel Clifton, 6 feet 6 inch center, Du Sable is not expected to have much trouble beating its west side adversaries in the first stage of the title defense. But if the lofty Negro quintet can continue to use height in conjunction with a slow but relaxed and assured style of play to win in the succeeding half dozen brackets of the tourney it will be the first time any team has won twice since 1935.

In that year the event was limited to city public high schools after starting as a nation-wide affair in 1917. It was limited to Chicago region schools in 1931 because the popularity of the game made selection of the nation's best teams difficult, and was further restricted in 1935.

The tourney was limited to 32 public high schools until last year, when the full 40 were included.

Complete First Round Tuesday.

After a day's layoff following the preliminary round, 12 additional teams will join 4 of today's winners in first round play Monday. The opening round bye winners which begin competition Monday are: Sullivan vs. Harper, 3 p. m.; Marshall vs. Kelly, 4 p. m.; Lane vs. Foreman, 5 p. m.; Morgan Park vs. Harrison, 7 p. m; Von Steuben vs. Bowen, 8 p. m., and McKinley vs. Lindblom, 9 p. m. The 1 and 2 o'clock games will be between the winners of the Lake View-Parker and Crane-Manley games and winners of the Amundsen-Wells and Hirsch-Tilden contests.

The remainder of the competing schools will complete the first round Tuesday, and the second round play will follow the same schedule New Year's eve.

LOYOLA BEATS UCLA, 53 TO 45; ROTTNER STARS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26 [Special].—Lanky Mike Dougherty and Mickey Rottner combined tonight to give Loyola university of Chicago a 53 to 45 basketball victory over the University of California at Los Angeles.

Rottner accounted for 15 points, ten of them in the second half. Dougherty, who only scored seven points, more than paid for his trip west by blocking at least a dozen Bruin shots at the basket. The Loyola defense consisted of this slender giant standing by the basket and knocking the shots out as they came.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE retirement of Boots Weber, vice president emeritus of the Cubs, endured less than a year. . . . He is the new boss man of Wrigley field, Los Angeles, in charge of everything having to do with real estate, from hamburgers to blackouts. . . . Almost every one agrees that the 1941 Chicago Bears were the greatest team the National Football league has produced and there seems to be the same unanimity of opinion about the competency of Chuck Sweeney as a field judge. . . . He was the most efficient workman, college or pro, this department saw this season. . . . If Elmer Layden can attract a few more officials of Sweeney's caliber to the professional league, he soon will have the best staff in football. . . . The scenes of the Chicago baseball writers' frolic Jan. 6 are to be laid in a saloon. . . . Most of the entertainers are protesting to their bosses that they won't know how to act in such a setting. . . . Clarence Rowland, new president of the Los Angeles Angels, who dashed east for the winter baseball meetings, is staying in Chicago thru the holidays. . . . He insists that the fact he is allergic to Japs has nothing to do with his love for dear old middle western Chicago. . . . Clark Shaughnessy, Stanford football coach, spent Christmas with his brother in Minneapolis. . . . After spending a day at the national convention of the football coaches association meeting in Detroit he will go to New Orleans for the Sugar bowl and East-West games. . . . Shaughnessy is convinced that the so-called Atherton plan, whereby Pacific coast conference rules are enforced by a commissioner instead of by a group of athletic directors, is curbing proselyting and subsidizing of college football players. . . . He ought to know because Stanford lost eight freshmen this fall on Atherton's decisions. . . . Some day when other conferences become serious about enforcement of their rules, they may adopt a similar system. . . .

This Is the Valley.

This is the valley that we used to know
When you and I were just a lad and lass,
We trod together thru its winter snow
And frolicked in the springtime o'er its grass;
Stars glowed like water lilies in the brook
On summer evenings as we tripped along,
And every grassy cranny and cool nook
Was vibrant with the music of your song.

This is the valley, but its life has fled
Since you were laid to rest beneath its sod,
And all the honeysuckle vines are dead
Along the winding pathways where we trod;
Yet sometimes in the dusk my heart still thrills,
Hearing your laughter ringing in the hills. —T. E. B.

PERRY INJURED; DEFAULTS IN 3D SET TO BOBBY

Frank Beats Budge, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—Professional Champion Fred Perry suffered a painful injury and was forced to default to Bobby Riggs tonight in the opening match of their cross-country tennis tour in Madison Square Garden.

Perry fell heavily on the canvas surface after failing to return a drive which placed Riggs, the 1941 American amateur champion, within two points of victory at 6-3, 4-6, 5-4, in games, and 30-15 in points, on service.

Perry was carried from the court on a stretcher and taken to Polyclinic hospital, where his injury was diagnosed as severe contusions of the radial arm of the right arm. He is expected to be able to resume play after a few days' rest.

Matches Attract 11,237.

The abrupt ending dampened the enthusiasm of the crowd of 11,237 which paid $26,404.75 and cheered repeatedly as Frankie Kovacs, who turned professional with Riggs in November, upset the veteran Don Budge in the opening match, 6-4, 2-6, 8-4. Kovacs won the crowd early with his clowning antics long familiar to amateur galleries, and took the match late in the third set with deep, booming drives which drove Budge away from his favorite net position.

Promoter Alexis Thompson of Philadelphia drafted John Nogrady, chubby New York professional, to take Perry's place in the wind-up doubles match. Nogrady and Budge defeated Riggs and Kovacs, 6-3, 10-8. However, Thompson was unable to say definitely who will replace Perry tomorrow night for the troupe's first road performance in Trenton, N. J.

Perry showed no control of his running forehand and failed to hit securely off his backhand in the first set. Meantime, Riggs displayed craftiness and resourcefulness in breaking up Perry's game with soft spin shots, loop drives, and lobs.

Perry's Forehand Fails.

In the second set Riggs slumped, was entirely defensive in his hitting and failed on his return of service. Bobby picked up in the deciding set and Perry could not make his run-in shots and was seemingly headed for defeat when he suffered his fall.

Budge rifled two clean service aces to begin with and Kovacs took the second game on errors from Budge's backhand.

Budge was feeling the effects of long, bitter rallies, and Kovacs pulled even at 4-all. The first break came in the ninth game, which also went to Kovacs at love. Kovacs then won the 10th game for the set at 6-4.

Kovacs extended his sequence to five games by going ahead at 2-0 in the second set. Budge checked him with a love game, then broke thru at 9-7 as Kovacs double faulted twice, to even at 2-all. Budge took the fifth at love.

Kovacs frittered away the sixth with four backhand errors. Budge won the next two also for six in a row and the set, 6-2.

Frank Turns It On.

After Budge had won the opening game of the final set, Kovacs ran thru three games brilliantly with the loss of only two points. In the sixth, Kovacs pulled up from 15-40, making the score 4-2 for the latter.

Budge tried desperately again to break thru in the eighth, going to the net, but Kovacs was brilliant under pressure. Frank had three match points in the ninth, which went to Budge at 10-8, but Kovacs ended matters in the 10th.

Drop Plans to Match Texas, Minnesota Seniors

Houston, Tex., Dec. 26 (AP).—A group of Houstonians who sought to match the University of Texas seniors with the University of Minnesota seniors in afootball game in Chicago said tonight plans for the game had been abandoned. Inability to get all the players under contract was given as the reason.

STATE RECEIVES $2,846,000 FROM RING AND TURF

Track Revenue Double of Any Previous Year.

The state received revenue of $2,846,800 from horse racing, wrestling, and professional and amateur boxing conducted in Illinois during the year. Boxing and wrestling contributed $56,648 and racing realized $1,790,152, it was revealed yesterday in the annual reports submitted to Gov. Dwight Green by the athletic commission and racing board.

The athletic commission operating on a reduced budget of 30 per cent, concludes 1941 with a profit of $6,105. There was a deficit of $17,506 in 1940. There were 65 professional fight shows, 307 pro mat cards, and 315 amateur boxing programs.

Record Racing Revenue.

Revenue from racing was twice as large as in any previous year according to Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, chairman of the racing board. During the 222 days of racing, Illinois had its best season in eight years. Half the state's revenue from this source goes to the Agricultural Premium fund for the support of state and county fairs, and agricultural extension work and societies. The fund also aids disabled veterans and their orphans and widows.

There were eight meetings at five Chicagoland tracks and Fairmount park. Arlington Park led all tracks in receipts with $482,093, followed by Washington Park with $404,139.89, Hawthorne, with $325,368.92, and Lincoln Fields, with $180,869.28, were third and fourth, respectively.

It was pointed out by Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, chairman of the racing board, that the 1941 horse racing act, which provides for a two per cent tax on mutuel receipts, did not become effective until the 10th day of the meeting at Lincoln Fields and missed entirely the spring meeting of Sportsman's Park.

Sportsman's Park—April 25-May 16 [19 days].
Lincoln Fields—May 18-June 20 [30 days].
Arlington Park—June 22-Aug. 1 [36 days].
Washington Park—Aug. 3-Sept. 7 [31 days].
Hawthorne—Sept. 9-Oct. 17 [34 days].
Sportsman's Park—Oct. 19-Oct. 31 [12 days].
Fairmount Park—May 30-July 4 [26 days].
Fairmount Park—Aug. 29-Oct. 10 [32 days].

Stadium Holds 12 Shows.

Twelve of the 65 professional shows were held in the Chicago Stadium's indoor and outdoor arenas under the sponsorship of William R. Rand. Six outdoor cards attracted crowds totaling 24,897 and gross receipts aggregating $56,911, while six indoor programs brought out 71,545 fans, who paid $351,534. Totals were 121,339 spectators, contributing to gross receipts amounting to $465,356.

These gates are the largest realized by Stadium shows in recent years.

The series of outdoor shows lost $6,213, but the indoor programs more than made up for these losses. Profits realized from the fall and spring shows aggregated $34,000. Thus net proceeds were $27,787. Promoter Rand and the Stadium split this sum.

15,087 Largest Crowd.

The largest crowd was the 15,087 which paid $48,475 to see Tony Zale successfully defend his middleweight championship by knocking out Al Hostak in the indoor arena on May 28. Greatest outdoor attendance was 6,284 when Booker Beckwith conquered Clarence [Red] Burman on Aug. 27. Receipts were $15,698.

Stadium figures for 1941 follow:

INDOOR.

Tony Zale beat Steve Mamakos [10], nontitle, Jan. 10 before 11,064; receipts, $22,680. Profits, $5,000.

Zale knocked out Mamakos [14], title, Feb. 21 before 14,306; receipts, $31,208. Profits, $10,000.

Billy Conn stopped Gunnar Barlund [8] April 4 before 14,418; receipts, $31,201. Profits, $6,000.

Zale knocked out Al Hostak [2], title, May 28 before 15,087; receipts, $48,475. Profits, $10,000.

Bob Pastor beat Booker Beckwith [10] Nov. 7 before 9,881; receipts, $25,315. Profits, $3,000.

OUTDOOR.

Beckwith knocked out Nash Garrison [1] July 9 before 3,774; receipts, $8,476. Loss, $456.

Zale knocked out Ossie Harris [1], nontitle, July 23 before 3,799; receipts, $8,336. Loss, $1,764.

Johnny Colan knocked out Mamakos [7] Aug. 13 before 3,853; receipts, $8,514. Loss, $2,000.

Beckwith beat Red Burman [10] Aug. 27 before 6,284; receipts, $15,698. Profits, $2,000.

Colan stopped Ernie Vigh [8] Sept. 10 before 4,437; receipts, $10,263. Loss, $1,500.

Tony [Cianciola] Martin beat Coley Welch [10] Sept. 24 before 2,750; receipts, $5,623. Loss, $2,513.

TWO SWIM STARS ARE INJURED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP).—Two aquatic stars, here for a national swimming meet Sunday, may be unable to participate because of training accidents.

Lou Shienman, backstroke star for North Carolina State, and Charles Batterman of Columbus, Ohio State diving star, were injured Wednesday. Shienman accidentally dived on Batterman, who was swimming below.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Double B., $13.60 straight, $6.80 place, $4.50 show; Votum, $5.00 place, $3.90 show; Uncle Walter, $8.70 show.

DOUBLE B. under a powerful ride, just lasted to win. VOTUM, on the outside all the way, was taken wide entering stretch, closed with a rush, and would have won in another stride. UNCLE WALTER moved up very fast and ran a good race. SIZZLING PAN, away well, showed good speed but weakened in last sixteenth. THROTTLE WIDE had no mishap.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Three year olds and up. One and one-sixteenth miles. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 3:57. Off at 3:58½. Winner, ch. g., 4, by Whiskalong-Gadfest, by Swift and Sure. Owner, C. E. Nelson. Trainer, P. Brady. Time, :23 4-5, :47 2-5, 1:12, 1:37 4-5, 1:44 2-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Nosy, $28.00 straight, $9.80 place, $6.10 show; Busy Man, $3.90 place, $2.90 show; He Man, $4.20 show.

NOSY moved fast to far turning, then he moved up, raced CHALLANTE into defeat, then drew away, winning easily. BUSY MAN, never far from the pace, closed gamely. HE MAN came from far back. CHALLANTE had plenty of speed for seven furlongs, then curled up. TIME SHEET improving.

SIXTH RACE—The Danis. Purse $1,200. Two year olds. Six furlongs. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:20. Off at 4:27½. Winner, ch. g., 2, by Royal Minstrel-War Lassie, by Man o' War. Owner, Mrs. I. Lazare. Trainer, W. O. Hicks. Net value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Two dollar mutuels paid: War Melody, $9.30 straight, $4.80 place, $3.50 show; Putitthere, $6.50 place, $4.30 show; Isle de Pine, $5.30 show.

WAR MELODY broke nicely, was sent to the front, saved ground, and won easily. PUTITTHERE, well up, made a game effort. ISLE DE PINE came thru on inside and finished with a good burst of speed. TETE-A-TETE was weakly handled. MUY VESTIDO lacked speed. HASTY KISS closed some ground.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Three year olds and up. One mile and 70 yards. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:55½. Off at once. Winner, ch. m., 4, by Transmute-Rye O' Baby by Bunting. Owner, E. K. Bryson. Trainer, J. Serio Jr. Time, :24 2-5, :48 1-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:39, 1:43 3-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Dudie, $6.20 straight, $3.90 place, $3.10 show; The Skipper, $10.30 place, $6.00 show; Uncle Eric, $8.00 show.

DUDIE outclassed his field, took lead early, and galloped home. THE SKIPPER improved his position gradually, came thru on inside, and was second in last stride. UNCLE ERIC finished very fast on the outside. COMMISSION ran good race and made a game effort. MELODY TONE ran good race.

Phils Add Two Clubs to Minor League Chain

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 26 (AP).—The Phillies announced today they had completed work agreements for the 1942 season with Trenton, N. J., in the class B Interstate league and Rome, N. Y., in the class C Canadian-American loop.

Favorites Get a Holiday at Tropical Park

Miami, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP).—Santa Claus didn't bring the form players a bit of luck this Christmas as the favorites in all eight races at Tropical Park today were defeated.

The program's feature, a six furlong test for smart juvenile platers known as the Dania purse, went to Mrs. L. Lazare's War Melody, a filly making her first start since last September.

Old Book Starts It.

Willie Day booted the $9.30 for $2 shot home first by five lengths in 1:11 1-5. S. F. Crew's Putitthere was second with R. J. Randolph's Isle de Pine third. Muy Vestido, the favorite, finished seventh in a field of 12.

The day of upsets started with Old Book, a $25.60 choice, winning the opening event with Shenuit, paying $131.70 for $2, lasting to head Bold Turk in the duel for second money.

BIG BUBBLE WINS.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 26 (AP).—Big Bubble, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shipp and with S. Anifantis up, won the Morphy purse, 6 furlong feature on a program of claiming races at the Fair Grounds today. Big Bubble finished a length and a half in front of Briar Play, with Lake View, the favorite, third.

Big Bubble paid $10.40 in the $2 mutuels. A place ticket on Briar Play was good for $12.00, and Lake View returned $3.40 for show.

GREENLEAF WILL SEEK 3 CUSHION BILLIARD TITLE

Ralph Greenleaf of New York, 17 times world's pocket billiard champion, will be among 10 contestants in the world's three cushion billiard title in the Morrison hotel Jan. 9 to 23.

Altho Greenleaf is regarded as one of the most skilled angle players in the country, this will be the first time that he has cast his lot with the three cushion masters in title competition.

Charles C. Peterson, world's fancy shot billiard champion and director of the three cushion tournament, yesterday recalled that several pocket billiard players have enjoyed championship success after they entered the three cushion field. Most prominent of these is Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., who won the angle crown 11 times. Layton, now recovering from injuries sustained in a traffic accident a year ago, will not compete in the 1942 tournament.

Other pocket stars who have won the three cushion billiard championship are John Daly, Tom Hueston, and the Cuban wizard, Alfredo De-Oro who, at the age of 80, is still active in New York billiard circles.

TEAMMATES WILL BE PALLBEARERS FOR TOMMY YARR

Former Notre Dame football teammates and friends will be pallbearers Monday morning at the funeral of Tommy Yarr, captain of the 1931 eleven, who died Wednesday following a heart attack. The pallbearers are Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's director of athletics, who played tackle on the 1929 and 1930 teams; Bert Metzger, Al Culver, Mike Koken, all members of the 1930 eleven; John Quinn, and Hugh Mulligan.

The funeral will be held at Our Lady Help of Christians church, 832 North Le Clair avenue, at 10 o'clock. Friends are being received in the funeral home at 5018 West Chicago avenue.

Schroeder Seeded No. 1 in Sugar Bowl Tennis

New Orleans, La., Dec. 26 (AP).—Ted Schroeder, national doubles champion, has been seeded No. 1 in the Sugar Bowl Tennis tournament opening Saturday. Wayne Sabin is second, Gardnar Mulloy third, and Bryan [Bitsy] Grant fourth. Seventeen are to compete.

OKLAHOMA AND DE PAUL QUINTETS TO MEET TONIGHT

Blue Demons Seek Seventh Victory of Season.

College Basketball

Ohio State at Stanford.
Oklahoma at De Paul.
Harvard at Bradley.
Purdue at Butler.
Indiana at George Washington.
Nebraska at Minnesota.
Michigan State at Syracuse.
Colorado at St. Joseph's [Pa.].
Southern California at Long Island U.
Rice at Fordham.

De Paul's Blue Demons will be trying for their seventh victory in eight games this evening when they meet the University of Oklahoma's Big Six conference five. The game will start in De Paul gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock.

De Paul, whose only defeat this season was dealt by Purdue, will attempt to harness the shooting of Gerald Tucker, high scoring Oklahoma center. Tucker, a sophomore, led the Sooner attack against St. John's of Brooklyn last Saturday by collecting 19 points.

In an effort to stem the Oklahoma offensive, Coach Bill Wendt has changed his starting lineup. Wendt has named Cliff Lind in place of Frank Wiscons, and replaced Guard Marsh Webb with Bernie Weksler. This is in accord with Wendt's policy of shifting his starting cast for each game. De Paul's only consistent starters have been Jimmy Cominsky, brilliant junior forward, and Capt. Bob Wozny. Wozny is a guard.

De Paul tonight will try to overcome its weakness at the free throw line. The Blue Demons, who have missed on an average of 11 penalty shots per game, have concentrated on free throw practice in drills this week.

Among the reserves who will probably see action are a trio of sophomores, Mel Frailey and Dick Starczyk, forwards, and Bill Ryan, a guard. They are expected to play in view of fine performances during practice sessions this week.

Lineup:

DE PAUL.		OKLAHOMA.
Kelly	F	Simon
Cominsky	F	Roberts
Lind	C	Tucker
Wozny	G	Rousey
Weksler	G	Roberts

HARVARD VS. BRADLEY

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—Bradley Tech, which defeated the University of California's basketball team, 46 to 34, on its trip to the Pacific coast, will return home tomorrow in time to meet Harvard. The Braves are hopeful of adding another defeat to those the Crimson has suffered in the midwest, largely because of the form they showed in winning on the coast after having lost their first two games of the season.

Coach A. J. Robertson of Bradley is looking to Paul McCall, senior guard, to pace the Braves thru this season. McCall has been the offensive star in the first three games and also has been outstanding on defense.

Harvard is coached by Earl Brown, former Notre Dame football and basketball star. The Crimson is making its first basketball visit to the midwest.

Probable lineups:

HARVARD.		BRADLEY TECH.
Romano	L. F	O'Brien
Luts	R. F	Ramsey
Luize	C	Hansen
Finegan	L. G	Chinuge
Buckley	R. G	McCall

ILLINI BACK TODAY

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—With only one more preliminary game—Harvard, Dec. 30—remaining before they open the Big Ten season at Wisconsin Jan. 3, Illinois basketball players returned from home today to resume practice.

The squad consisted of 12 players, Art Mathisen, Ray Bergeson, Capt. Bill Hocking, Ken Menke, Jack Smiley, Chuck Fowler, Ed Parker, Dave Dillon, Vic Wukovits, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance, and Cliff Fulton.

Wukovits, on the basis of his performance against Notre Dame, may press Mathisen for the starting berth at center but will also practice at guard. Smiley is in the lead at present to team with Menke at forward while Phillip and Vance look best at guard.

N. U. FIVE RETURNS

The Wildcats will enter their annual battle with the Irish with a record of victories over Western Michigan, Butler, and Pittsburgh. They have set a fast scoring pace with 151 points, an average of 50 1/3 points per game. Opponents have scored 117 points.

Accuracy from the free throw line has played an important rôle in the Wildcat successes. Out of 60 attempts, the Purple has sunk 43 shots. In the Butler game, Northwestern was outscored from the field, 16 baskets to 15, but made 16 out of 19 free throws to win, 46 to 40.

Bud Hasse Returns.

Otto Graham, sophomore forward who leads the team in scoring with 61 points, has made 15 out of 18 free throws. He made four each against Western Michigan and Butler and seven against Pittsburgh. Russ Wendland, guard, has been successful in 12 out of 14 free throw attempts.

The Wildcats expect to be strengthened for the Notre Dame game by the return of Bud Hasse, veteran center, who was out of the Pitt game because of illness. Hasse's presence will give the Purple three centers who are putting up a lively battle for the starting assignment. The others are Don Clawson a senior, and Ted Esser, a junior.

THE GUMPS—WHEN MAMA SQUAWKS—MONEY TALKS!

Missouri Team Not on Picnic in Sugar Bowl

Edgewater Park, Miss., Dec. 26 (AP).—Two years ago the Missouri Tigers went on a picnic to Miami and lost the Orange bowl football game. With that object lesson in mind, they're making their Sugar bowl venture purely a business trip.

Altho insisting they aren't offering belated excuses for their 21 to 7 loss to Georgia Tech on Jan. 1, 1940, the coaches and squad members who were there recall the team wasn't ready for the game. The Techmen took complete charge, after Paul Christman had pitched Missouri to an early touchdown.

Took It as a Picnic.

"Yes, we took it as a picnic in Miami," said the Tigers' captain and center, Darold Jenkins. "We didn't talk about the game much and when we did we didn't take it seriously. Besides, there was too much to do in Miami.

"We want to win this one with Fordham. There are too many sophomores on the squad to get picnicky. There isn't much to do besides play football out here away from a town—and we're here to play football."

Altho the boys had a Christmas holiday and will go into New Orleans for a party Sunday, Coach Don Faurot has sent them thru a much tougher preparation than he did two years ago.

Maintained Steady Drills.

"We laid off for two weeks after the regular season in 1939," he said, "but this year we had three sessions a week. Besides, we have a much bigger squad here, 46 men. In Miami we couldn't get in enough rough work after four or five men were hurt."

Only four members of the present squad made the Miami trip and none was a regular. They are Jenkins, Rayburn Chase, Bob Jeffries, and Bud Wallach.

GEORGIA REACHES MIAMI

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP).—Georgia's football team arrived here today, and Coach Wally Butts hustled the players out for an after-dark limbering up drill before they went to their hotel rooms. Only five days remained in which to prepare for the Orange bowl clash with Texas Christian.

DUKE BACK AT WORK

Durham, N. C., Dec. 26 [Special].—Oregon State and Duke today got down to the serious business of preparing for their transplanted Rose bowl meeting here on Jan. 1. Duke—back to work after a five day holiday—reported in perfect shape except for Moffet Storer, the No. 2 back, who has a knee injury which may keep him out of action.

Oregon State's coach, Lon Stiner, was satisfied with the physical condition of his squad. "The boys' legs are in good shape, considering our long trip from the coast," Stiner said.

This Is Story of Eddleman, Prep Star of Stars

Centralia, Ill., Dec. 26 (AP).—Dwight Eddleman said today he would not decide where he expects to go to college until next spring.

Dwight is one of the greatest Illinois prep athletes in history—holder of the prep basketball scoring record, half back on the generally accepted all-state football team this fall and high jump champion for the last two years.

Right now he is all wrapped up in the current basketball campaign and has scored 128 points in six games for an average of 21.3 points. This is only a shade under the 21.5 point average he compiled last year while making 969 points in 45 games for an all-time record.

Eddleman probably won't better that record in this, his senior year, for Centralia has only 26 games scheduled, against 34 a year ago, not including tournament play.

He will be 19 years old tomorrow and will celebrate by appearing in a game in Carbondale.

He is 6 feet 2 and weighs about 188 pounds.

Incidentally, he doesn't expect to play college football. Instead, he said today, he plans to concentrate on basketball, track, and baseball, if the latter two sports do not conflict.

Last summer he pitched for the Culver Military school nine that won five games and lost one. He had a pretty good hitting record, too. Next to pitching he likes the outfield.

FORMER JOCKEY DIES.

INDIANA DEFEATS PITT, 50 TO 41, IN LAST 2 MINUTES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 26 [Special].—Indiana university, with one of the better basketball teams in the powerful Western conference, defeated the University of Pittsburgh, 50 to 41, tonight in the first stop of a two game holiday tour of the east. The Hoosiers will meet George Washington U. in Washington tomorrow night in a tuneup for its first Big Nine test against Northwestern university in Evanston on Jan. 3.

The Hoosiers started fast against the Panthers and were out in front at the half, 22 to 18. In the second half, however, Pitt began to find the range and pulled up to a 40 all score with two minutes to go. Irwin Swanson then dropped into quick goals for Indiana and it was all over but the shouting. Ralph Hamilton added two baskets and Ed Denton made two free throws to conclude the Indiana scoring. Hamilton was the scoring star of Indiana's third victory over Pittsburgh in the six games of their series to date. He accounted for seven field goals and two free throws for a total of 16 points.

Capt. Larry Patrath topped the losers with 14 points. Lineup:

'LET'S SPEED UP FOOTBALL,' SAYS CLIPPER SMITH

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 26 (AP).—Maurice [Clipper] Smith, football coach at Villanova college, suggested today that the rules be changed in favor of offensive play in order to help make the American people offensive conscious in the war.

"In this time of stress when electric alertness and offensive action is so important we should try to keep the people in an offensive frame of mind, even if it be thru the medium of football," Smith asserted.

"I think the rules committee should consider changing the rules to permit running with a fumbled ball. The knee down rule also should be changed and I believe passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage should be permitted," he added.

St. Ignatius to Hold Open House for Alumni Monday

St. Ignatius High school will hold its annual basketball and carnival night Monday at 1076 West Roosevelt road, with alumni who are now in the armed services as special guests. Feature of the event will be a game between an alumni five which is to include Eddie Prim, Whitey Gizewski, Ed Hudson, Paul Sheetz, Bob Hannon, and others, and the Surrent St. Ignatius quintet. Walter Dwyer, a 1937 graduate, is chairman.

Favored Fives Lose Openers in DeKalb Meet

De Kalb, Ill., Dec. 26 [Special].—The elimination of the favored De Kalb and Palatine quintets featured the opening of the annual De Kalb prep basketball tournament today. West Chicago defeated De Kalb, 27 to 24, and Shabbona disposed of Palatine, 31 to 25. The quarterfinals will be played tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Joining Shabonna and West Chicago in the quarter-final round were Hinckley, Geneva, Belvidere, Lanark, Waterman and Sycamore. Shabbona is paired with Hinckley in the opening game tomorrow afternoon and they will be followed on the court by Geneva and Sycamore. In the evening program Belvidere will oppose West Chicago and Lanark will play Waterman.

Sycamore scored its seventh straight victory in eliminating Glenbard, 37 to 16. Waterman also extended its winning streak to eight when it conquered Batavia, 37 to 26. Geneva advanced at the expense of Leland, 32 to 23; Hinckley won from Byron, 23 to 22; Belvidere defeated St. Charles, 32 to 15; Lanark triumphed over Amboy, 26 to 16.

80 TEAMS OPEN 38TH CHICAGO BOWLING MEET

The first 80 of 1,621 handicap teams that are to compete in the Chicago Bowling association's 38th annual tournament during the next two weeks, last night posted scores which indicated the event may see record totals rolled.

The tournament, at Bensinger's 131 South Wabash avenue center, opened with ceremonies including the rolling of the first ball by President Art Temple of the CBA and an appearance by Elmer Baumgarten, secretary of the American Bowling congress.

Majors Fire 2,955.

Second was the West End Bowling team, which shot 2,952. Individual star was John Pirok of the Southwest recreation five, who rolled a 279 game and 622 series.

Five Squads Roll Today.

Five squads, most of which will have 40 teams, will roll today and six tomorrow. Leaders after last night's first squad:

WGA OPENS WORK UNDER NEWLY FORMED PROGRAM

Opening a campaign designed to enroll thousands of American golfers in a vast humanitarian program, the Western Golf association yesterday began operations under its newly adopted constitution, establishing national caddy welfare as the principal activity.

Working in coöperation with the Chicago District Golf association, the WGA's first drive will be in the Chicago area. T. C. Butz, president, predicts that at least 1,000 Chicagoland golfers will pay the $5 annual fee under the new individual membership plan. The nation-wide membership campaign will get under way later in the winter.

In addition to all proceeds from membership fees, the profits from the WGA's three annual tournaments—the Western Amateur, the Western Open, and the Western Junior—will be turned over to the caddy welfare fund.

In addition to an expansion of the present Evans Scholarship fund at Northwestern university, which now is sending 26 former caddies thru college, plans for caddy aid include education of the golfing public to the needs of the boys, improvement of the working conditions on the courses, medical and dental assistance, guidance and financial assistance, and general social betterment.

DePaul Quintet Beats Fenwick in Junior Meet

Tourney Facts

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
St. Patrick, 36; St. Ignatius, 23.
De Paul, 20; Fenwick, 16.
St. Philip, 29; Holy Trinity, 11.
St. George, 42; St. Gregory, 5.

GAMES TONIGHT.
7 p. m.—Weber vs. St. Mel.
8 p. m.—Mount Carmel vs. De La Salle.
9 p. m.—Leo vs. St. Michael.

De Paul academy dealt a first round defeat to Fenwick High yesterday in the Oak Park school's third annual Catholic junior basketball tournament. The score was 20 to 16 and knocked the host quintet out of a chance to play in the quarter-finals tomorrow night.

Three more first round games will be played tonight. Catholic High of Joliet, which drew a bye, enters the quarter-final without appearing in a first round contest.

One Sided Scores.

One sided scores were recorded in the first two games yesterday, St. Philip routing Holy Trinity, 29 to 11, and St. George swamping St. Gregory, 42 to 5. Bill Shea and Ed Kelly led St. Philip to victory, accounting for 15 of their team's 29 points between them. St. George was paced by Jim Nickol, who scored six field goals for 12 points, seven more than tallied by the entire St. Gregory quintet, and individual high for the day.

John Martin, with two baskets and two free throws for six points, led De Paul to victory over Fenwick, but individual scoring honors were captured by Ed Smith of the losers, who registered nine points.

St. Patrick's Wins.

In the final game of the night St. Patrick's whipped St. Ignatius, 36 to 23, Don Kenney leading the attack with four baskets and three free throws for a total of 11 points. Lineups:

Harrison's 67 Tops Beaumont Open Tourney

Beaumont, Tex., Dec. 26 (AP).—E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., blistered the country club course today to take the 18 hole lead in the $5,000 Beaumont Open golf tournament with a 4 under par 67.

Not far behind were Herman Keiser of Akron, O., who fired a 68, and veteran Tony Penna of Dayton, O., who carded a 69. Harrison's card was 33—34—67; Keiser's, 33—35—68.

The three favorites, Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa.; Byron Nelson, Toledo, and Jimmy Demaret, Detroit, were farther back. Hogan failed to finish with the 20 leaders, and carded a 33—42—75. Nelson had a 37—34—71, and Demaret posted a 35—37—72.

Henry Picard of Oklahoma City, winner of the recent Harlingen [Tex.] Open, came in with a 71, even par. Low scorers for the first 18 holes:

PLAN UNIFORMITY IN FUNDAMENTAL GOLF TEACHINGS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26 [Wide World].—There's a move afoot to take the confusion and mystery out of golf for America's army of 4,000,000 golfers and perhaps convert thousands of sports minded people from spectators to participants.

For months the Professional Golfers association has been mapping out a teaching program. It was designed for peacetime purposes, but it fits into the new scheme of things like a glove over Bob Jones' left hand.

Chairman of the teaching committee is serious, baldish, studious Joe Novak of Los Angeles' Bel Air Country club. Novak believes golf loses almost as many followers thru discouragement as it gains.

Seeks Uniform Instruction.

He's determined to keep golfers golfing, and his key platform plank is to make the instruction uniform—a word, incidentally, that threw the nation's pros into a panic when it was first mentioned a year ago.

The more they see it, and the more Novak expounds his theories, the less fearsome it becomes, however. This was proved by the congratulations he received after airing his views at the recent PGA meeting in Chicago.

Novak, inaugurating a novel system of classifying at the PGA championship at Denver last fall, discovered what he contended all along; namely, [1] there is certain definite form or style of golf, and the payoff, as in any other endeavor, comes with good form; [2] the better golfers all do the same things in a surprisingly uniform manner.

Novak's deductions as to good form were proved in the final analysis when the top pros finished according to his rankings.

Similarity in Style.

"This proved, too," he said, "that there is a striking similarity of style and form in those good players which makes it possible some day to set up and establish hard and fast rules for good golf results. In other words, it is possible to set up a certain definite standard of good golf form.

"By having such a standard, set up and agreed upon, differences of theories and differences of teaching methods will be lessened. They may even disappear."

Novak checked his subjects during the tournament on three points, which he considers basic in good play. [1] Their sense of balance and poise thruout the swing; [2] movement or swing of the club, the freedom, fullness and the power of the movement; [3] position and control of the club position thruout the swing.

The first entailed checking a player's footwork; the second, to determine the pivot or body motion; the third, to rate a player's hand action [not wrist action].

Novak believes that teachers can reach an agreement on these three basic points, and no confusion would follow in correcting individual peculiarities or faults displayed in the execution of these basic factors. Such a program, he believes, would deaden the sound of the term standardization.

Most Golfers Differ.

Novak agrees that golfers differ in physical makeup and ability of coordination. He suggested that those can be singled out and classified in an awkard squad, to borrow an army practice.

"These backward pupils can be given individual attention, and perhaps some varied or personal instruction to aid them over obstacles that resulted from improper understanding or physical weaknesses.

"But fundamentally," he concluded, "they would still be getting the same instruction as the others, and as soon as the physical or mental deficiencies are corrected, they, too, would perform properly."

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Pat Maloney's upset of William Johnson, Savoy Athletic club welterweight star, gave the Madison A. C., a 5 to 3 victory over Savoy in a Chicago Amateur Boxing league show last night. The decision, the first the Madison team has scored in five league matches, lifted it from the cellar to a share of fifth place in the standings with West Suburban club and Milwaukee. The setback was the second the Savoy club has suffered and dropped it from third to fourth position.

Lou Leonetti won the most exciting bout on the card when Wendell White, Savoy junior welterweight, was disqualified by Referee Jimmy Lavelle for landing a low blow in the second round. The crowd of 1,000 was disappointed in the manner in which the fight ended, but before White delivered that unintentional foul punch, he had been sent spinning to the canvas twice in the first round and four times in the second. This triumph made the score 3 to 2 for Madison.

Baratta Wins Again.

Jimmy Baratta skillful Madison club welterweight then clinched a tie for his team when he survived a no count knockdown in the opening round to outpoint William Jordan, rugged Savoy fighter. By his achievement Baratta, registered his fifth consecutive victory to maintain his average of scoring a point in every league match in which his team has appeared thus far.

The west siders took a two point lead when Gene Roberts, Madison A. C. bantamweight, beat Julius Sparks and Ernie LeBeau, Madison A. C. welterweight, knocked out Joe Johnston. The southside fighters then went to work, Al Adams and Julian Ford hammering out decisions over Dale Kruger, featherweight, and Glen List, welterweight, of the Madison club, respectively, to tie the score, 2 to 2.

Meets West Suburban Next.

YEAR-OLD FIRM 'SHAMES' SANTA, EMPLOYES AVER

Pays Big Bonuses; Gives Turkeys, Watches.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 26 (AP).—Employés of Jack & Heintz, Inc., a recently established war production plant which already has more than 20 million dollars of government orders, averred today that the company had outdone Santa Claus.

The year old plant paid a bonus totaling $650,000 to 800 employés who are called "associates" by President William S. Jack, 53 year old former business agent for an AFL machinists union. The bonuses, based on seniority, ranged from $100 to $600, with still higher awards to key salaried workers holding executive posts.

Each Gets Watch and Turkey.

The company gave each "associate" an 18 jewel wristwatch and a turkey weighing between 15 and 19 pounds, dressed. Thru the "associates" it delivered Christmas bushel food baskets to 1,600 needy families of greater Cleveland. Each basket weighed 54 pounds, and contained a turkey.

The company offices occupy three floors in a downtown building which has many other tenants. Each of the building's 20 elevator operators got a turkey, a crate of oranges, and 10 pounds of English walnuts.

That isn't all. The Christmas payments to employés were in addition to monthly bonuses which average $30.

Free Coffee When Desired.

The company bowling teams get free tailor made bowling shirts; music plays over a loudspeaker system four hours a day in the plant, and coffee urns are set up where "associates" can get a free cup whenever they want one.

Every Wednesday is "hamburger day" at the plant. Every "associate" gets a free hamburger. And, Jack disclosed today:

PIPE LINE FILES BIG STOCK AND BOND OFFERINGS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company, Kansas City, has filed a registration statement with the securities commission covering 10 million dollars of 3 per cent first mortgage bonds, series C, due 1962, and 150,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value.

The company plans to offer certain shares of the new preferred to holders of 63,566 shares of its outstanding common stock for exchange at a rate of one share of preferred for each 5½ shares of common held. Holders of 743,801 shares of common have waived preëmptive rights to subscribe for the new preferred, the statement said.

The bonds and those shares not taken by common stock holders will be sold thru competitive bidding.

Proceeds of the transactions will be used to redeem outstanding class A preferred stock and for purchase from Columbia Gas and Electric corporation of all of the outstanding securities of Michigan Gas Transmission corporation and Indiana Gas Distribution corporation and from the Ohio Fuel Gas company its natural gas pipe lines in Indiana and Ohio.

COLUMBIA COMMON.

Please furnish me with information on Columbia Gas and Electric common stock. The common has been declining in price. Have earnings been lower?—A. S. W.

Answer: Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, like other utilities, has incurred sharply higher federal taxes in 1941. Altho operating revenues increased net profit declined.

In the nine months thru September this year, net profit was $7,947,414 compared with $9,749,785 in the same 1940 period. Federal income and excess profits taxes for the three 1941 quarters totaled $10,636,390, against same time gross revenue rose to $87,-$5,751,003 the preceding year. At the $75,989 from $81,464,305 a year ago. Comparative figures for years ended Dec. 31 follow [last three ciphers omitted]:

1940	$109,998	$72,524	$12,840
1939	99,934	64,710	12,083
1938	92,968	61,755	10,230
1937	98,615	63,660	13,573
1936	90,884	56,199	13,223

Columbia Gas has 12,223,256 shares of no par common stock outstanding. A dividend of 10 cents was paid in February this year. In 1940, 30 cents a share was distributed, but no payments were made in 1939 and 1938. Regular dividends have been paid on the company's 6 per cent and 5 per cent preferred and 5 per cent preference stocks. Funded debt totals approximately $180,000,000.

Columbia Gas is a holding company whose operating subsidiaries are engaged in the production and distribution of gas and electricity in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, New York, Maryland, Virginia, and Indiana. Integration proceedings under the holding company act are pending.

RELIEF ACT.

I am about to be drafted and would appreciate it if you would tell me the provisions of the federal law regarding payment of rent, mortgage interest and instalment credit by men in military service.—V. H. G.

Answer: A summary of the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act of 1940 may be obtained from the Investors' Guide department upon request. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

RECORD SALES.

I recall that a year ago sales of the Rath Packing company, Waterloo, Ia., were the highest in the company's history. Have you 1941 figures?—M. T.

all-time peak of $81,835,994, compared

Answer: Net sales for the fiscal year ended Nov. 1, 1941, rose to the all-time peak of $81,835,944, compared with the previous high of $58,258,996 in 1940. The company packs and processes meats.

Lambs Jump 25 to 50 Cents; Hogs and Cattle Are Uneven

A jump of 25 to 50 cents in lamb prices was the principal development at the stock yards yesterday. Top loads of wool lambs reached $12.90 a hundred pounds, compared with $12.40 the day before Christmas and $10 a year ago. The price was above any corresponding December day since 1929.

Other classes of sheep and yearlings also reached the highest price levels in 12 years for late December. Yearling wethers were quoted up to $10.25, or $2.25 above the same day last year.

The spread of prices in the hog market showed a tendency to widen as buyers scrambled for the dwindling supply of lights and underweights in receipts. Average weights are getting heavier, and farmers are holding the lightest hogs back for feeding. This has created an acute situation for plants that specialize in light pork cuts.

Hogs weighing 210 pounds and under met brisk demand at strong to 10 cents higher prices, while heavier butchers were slow and steady to 10 cents lower. Sows rose 10 to 15 cents.

Sorted 140 to 210 pound young hogs outsold all other weights, bringing mostly from $11.40 to $11.60, while a range of $11.15 to $11.35 bought the majority of 220 to 270 pounders. Top sows reached $10.65.

A few yearling cattle held steady, but most steers ruled weak to 25 cents lower. Mostly steady prices were paid for heifers, calves, and bulls. Beef cows, canners and cutters were strong to slightly higher.

WAR CREATES 4 BIG PROBLEMS IN OIL INDUSTRY

Needs More Plants for Airplane Gasoline.

New York, Dec. 26 (AP).—War has created four major problems for the oil industry—production of aviation gasoline, toluene for TNT, synthetic rubber, and transportation — the Lamp, Standard Oil company [N. J.] publication, said today. Explaining these problems; it said:

The industry must treble facilities for making 100 octane gasoline for airplanes. The government expects a need for 150,000 barrels daily of this type fuel.

Demand for supplies of toluene, used in the manufacture of TNT, has increased enormously. The petroleum industry has placed the requisite raw materials and its technical staff at the disposal of the government which is financing needed expansion.

Synthetic rubber is a petroleum industry responsibility because the raw materials are found in large part in natural gases and refinery gases produced along with petroleum and its products.

Adequate transportation must be supplied to carry oil across the seas to American ships, airplanes, and submarines as well as to allies. By the fourth quarter of 1942 tanker tonnage in the allied countries is expected to reach the equivalent of 2,-700,000 dead weight tons annually, which would be well in excess of any tanker losses which axis aircraft and submarines have been able to inflict so far.

INSURANCE FIRM PLANS BIG U. S. BOND PURCHASES

New York, Dec. 26 (AP).—Directors of the Manhattan Life Insurance company today resolved at a special meeting to use, until further order, future renewal premiums on all policies entirely for the purchase of United States government bonds, J. P. Fordyce, president, announced.

Fordyce said he had notified the secretary of the treasury of this endeavor of the company, one of the oldest insurance firms in the country, to assist in the war effort.

[A recent estimate calculated that more than 25 per cent of the assets of life insurance companies is invested in obligations of federal, state, and local governments.]

CIO PACT SIGNED AT FACTORY OF AIR ASSOCIATES

Bendix, N. J., Dec. 26 (AP).—The CIO's United Automobile Workers of America and Air Associates, Inc., signed tonight a labor contract granting pay increases to workers and ending a five months' union campaign for a working agreement. The contract provides a general pay increase of 10 cents an hour, a rise in minimum hourly wages from 40 to 65 cents for women and 75 cents for men, reclassification of workers, overtime pay and other concessions. Three strikes marked the union campaign, the last bringing army seizure of the plant Oct. 30.

People and Events

William J. Flaherty has been appointed general counsel for the Chicago Surface lines by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. He succeeds John R. Guilliams, who recently resigned. Flaherty and Igoe were law partners before Igoe was named United States district attorney in 1935.

J. H. Hille has been appointed Chicago district representative of the Process Equipment division of H. K. Porter Co., Inc. Mr. Hille, a native of Norway, has been independently engaged in the sale of raw materials to manufacturers of chemicals.

DRUG RETAILERS ASK COLLECTIVE PURCHASES LAW

Amendment of federal laws to permit independent retailers to bargain collectively in the purchase of merchandise was urged here yesterday by the National Association of Retail Druggists to help meet wartime problems of small stores.

Under the anti-trust laws, asserted John W. Dargavel, executive secretary, the nation's 1½ million small stores must do any coöperative buying thru a separate organization, in many cases an unnecessary expense. Yet large corporations, he said, are permitted under the laws to buy for many stores and to obtain more than their share of available items.

Small retailers, especially in smaller communities, Dargavel asserted, not only have difficulty replacing merchandise but are hard hit by priorities unemployment. He urged that the government expand and make more efficient its direct contacts with small industry.

4 CHICAGO FIRMS PAY $104,753 OF OVERTIME WAGES

Four Chicago companies which unintentionally misinterpreted the wage and hour law have made voluntary back wage payments aggregating $104,753 to 3,462 employés here and in their branch offices, Thomas O'Malley, regional director of the wage and hour division here, announced yesterday.

Edison General Electric Appliance company, 5600 Taylor street, paid $55,376 to 2,854 employés. The other companies were Robert W. Hunt company, 175 W. Jackson boulevard, $21,982 to 293 employés; Brinks, Inc., $20,177 to 157 employés, and Boss Bolt and Nut company, 3403 W. 47th street, $7,271 to 158 employés.

An additional $2,524 in back wages for 141 employés of other concerns was obtained under consent injunctions in federal District court yesterday.

Baldwin's New Orders Fall Far Below Year Ago

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 26 (AP).—Dollar value of orders placed with the Baldwin Locomotive Works and subsidiaries, including the Midvale company, totaled $11,391,741 in November, compared with $47,035,559 for the same month last year. This brought the total for the consolidated group to $163,571,490 for the first 11 months of 1941, compared with $155,027,658 for the corresponding period in 1940.

TIN STOCK PILES BELIEVED AMPLE FOR YEAR'S NEED

War Demand May Cause Copper Shortage.

The United States has a year's supply of tin if used sparingly but may run into a serious shortage of copper next year, a survey of the supplies of vital metals indicated yesterday.

Tin stockpiles of about 140,000 tons would last thru 1942, metal authorities said. The primary need for the metal is in the manufacture of cans in which to store food for the armed forces. No satisfactory substitute has been developed for the military storage of food for mobile forces.

Study Methods of Saving Tin.

Conservation of tin thru the reduction of the coating applied to steel sheets, and increased use of terne [an alloy of lead and tin] and the substitution of glass containers for civilian use were being considered as methods of stretching the limited supplies.

This country normally uses about 100,000 tons of tin a year and 90 per cent of the supply comes from Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies, now enveloped by the Pacific war.

Slight relief will come from the tin smelter at Texas City, Tex., which is expected to start operations using Bolivian ore early in March. Altho the smelter will be capable of producing 30,000 tons a year, output of only about 20,000 tons is anticipated in 1942. The government has arranged to obtain Bolivia's tin output for the next five years.

Copper to Be at Premium.

Copper, more directly required in waging war than tin, will be at a premium in 1942. Altho copper production in this country in 1941 was estimated at 1,060,000 tons, a new record, it was still below requirements.

The armed forces alone need about 900,000 tons of copper next year for the manufacture of shells and cartridges. Domestic production augmented by imports is expected to total 1,870,000 tons next year, providing shipping space is available for Latin American copper. Supplies this year were estimated at 1,650,000 tons, including imports.

Because a shortage of copper for essential civilian needs such as for the power industry is anticipated next year, government officials are making plans to increase domestic production.

Large copper mines in this country have gone on a seven day work week, joining a major producer which had operated on this basis thruout the year. This more intensified production was expected to add 2,000 tons a month in 1942.

772 MILE PIPE LINE IS PLANNED BY GAS COMPANY

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—A new 772 mile pipeline to cost 30 million dollars planned by Hope Natural Gas company, a Standard Oil company of New Jersey subsidiary, from West Virginia to the Louisiana and Texas fields, Standard announced today.

The subsidiary already has applied to the Office of Production Management for a preference rating on the project and for allocation of necessary materials. If materials are made available soon the line could be completed and put into service within a year. Among necessary materials would be 160,172 tons of 20 inch line pipe.

The line would cross nine large rivers, including the Mississippi, and would carry 100 million cubic feet of gas daily.

ZINC CONTROL IS EXTENDED TO END OF MARCH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 [Special].—A general preference order controling the distribution of zinc, which was to have expired Dec. 31, was extended today to March 31 by the Office of Production Management. It requires producers to set aside a percentage of zinc, zinc oxide, and zinc dust to be distributed as ordered by the director of priorities.

The Office of Price Administration, acting "to halt further speculative price increases" pending publication of price schedules, requested maintenance of prices prevailing F. O. B. New York on Dec. 18 for carnauba, bees' wax, candilla, and ouricury, which make up 98 per cent of the wax used in the United States.

TAX WON'T PAY COSTS OF WAR, SAYS SENATOR

'Lucky to Get Third,' George Argues.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] expressed the opinion today that the United States would be fortunate if it were able to finance one-third of the cost of its war with the axis out of current revenues, despite projected tax increases.

Sen. Walter F. George.

George, who is chairman of the senate finance committee, told reporters that the $1,131,075,000 cash cut recommended yesterday for nondefense expenditures, coupled with such new taxes as congress may vote in 1942, still would leave the budget far out of balance. He said that as war outlays increased the scale of government borrowing would have to rise, because too drastic taxation might choke off the flow of essential fighting equipment.

"If we wind up by financing one-third the cost of the war out of current revenues, we will have done well," George declared.

Assailed by La Follette.

In a sharply critical minority report, Senator Robert La Follette [Prog., Wis.] charged that the joint economy committee's recommendation for a $1,131,075,000 cut in nondefense spending was "hasty and unwarranted." He said suggestions for the abolition of the Civilian Conservation corps, the National Youth administration, and the Farm Security administration would "knock some of the major props of federal support out from under the social structure in the lower income levels." He alone signed the report.

Charging that the proposed cuts would come at a time when "national unity" requires maintenance of high morale among "the unfortunate one-third of our population which has just cause for dissatisfaction with an economic and social system that has treated them shabbily," La Follette said it was estimated that 71 per cent of the value of military contracts had been placed in 12 states. He contended this threatened many communities with more distress than ever before.

Farm Plan Cut Opposed.

Department of agriculture officials indicated they would oppose abandonment of the Farm Security administration program. They said this plan was providing "essential" financial assistance—mostly loans—to more than half a million low income farm families, either for the purchasing of farms or for acquiring necessary equipment for carrying on farming operations.

The war, they said, had increased rather than diminished the need of such families for financial aid because they, like all farmers, were being asked to increase production under the government's "food for freedom" program calling for a record output of food next year.

It had been suggested that $247,622,000 in expenditures could be saved by eliminating the FSA program next year.

U. S. NEWSPAPER CIRCULATIONS AT PEAK THIS YEAR

Circulations of United States daily newspapers in the six months ended Sept. 30, 1941, reached an all-time high, showing a gain of 2 per cent over the like 1940 period, Editor and Publisher said yesterday in announcing the results of publishers' statements to the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Sunday newspapers showed a circulation gain over 1940 of 4.29 per cent. Morning newspapers gained 2.79 per cent over a year ago, and evening papers increased their circulation by 1.26 per cent, Editor and Publisher stated.

The trade paper's survey included 103 morning papers, 146 evening papers, and 142 Sunday editions. The study represents nearly two-thirds of the total week day circulation of newspapers and approximately three-fourths of the total Sunday circulation.

FACTORY AUTO SALES FOR YEAR PLACED AT 3.6 BILLION DOLLARS

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26 (AP).—The Automobile Manufacturers association in a preliminary review of the calendar year 1941 estimated total car and truck factory sales from plants in the United States at 4,820,000 with an aggregate wholesale value of 3 billion 630 million dollars.

Of the total sales, 3,750,000 were passenger and 1,070,000 truck units.

The review estimated that a total of 33,725,000 motor vehicles would be registered in the United States as of Dec. 31, 1941, of which 28,875,000 would be passenger units. A year ago the total was 32,025,365 including 27,434,979 passenger vehicles.

Ward's Reports, Inc. today estimated motor vehicle output this week at only 24,620 units, compared with 65,875 last week and 85,495 this week last year.

November Rail Profit Cut by Wage, Tax Rise

November earnings of railroads have been sharply reduced compared with the same 1940 month by higher federal income taxes and retroactive wage increases, reports from several major roads disclosed yesterday. Income for the 11 month period, however, in most instances remained above the same period last year.

The New York Central railroad's net income for November was $1,356,079 compared with $1,986,513 in the 1940 month. Profit in the 11 month period totaled $24,335,174 against $7,264,849 last year.

B. & O. Nine Month Net Soars.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad reported net earnings of $415,728 in November compared with $1,011,348 a year ago. The road earned $9,612,112 in the 11 month period against $3,135,303 last year.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad had a net income of $468,095 in November against $2,207,307 in 1940. Earnings in the 11 months were $19,601,188 against $4,495,005 last year.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad's net operating income, before fixed charges, in November was reduced to $52,100 from $170,511 in the 1940 month. Net operating income in the 11 month period was $1,748,481 against $715,188 in the same period last year.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad had net operating income in November of $1,563,234 against $1,609,382 last year. Net operating revenue in the 11 months was $26,119,029 against $11,982,587 in 1940.

Rock Island Earnings Dip.

The Rock Island road's net operating income in November decreased to $585,011 from $760,925 in the 1940 month, and the 11 month net operating income was $16,232,393 against $6,900,642 last year. The company charged $584,422 in November and $1,195,264 in the 11 month period this year for estimated wage increases.

The Pennsylvania railroad's net operating income for November was reduced to $6,357,728 compared with $9,124,431 in 1940. Net operating income for the 11 month period this year totaled $86,552,371, against $77,400,598 in the same 1940 period.

The Wabash railroad reported a net operating income for November of $887,726 against $651,785 last year. Net operating income for the 11 months was increased to $9,052,292 from $3,680,780 last year.

ILLINOIS TO ASK AID OF BUYERS IN OIL OUTPUT CURB

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 26 (AP).—Gov. Green today invited principal buyers of Illinois crude oil to a conference next Monday to discuss compliance with a federal quota recommending that the state's oil production in January be restricted to 386,400 barrels daily.

Acknowledging that the state oil conservation code does not authorize production control, Director Robert M. Medill of the department of mines and minerals said that buyers of oil would be asked to coöperate by not purchasing more than the quota set by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, federal petroleum coördinator.

Gov. Green was reported considering asking the legislature to enact measures authorizing the new oil and gas conservation division to carry out the federal quota system. The January quota is slightly below the average November production of 388,000 barrels daily.

U. S. Engineer Office, Drawer T, Plaza Station, St. Louis, Mo. Sealed bids received until a date to be announced in the future for constructing two 8500 foot runways together with taxiways, apron, parking area, and access roads, including clearing, grubbing, grading, seeding, drainage and paving therefor at Vichy Airfield, Mo. (near Rolla). No deposit for plans. Further information on application.

HOLIDAY BOOSTS USE OF MONEY

Banks' Excess Reserves Shrink Further.

Spending for Christmas caused money circulation to increase 201 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday, and helped reduce banks' excess reserves, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The board said the total of money in use reached 11 billion 224 million dollars. Compared with a year earlier, the volume rose 2 billion 407 million dollars.

Excess Reserves Sink Again.

The reserve system member banks' excess reserves, which are idle lendable funds, dropped 30 millions during the week to a total of 3 billion dollars, setting another new low mark for recent years.

A moderate increase in business and agricultural loans by banks in Chicago and New York was reported.

The board said the principal change in holdings of government bills and securities was an increase of 3 million dollars in bonds.

STORES' SALES RISE AS SHOCK OF WAR FADES

Department store sales increased substantially last week as the public overcame the shock of war and resumed Christmas buying, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. Sales were 7 per cent larger than in the corresponding week a year ago, in contrast to a gain of only 2 per cent in the preceding week, the board estimated.

In Chicago sales rose 20 per cent from the preceding week and gained 4 per cent over the corresponding 1940 week. In the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district sales averaged 16 per cent larger than in the preceding week and 7 per cent larger than a year ago.

For the four weeks ended Dec. 20 district sales increased 7 per cent and Chicago sales 4 per cent over the corresponding 1940 period.

SUGGEST FORCED BOND PURCHASE IN LIEU OF TAX

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—A suggestion that taxpayers be given the option of buying a special type of defense bond in lieu of part of their taxes was outlined today in the January issue of Banking, journal of the American Bankers association, by William R. Kuhns, editor, as a means of assisting both taxpayers and the government and of bolstering public morale.

Kuhns contended that during 1942 income tax payments will offer increasingly serious competition to sales of the treasury's defense bonds.

Dandelion and Desert Shrub Held Out as Rubber Sources

Kin of Lawn Menace

Columbus, O., Dec. 26 (AP).—American farmers may be able to help solve a crude rubber shortage by large-scale cultivation of a rubber-bearing dandelion plant, agricultural researchers disclosed today.

Discovered in Russia, the plant known as kok-sagyz is grown there exclusively now. It resembles the yellow flowered dandelion of the United States and could be produced on American farms almost as easily and prolifically as that of its lawn menacing cousin.

Called Better than Guayule.

Those findings announced by the National Chemurgic council, scientific agricultural research group, came as the United States' loss of its far eastern crude rubber supply grew more imminent in the light of Pacific war developments.

Dr. Paul J. Kolachov, who investigated the possibilities of new rubber supply sources in the United States for the council, reported that kok-sagyz could be more readily adapted to mass latex production than the bush like guayule, now grown in parts of the southwest.

"Kok-sagyz is a highly adaptable plant," said Dr. Kolachov. "It is readily acclimatized and can be cultivated in a wide variety of soils. The rubber in this plant is easily utilized in manufacturing, as compared with that of other plants."

Yields in One or Two Years.

Roots from which the milky latex juice is derived can be harvested at the end of the first or second year. They yield 150 to 200 pounds of crude rubber per acre.

Kok-sagyz develops a maximum yield on highly structural black soil in localities with at least 20 inches of rainfall yearly, distributed heavily in April, May, July, and September.

The United States, which uses half the world's rubber supply, will increase synthetic rubber production to about 70,000 long tons next year, far below the normal consumption of nearly a half million tons.

Tells Guayule Progress

Progress in development of the guayule shrub—a low brush that for centuries has grown wild and weedlike in semidesert grazing lands of the southwest—as a source of natural rubber was described in Chicago yesterday by William O'Neil, president of the General Tire and Rubber company.

Experiments with the plants that have been conducted since the 1890s, now have shown that American guayule rubber could be produced at the rate of 750,000 tons annually by the end of 1943, he declared. This rubber—comparable in quality to the second best Malayan or Netherlands East Indies rubber—would be slightly less costly than the British or Dutch material.

Cartel Caused First Interest.

O'Neil said his company has been interested in guayule rubber since 1925, the year a British cartel jacked up the price of East Indies rubber to $1.25 a pound.

Altho plans for large production languished following a drop in East Indies prices, the Intercontinental Rubber company of Salinas, Cal., continued experiments with guayule on its 50,000 acre farm.

"Experimental acreage in Salinas valley," said O'Neil, "now have areas of guayule ranging from eight months to 7 years of age. The optimum yield of rubber is from plants four years old, but considerable rubber can be taken from plants nine months to a year old.

Harvests for Seed Only.

"This year intercontinental has been harvesting for seed only. They now have sufficient seed for 150,000 acres. This will all be planted in January and by next September it will in turn produce sufficient seed for a million and a half acres.

"October's crop in 1942 will produce 75,000 tons of rubber and will not be affected by the extraction of seeds a month earlier. Then the January, 1943, planting will produce at least 750,000 tons of guayule rubber—enough to take care of our emergency needs, entirely aside from rubber substitutes and synthetics that can be developed simultaneously with the guayule sources."

Ford to Make Synthetic Fiber from Soy Beans

Dearborn, Mich., Dec. 26 [Special].—The Ford Motor company announced today that it is ready to begin production of a synthetic fiber developed from soy beans. The plant is similar to sheep's wool. The plant is capable of spinning more than 1,000 pounds of the fiber a day.

RUSH OF CHRISTMAS SALES CANCELS LAG INFLUENCED BY WAR

New York, Dec. 26 (AP).—Christmas trade ended with a rush which was sufficient to cancel the lag of the preceding week in many stores, Dun & Bradstreet said today in its weekly review of business.

"Peak store traffic indicated that even in coast cities shoppers had thrown off the restraints of the first week of the war," the agency said. "Reports showed sales for the full holiday period surpassing last year's in dollar volume, altho generally no better than even with it on a unit basis.

The review estimated retail sales for the country as a whole, aided by an extra shopping day this year, were 16 to 25 per cent above the corresponding period last year on a dollar volume basis. This year-to-year gain was more than double the showing of the two preceding weeks—the first after the outbreak of war.

Gains in the various regions were: New England, 14 to 22 per cent; Pacific coast, 12 to 19; east, 10 to 16; middle west, 17 to 23; south, 21 to 26; southwest, 25 to 32, and northwest, 15 to 20 per cent.

LIBERTY MUTUAL GIVES EMPLOYES 'EMERGENCY' PAY

The Liberty Mutual Insurance company disclosed yesterday it plans to pay "emergency supplemental compensation" equal to 8⅓ per cent of basic salary to all employés earning less than $5,000 a year. Earle N. Lashmet, Chicago, vice president, said the announcement affects nearly 4,000 employés, including about 350 in the Chicago midwest territory offices.

Lashmet said the plan provides that the payments will be made at the end of each two month period and will be based on two months' salary as of Jan. 1, 1942.

All except new employés will receive checks about Dec. 31 equal to 8⅓ per cent of four months' salary on the basis of their basic salary Sept. 1.

CHRISTMAS DAY STEEL FLOW AT GARY A RECORD

Carnegie Pours Out Most in History.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Gary works, the largest steel making plant in the world, produced more ingots on Christmas day than on any other day in its history, officials said yesterday. Traditionally, Christmas is a steel mill holiday, but this year the men were on the job in full force—16,000 in all—to keep up the flow of steel to armament makers.

It was the first time since 1917 that a full force had worked at the plant on Christmas day.

Weekly Record Probable.

It is expected that this week's production at the Gary plant will be at the rate of 108 per cent of theoretical capacity. That would be an all-time record for any week.

While the plant and others were busy turning out ingots the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel announced it is making plans for an effort to get sufficient iron and steel scrap to the furnaces in 1942 to meet the scheduled record demand.

"Our membership will work 24 hours a day seven days a week, if necessary, to get scrap to the mills and foundries to help win the war," E. C. Barringer, secretary of the institute, said.

Will Comb Farms, Junk Yards.

"In coöperation with the Office of Production Management we expect to collect more than 1½ million tons of scrap from farms. We mean to get 4 million tons from auto graveyards, or 1½ million tons more than this year. We should get another million tons from obsolete machinery, pulleys, and shafting in factories. All of this, added to other sources, should make total collections for 1942 come close to 28 million tons."

The American Institute of Steel Construction reported that new orders for fabricated structural steel booked in November totaled 181,103 tons, the largest volume for any month since July. Shipments in November were 175,740 tons, against 146,992 in November, 1940. For the first 11 months of 1941 shipments were 2,064,547, against 1,360,017 in the corresponding 1940 period.

Steel Exports Smaller.

Exports of steel in 1941 were sharply lower than in 1940, representing 7.54 per cent of production of finished and semi-finished steel products in the first 11 months this year against 13.06 per cent in all of 1940, the American Iron and Steel institute reported. Exports amounted to 5,165,941 net tons for the 11 months, including 1,787,257 tons of ingots, against 7,693,858 and 2,677,936 in 1940.

Domestic steel sales were substantially higher in all branches than last year. Hot and cold rolled, galvanized, and other sheets continued to lead, with 11 month sales of 11,943,605 net tons against 10,346,111 tons sold in all 1940. Sales of bars and bar products were 10,715,809 tons, against 8,171,757. Exports of sheets were 480,181 tons against 772,811 and of bars 799,202 tons, against 1,133,612.

President Signs Extension of Sugar Control Program

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed today legislation to continue the sugar control law three years to Dec. 31, 1944. The law boosts benefit payments from 60 to 80 cents a hundredweight on the first 350 tons of production.

Hotel Advises on How to Use Waste Items

Because citizens thruout the nation are being asked to collect numerous waste materials to conserve vitally needed supplies for the military forces, officials of the Stevens hotel yesterday outlined their program for salvaging many articles which may be put to use.

Joseph P. Binns.

The Stevens, largest hotel in the world, has found its salvage operations profitable in the past. Last year it received $9,000 in added income thru the reclamation and sale of waste materials, and this year it expects to make more than $10,000.

Joseph P. Binns, general manager, outlined principal steps in the management's salvage activities for the guidance of the public in seeking to coöperate with the Civilian Defense commission.

Wastes and Disposition.

WASTE PAPER—All paper from offices, guest rooms, halls, and other places is collected by housemen for sorting. Markets are watched for advantageous sale. The hotel saves for its own use cartons and corrugated paper sheets which are now difficult to obtain.

METALS—All cans, metal drums, discarded kitchenware, and other items are sold either as scrap or second hand goods. Cans and similar items which have a resale value only as bulk metal are compressed into bales.

CARPETS AND RUGS—Worn sections are sold as scrap. Sections with little or no wear are "sized" on the hotel's own machine and made into runners and mats.

Fats Go to Processor.

KITCHEN WASTE—Sold to a processor who removes fats for use in making soap.

KITCHEN FATS—Processed and combined with chemicals to make floor cleaning compound.

OLD FURNITURE—Sold to second hand dealers.

KITCHEN FATS—Processed and combined with chemicals to make floor cleaning compound.

Binns said that some items which formerly were sold to second hand dealers are now dismantled and various usable parts salvaged. Recently a group of 92 floor lamps which would have brought about $50 as second hand items were taken apart by electricians for the expensive wire, sockets, and plugs which are difficult to obtain. The net value of the reclaimed products was $252.35.

Week's Bond Financing Restricted to Two Issues

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—New bond financing this week was restricted to public offering of only two new loans aggregating $7,833,000. This compared with $36,461,000 last week and $9,500,000 in the corresponding week last year.

START MICHIGAN PROGRAM.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 26 [Special].—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner today started plans for a statewide campaign to reclaim used materials needed for the war effort. A special directing committee is being set up with headquarters in Lansing. The governor began the collection movement when he and his two daughters, Ellen and Jo Ann, loaded the family car with waste paper, much of it wrappings from Christmas gifts, and took it to a scrap dealer.

FIVE POINT FALL OF A. T. & T. SAPS STOCK VITALITY

List Slides to a New 3½ Year Low.

New York, Dec. 26 (AP).—Weakness of individual favorites, blamed on tax selling and other factors, served to sap rallying strength in many sections of today's stock market.

News from the war and business fronts provided little in the way of speculative stimulation and, when American Telephone broke more than 5 points to a new low in more than three years, trends turned irregularly downward.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 35.4, a new bottom since April 1, 1938. Dealings were speedy at intervals, with sizable tax blocks coming out, and transfers for the full proceedings amounted to 1,410,810 shares, compared with 1,375,190 Wednesday.

Post-Yule Dip "Normal."

Numerous customers extended their Yuletide recess thru the week-end, and this shortened buying support to a considerable extent, brokers said.

Statistical quarters suggested the market acted in accordance with custom in recent post-Christmas days. The list has been down on average in the first session following the holiday in every year since 1935.

American Telephone finished off 4 points at 116½, recovering better than a point. In addition to the liquidation of this issue for the recording of tax losses—its high for the year was 168¾—the recent action of New York Telephone directors in cutting the fourth quarter dividend from $2 to $1.50 was a chilling influence on the parent company's stock.

Fear Cut in Dividend Rate.

The thought continued that, in view of rising operating costs and the inability of the concern to boost rates sufficiently to bridge the gap, the long-paid dividend of $9 annually might be in line for reduction.

Others on the offside fractions to a point or so were Western Union, Dow Chemical, Union Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, General Motors, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, CHICAGO TRADING.

Prices were little changed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 55,000 shares, 42 issues advanced, 46 declined, and 50 closed unchanged.

Commonwealth Edison, the volume leader with 4,300 shares traded, closed ⅛ lower at 20¼. Of other heavily traded stocks Chicago corporation and Middle West showed fractional advances and both General Motors and Libby, McNeill & Libby recorded fractional declines.

In the half hour after the New York close Chrysler and Joy Manufacturing advanced ¼, Libby, McNeil and Swift advanced ⅛, Goodyear declined ¼, and both Indianapolis Power and Light and Republic Steel declined ⅛.

MONTH'S BUYING OF SURPLUS FOOD OVER 73 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26 (AP).—The Surplus Marketing administration reported today its November purchases of agricultural commodities for lend-lease and other purposes amounted to more than 73 million dollars. This brought the total for the period, March 15 to Nov. 30, above a half million dollars, not including handling and transportation costs.

Of this, more than 148 millions was for meat products and lard, more than 81 millions for dairy products, and nearly 68 millions for dried, frozen, or shell eggs. Other principal items included fruits, vegetables, and cereals.

STOCK DIVIDEND OF 40 PCT. VOTED BY RATH PACKING

Abbott Laboratories to Pay on Preferred.

Directors of the Rath Packing company, Waterloo, Ia., meat packer, yesterday declared a 40 per cent stock dividend on the common shares. The company's last disbursement was a 37½ cent extra in October. A stock dividend of 66⅔ per cent on the common shares was paid in February last year.

H. H. Rath, treasurer, said the stock dividend was a reflection of the company's earnings during the year and will boost the total outstanding shares to 700,000 of the 900,000 shares authorized. Company sales recently were at a record level.

Votes Initial Dividend.

Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, declared an initial 30 cent dividend on the 4 per cent cumulative preferred shares issued last month.

Ely & Walker Dry Goods company, St. Louis, authorized a $1 dividend, compared with a preceding payment of 25 cents in November. Regular semiannual dividends on two classes of preferred shares also were voted.

Mercantile Stores company, Jersey City, N. J., retail dry goods chain, declared a $2 dividend, double the payment in January.

Morris Plan Corporation of America, New York, which is owned by the Industrial Finance corporation, authorized a dividend of 75 cents, the first since the company was organized in 1925.

Two companies made payments on arrears. A. M. Byers, Pittsburgh, wrought iron producer, declared a dividend of $1.99 on the 7 per cent preferred shares and Eastern Sugar Associates authorized a $1.25 payment on the perferred shares of beneficial interest.

CITY NOTE SALES MADE AT WIDELY VARYING COSTS

New York, Dec. 26 [Special].—Two sales of short term obligations today by major cities served to emphasize the wide disparity between the cost of borrowing by municipalities. Boston, Mass., obtained a premium of only $32 on an issue of 4 million dollars of notes, due Oct. 15, 1942, bearing interest of 0.92 per cent. Portland, Ore., on the other hand, awarded a million dollars of notes, due in equal amounts on Oct. 7 and Nov. 13, next year, at 0.45 per cent.

The difference in credit rating of the two borrowers, of course, is the primary consideration in explaining the rate on the Boston notes of about double that of the Portlands. There are other factors, however, including the scarcity value of the Portland paper. That city comes into the market about twice a year, in contrast with the almost'continual borrowing by Boston.

Utility Sells Refunding Loan to Insurance Firms

Northwestern Light & Power company has privately placed thru Harris, Hall & Co. an issue of $1,200,000 in first mortgage bonds with a group of insurance companies. The power company will use the funds to retire its outstanding first "B" 6 per cent bonds called for redemption Feb. 1.

MONTH'S PROFIT OF CATERPILLAR TRACTOR LOWER

Federal Tax Provisions More than Doubled.

November earnings of the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., declined substantially from the corresponding month a year ago and were slightly lower for the 12 months ended Nov. 30 than in the preceding 12 months, President L. B. Neumiller disclosed last night.

Net earnings last month totaled $569,539, against $841,486 in November, 1940, and for the 12 months they totaled $7,626,403, against $7,995,236 in the preceding 12 months.

The amount set aside for federal taxes in the 12 months period was $8,478,706, compared with $3,466,390.

Int. Telephone Reports Loss.

International Telephone and Telegraph corporation, in a preliminary statement which excluded many subsidiaries in Europe, Asia, and Mexico, reported consolidated net loss of $356,-30 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, against a net loss of $402,257 in the corresponding 1940 period.

No provision was made for possible loss in the areas affected directly by the war. Many of the company's subsidiaries are in Germany and occupied Europe.

The parent company only reported a net loss of $2,478,707 for the nine months, compared with a net loss of $2,083,146 in the corresponding period a year ago. The system operates electric communications and manufactures this type of equipment, with plants and offices thruout the world.

Worker Engulfed in 10,000 Ton Pile of Table Salt—Churchill Predicts Tide of Victory in 1943
